SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such emergencies as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port at arrival is located the sum of or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such refund as the Attorney General in the direction shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting alien crewmen subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every fine or alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was deported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart or deport alien crewmember by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens memorized by the master, or any other than the list described, will not be accepted. Any master who refuses to deliver the list required by section 12 of the act of February 5, 1917 (U.S.C., title 8, sec. 212), to the immigrant inspector, or who refuses to allow the inspector to make such physical examination of the persons on board as is provided by section 16 of said act, or who refuses to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the immigrant inspector, or who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector any alien duly certified by the examining surgeon, or who refuses to carry back to the last port from which his vessel departed any alien who may be excluded from admission to the United States, or who refuses to pay the head tax of any alien who may be admitted, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each and every such violation.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from and after the 1st day of July, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in addition to the persons now excluded from admission into the United States by the immigration laws, there shall be excluded from admission into the United States all persons physically capable of reading who cannot read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish: Provided, That any admissible immigrant not possessing the required ability who is over fifty years of age, is the father or grandfather of a person in the United States over fifty years of age, or is coming to join a father or grandfather over fifty years of age who is in the United States, may be admitted; and in the event such immigrant is a married person, his admissible wife, if not otherwise excluded, may be admitted irrespective of her ability to read; and if such immigrant has been lawfully admitted to the United States and has resided therein for five years, and thereafter goes abroad temporarily, his wife, irrespective of her ability to read, and his children under sixteen years of age, irrespective of their ability to read, may accompany him or subsequently join him; and any such immigrant who is found upon examination by the boards of special inquiry provided for in section 16 of this act to be otherwise admissible shall not be excluded because of his or her failure to possess the amount of money required by section 2 of the act of August 3, 1914, entitled "An act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States," but such money shall be required of such immigrant by the board of special inquiry and deposited with the immigrant fund provided for by section 2 of said act of August 3, 1914, before the admission of such immigrant: Provided, That the provisions of this section relating to the ability of aliens to read shall not apply to the following classes of aliens: (1) All persons in transit through the United States; (2) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their last entry into the United States, and who are returning to the United States from a temporary visit abroad; (3) all persons who have resided continuously in the United States for five years next preceding the time of their entry and who are returning to the United States from a visit abroad for the purpose of study, or as the wife or minor child accompanying or coming to join a husband or parent who has a wife or parent lawfully residing in the United States; (4) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period by the Government of the United States or by the government of the Philippine Islands or by the government of any State, county, city, or municipality in the United States; (5) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; (6) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; (7) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; (8) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; (9) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; (10) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; (11) all persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years next preceding the time of their departure therefrom, and who are returning to the United States within one year from the date of such departure after having been employed during such period in the service of any railroad company in the United States in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor, brakeman, fireman, or in such other capacity as may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the Interstate Commerce Commission as requiring similar experience; IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Care shall be taken to insure that the proper sheet is used for each class of passengers. (Form I-420 shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the Principal Immigration Officer at the port. Aliens in transit through the United States, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they are destined in the port of arrival; or have contracted to come to or reside in the United States; and such other information relative to such aliens as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such alien, no master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall permit any such alien to land from such vessel, except temporarily to obtain provisions or medical attendance, or in case of the illness of such alien, unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the Attorney General, a certificate to that effect signed by a duly authorized immigration officer, or unless such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall have been notified by the Attorney General that no such certificate or permit need be granted in the case of such alien: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any such alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad.

SEC. 18. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of section 36 of this Act, or to deliver lists in accordance therewith, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any alien on board such vessel when required so to do by the Attorney General, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or neglect to prevent any such alien from landing in the United States, except as provided by law, or who shall refuse or neglect to report, or who shall make any false or incorrect report or statement concerning any such alien, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any such alien on board for examination or to return him on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him in connection with the detention, examination, or return of any such alien, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax provided for by section 2 of this Act, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him in connection with the collection and payment of such head tax, or who shall violate any of the provisions of section 36 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every such offense, and shall, moreover, be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien concerning whom any violation of this section occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or mitigate such penalty or any part thereof upon such terms and conditions as he deems reasonable and just.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the United States (other than an alien crewman employed and lawfully entitled to land temporarily in the United States under section 3 of this Act) shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel at the port of arrival, unless a permit to land such alien has been granted by the Attorney General, or his duly authorized agent, and the decision of the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be subject to review by the Attorney General, or his duly authorized agent, upon appeal by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel.

(b) Whenever the Attorney General shall be satisfied that any alien has been allowed to land in violation of law, the Attorney General shall cause a warrant to be issued for the apprehension of such alien, and shall cause such alien to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at any time within five years after he shall have entered the United States, in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. The cost of the maintenance of any alien pending the completion of the proceedings provided for in this section, and of his deportation, if deportation be ordered, shall be deemed a part of the expenses of the service for the year in which they were incurred, and any appropriation available therefor shall be reimbursed in the amount so expended.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien arrested on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien, because of the probability that he may be persecuted on account of his race, religion, or political opinions if returned to the country whence he came, or for any other reason, the Attorney General may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or to secure other or additional members of the crew, or for other reasons deemed sufficient by the Attorney General, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe, pending the departure of such vessel, or pending the departure of another vessel within a reasonable time, or pending the certification of such alien as a member of the crew of another vessel: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any such alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the Dominion of Canada or Newfoundland, or Mexico, or Cuba, or Panama, or the Canal Zone, or any island adjacent thereto, or other island possessions of the United States, or from any island adjacent to any of the aforesaid countries, any alien (except an alien crewman entitled to land temporarily in the United States under section 3 of this Act), who does not have in his possession the unexpired portion of a valid passport issued from a country which is recognized by the United States, and a valid visa of such passport by a consular officer of the United States, if such a passport and visa are required by the immigration laws in force at the time of the application for admission of such alien, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel or aircraft at the port of arrival, and to report the fact and cause of detention to the immigration officer in charge at the port. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States except for the purpose and period of time for which he is granted a nonquota immigrant visa or a temporary visitor's visa, or a diplomatic or official visa, or for the purpose and period of time for which he is granted a transit visa, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure is impracticable or unreasonable because of the lack of means of the alien sufficient for such departure or because of the refusal of the owner, agent, master, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such alien arrived to receive him on board or to permit him to depart on such vessel or aircraft, or because such vessel or aircraft has left the port of arrival before the expiration of the time fixed by the immigration officer, or because of the necessity of such alien to secure surgical treatment requisite to the safety of his life, or because such alien is destined to a country which refuses to permit his entry, or because such alien is a political refugee coming directly to the United States from the country in which he is in fear of persecution for reasons of race, religion, or political opinions. Any such alien who shall depart from the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by law unless the Secretary of Labor shall have granted him permission to return within such time as the Secretary of Labor may deem reasonable and just.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether those to be landed are destined to the port of arrival; or have contracted so much of such information as is in the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant alien who is to be landed at a port within the United States a certificate containing the name of such alien and such information as may be required by the Attorney General, and such certificate shall be delivered by such immigrant alien to the immigration officer at the port of landing. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question touching the information required by this section, or who shall answer falsely any such question, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the payment of any such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportation writs unexpired on June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, unless specially permitted by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with the vessel, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival may cause him to be detained on board or on shore at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or bringing to such territories as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such illness as may necessitate his removal from the vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and has granted to such seaman a permit to land for the period of his vessel's stay in port, or for a period not to exceed five days, subject to such rules and regulations as the Attorney General shall prescribe. Such inspection to be made under the direction of the immigration officer in charge at the port, and such seaman shall be required to depart on the vessel which brought him to the United States, or on some other vessel, unless the Attorney General is satisfied that he will depart on a vessel about to sail within a period of thirty days from the date of such inspection or to deport such seaman if deported by such immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such seaman shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment or because of such illness as may necessitate his removal from the vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and has granted to such seaman a permit to land for the period of his vessel's stay in port, or for a period not to exceed five days, subject to such rules and regulations as the Attorney General shall prescribe. Such inspection to be made under the direction of the immigration officer in charge at the port, and such seaman shall be required to depart on the vessel which brought him to the United States, or on some other vessel, unless the Attorney General is satisfied that he will depart on a vessel about to sail within a period of thirty days from the date of such inspection or to deport such seaman if deported by such immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such seaman shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment or because of such illness as may necessitate his removal from the vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or has taken such steps as he may deem practicable to secure the immediate departure of such seaman from the United States. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors promptly the vessel is at the head of the harbor on arrival; and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew at each port of call (Form I-420) shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. A list of alien members of the crew, as indicated on Form I-420, is required to be delivered on board vessels at the time of departure from the United States. In order to facilitate inspection of alien members of the crew, the master should have the list arranged in the same order as the crew appears on the articles. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifically state those to be held on board the vessel when inspected by the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival; or lists confirming as much of such information theretofore furnished as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in addition to the names so furnished, all cases in which such alien has since become ill, suffering from any such disease or condition as would be cause for detention under the provisions of this Act, together with such information in regard to such cases as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the name of any such alien who may have been left behind on account of illness, and to deliver either to such immigration officer or to the Attorney General such information in regard to such cases as may be required by them; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report the name of any such alien who may have been taken from such vessel to a hospital or who may have died, stating the cause of death, and to deliver to such immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who were not originally shipped or engaged at the port at which they arrive, and the date, place, and cause of death of any such alien who may have been taken from such vessel to a hospital or who may have died since such vessel arrived at such port, and the place of burial of such alien, if buried, and to report the movements of any such alien while in the United States, and to deliver to such immigration officer at the port of departure a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have been left behind on account of illness, and the cause of such illness, and the destination of such alien, together with such information in regard to such cases as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report the name of any such alien who may have been taken from such vessel to a hospital or who may have died since such vessel arrived at such port, and the place of burial of such alien, if buried, and to report the movements of

LIST OF MANIFEST OF ALIENS EMPLOYED ON THE VESSEL AS MEMBERS OF CREW

Required under Act of Congress of February 5, 1917, to be delivered to the United States immigration officer by the representative of any vessel having such aliens on board upon arrival at a port of the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described before shall be inspected at each foreign embarkation port by the Immigrant Inspector, and no person not included in such list shall be landed in the United States, except (from sea) those specifically exempted by the Immigration Act of February 5, 1917, and those in transit to foreign countries. The list of aliens so inspected must accompany the vessel to the first port in the United States where any of the passengers are landed. The list of aliens so inspected must be retained on board the vessel after all passengers have been landed, and must be produced upon the demand of any Immigrant Inspector, Commissioner of Immigration, or Deputy Commissioner of Immigration, or any officer in charge at the port of arrival. Any master who refuses to produce such list for inspection by any of the officers mentioned shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 nor less than $200 for each offense.

SEC. 36. That when written or oral request is made by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel from any foreign port or port in the United States to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival that certain aliens specified in such request, who have been ordered on board such vessel for inspection by the immigrant inspectors at the time of the vessel's arrival at such port, be inspected at some other time or place than that prescribed by law, the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival may, in his discretion, direct that such aliens be taken to the office of the said commissioner, or to such other place as he may designate, for the purpose of inspection, and may issue such permits and prescribe such conditions as to the payment of head tax and the filing of bonds to insure the return to the vessel of such aliens as may be required by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, and may detail such inspectors as may be necessary to perform the service required at the place designated in such request. The cost of the transportation of such aliens to the office of the said commissioner, or to such other place as he may designate, and return to the vessel, shall be paid by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel, and a sum sufficient to cover the cost of such transportation shall be deposited with the said commissioner of immigration before the inspection is made. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require, or authorize the requirement of, head tax from aliens in transit through the United States to foreign countries who arrive at ports of the United States on vessels which do not land passengers, baggage, or mail in the United States, and which do not remain in port longer than twenty-four hours: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, extend the time limit in any case in which he may deem such extension necessary.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described herein shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel at the head of the dock is ready to receive passengers. The list of aliens to whom immigrant visas have been issued by consular officers and who are coming to the United States from foreign contiguous territory shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port where the alien first arrives for examination. The list of aliens in transit through the United States shall be delivered by the master, commander, agent, or consignee of the vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure from the United States.

The master, commander, agent, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States who is not in possession of an unexpired immigrant visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other travel document required by the Immigration Act of 1924 (8 U.S.C. 204), as amended, shall indemnify the United States against any expenses incurred for the maintenance and care of such alien, pending the final determination of his case.

Any person who willfully assists, encourages, directs, or induces the entry into the United States of any alien not duly entered at a port of entry designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, or who connives or conspires with any person or persons to bring in any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (8 U.S.C. 155.)

Any person who knowingly transports in the United States, including the Canal Zone, any alien who has entered the United States in violation of the immigration laws, or who knowingly harbors or conceals such alien for the purpose of evading the immigration laws, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (8 U.S.C. 155.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien seamen in the United States shall be treated while on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States from any foreign port as provided in section 16 of this Act, and shall be detained on board or at the dock at the option of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which they arrive, pending examination by the immigration officers, unless sooner removed in accordance with the provisions of this Act. Such detained seamen shall be entered on the list required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of them leave the vessel, and shall be listed in the manifest required by section 12 of this Act. Any such seaman who is not found upon examination by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission shall be detained under the direction of the Secretary of Labor pending a final determination of his case: Provided, That no such seaman shall be detained in connection with the enforcement of the provisions of this Act excepting section 19 thereof for a longer period than five days unless his case is certified by the Secretary of Labor to be of special difficulty requiring further investigation, in which event he may be detained for such period as may be necessary for such investigation: Provided further, That any such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such reasonable sum and with such sureties as may be required by the Secretary of Labor conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States to the country to which he belongs or country from which he came to the United States, or upon such other country as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, within such period of time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding four months after the date of the arrival of such seaman at a port of the United States, and conditioned upon such seaman not becoming a public charge during such period of time. Any such seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period specified shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who fails to comply with any condition of his bond shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, and the penalty may be enforced against any surety on the bond. Any such seaman who shall depart from the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation may be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any such seaman who shall come to the United States and who shall be found upon examination by an immigration officer or a board of special inquiry to be suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, unless he shall be certified by the United States Public Health Service to be no longer affected with such disease, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation may be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any such seaman who shall come to the United States and who shall be found upon examination by an immigration officer or a board of special inquiry to be afflicted with a mental disease or defect existing prior to the time of his entry shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, unless he shall be certified by the United States Public Health Service to be no longer affected with such disease or defect, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation may be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any such seaman who becomes a public charge within two years after entry from causes not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to entry shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion adjudge that the cause of such condition arose subsequent to entry. Any such seaman who shall come in violation of section 18 of this Act shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who shall come in violation of section 3 of the Act of May 26, 1924, as amended, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who shall come in violation of section 4 of the Act of May 26, 1924, as amended, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who shall come in violation of section 5 of the Act of May 26, 1924, as amended, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, temporarily or for medical treatment, or detained to send depositions as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate determination of such alien seaman's case, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily, while applying or entering, and shortly after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to deliver to each such alien seaman a certificate stating the name of the vessel, the date of the arrival of such vessel at a port in the United States, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such certificate shall be presented by such alien seaman to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and such alien seaman shall not be granted a landing privilege by the immigrant inspector at any port other than the port of arrival, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall have given a bond to the United States in the penal sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs, conditioned for the payment of the penalty hereinafter provided for such default. Upon the presentation of such certificate by such alien seaman to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and the payment of the head tax, if required, such alien seaman may be admitted temporarily, but solely for the purpose of performing duty as a seaman aboard the vessel on which he arrived, and for such reasonable time as may be necessary to enable him to obtain on board such vessel the certificate of discharge provided for in section 2 of the Seamen's Act of March 4, 1915, as amended (U. S. C., title 46, sec. 564), or to secure a substitute seaman in his place, but in no case for a longer period than five days, unless in case of illness or other cause beyond his control, which shall be certified to by the United States medical officer at the port, or, if there be no such officer at the port, then by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or by a civil surgeon of the United States Army or Navy, or by an acting assistant surgeon of the United States Army or Navy, the time may be extended for a period not exceeding thirty days upon certificate of such medical officer. Such alien seaman shall be deported as a seaman under the provisions of section 19 hereof, and the penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs shall be remitted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such default occurs when such seaman was found by the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 5, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rendered by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

to detain or deport alien seamen by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law requires that you be informed in plain terms understood by the Department and by crews of vessels arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, as to the rights and duties of masters and crews, relative to the immigration laws. You are therefore directed to read the following abstract of the law and to inform the crew of your vessel, before arrival at the first port of entry in the United States, of the substance of the provisions relating to the landing of aliens. Attention is also called to the penalties imposed by the immigration laws upon masters of vessels who bring to the United States aliens afflicted with certain diseases or who bring aliens who are not admissible to the United States. Masters are also warned that they will be required to deport at their own expense any aliens who may become public charges within two years after their arrival, if the cause for becoming a public charge existed prior to the time of their arrival.

Every master, before leaving a foreign port or place for the United States, must cause a list or manifest to be made and delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, containing the name, age, sex, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, and seaport of embarkation of each alien on board his vessel who is destined to the United States, and must indicate whether such alien has been in the United States before, and if so, when, how long he remained, and whether he has been in prison or an almshouse or supported by charity. He must also indicate whether such alien has a ticket to his destination, whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, whether he has money, and if so, how much, and whether he is in possession of a passport, and who issued it. He must also state whether such alien is coming to the United States in pursuance of a previous agreement to perform labor, and if so, what kind of labor, and must also state whether such alien is a polygamist, an anarchist, or a believer in the practicability or propriety of overthrowing all forms of law by force or violence, and whether such alien has ever been in prison or supported by charity, and the reasons therefor, and whether such alien is coming to the United States for the purpose of joining any society or association hostile to organized government or of advocating or teaching the unlawful killing of officials of the government of the United States or of any other organized government because of his or their official character, and must report whether such alien intends to become a citizen of the United States, and must state the ultimate destination of each such alien. He must also report the number of cubic feet of space in the vessel allotted to each alien passenger, and the actual number carried in each space or compartment. He must report the name, age, sex, and nationality of stowaways, and the reasons why they were concealed on board. He must report the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien employed in any capacity on board his vessel, and the reasons for employing each such alien. He must report the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien who may be left behind by reason of illness, injury, or any other cause, and the expenses incurred on account of each such alien. He must report the death of any person on board, during the voyage, the cause of death, and the condition of the body before burial. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be rejected by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a temporary permit to land for emergency reasons, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land for the purpose of medical treatment, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily as a witness or for the purpose of submitting his case to the Attorney-General of the United States, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily as a member of a crew, or in order to accompany a sick or injured member of the crew, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily as a bona fide visitor, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily pending the determination of the question as to whether he may be admitted to the United States or may be excluded and deported, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily pending an appeal taken by him or on his behalf from the decision of the immigrant inspectors, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to land temporarily for any other purpose specified in the permit, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to return to the United States after having been temporarily absent therefrom, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to cross the border of the United States in transit through the country, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to enter the United States solely to subject himself to a special inquiry, examination, or hearing before the Board of Special Inquiry, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to enter the United States solely to take up a temporary occupation for a period not exceeding six months, and the reasons therefor. He must report the name, age, sex, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be granted a permit to enter the United States solely to act as a witness before the Department of Labor in connection with alleged violations of the contract-labor laws

The law requires that the following be posted in plain view where it shall be the duty of the master to post it. [Here follow directions as to the posting of the immigration notice, as the law requires.]

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. That alien seamen of any race or class not prohibited from entering the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States from any foreign port or place in which the quota of the owners' vessels, to which they belong, is not filled, but the number of alien seamen employed on board of any vessel shall not exceed the proportion which the number of seamen of the same race or class bears to the total number of the crew of such vessel, and the seamen employed in excess of the number allowed by this section shall be entitled to demand and receive from the master of such vessel the wages current at the port of shipment of such seamen, and the cost of their return passage to such port, or, at their option, to their port of entry in the United States, and shall be free from arrest or detention except as provided in section 20 hereof, and shall not be subject to the provisions of the immigration laws of the United States: Provided, That the number of alien seamen employed on any vessel of the United States entering any port of the United States shall not be in excess of the number allowed by this section on the basis of the quota of the owners' vessels last arriving in the United States from the port in which such alien seamen are shipped: Provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to seamen employed on vessels plying between ports of the United States and ports of the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Panama, or the Canal Zone, or between ports of the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Panama, or the Canal Zone and foreign ports, or between ports of the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Panama, or the Canal Zone and ports of the United States, or between IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be preserved on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabin passengers of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be collected on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on said vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and what positions they are to fill in the United States, and the intended final destination of each alien as far as the master thereof can ascertain the same; and the said lists shall be produced by the master and submitted to the examination of any immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's entering the port, and no person shall be allowed to land from any vessel in the United States until the said lists shall have been delivered to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival: or, if such principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival be not present at the time of the vessel's arrival, then such lists shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival: Provided, That the master of any vessel who has complied with the provisions of this section relative to the delivery of lists of passengers and members of the crew shall not be required to deliver lists in respect of any subsequent arrival of such vessel at ports in the United States unless the list in respect of such subsequent arrival contains the names of persons who have been added to the crew or passengers at ports or places not included in the list last delivered by the master. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question concerning each alien mentioned in the list which may be propounded to him by any immigrant inspector, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom he shall refuse or neglect to answer any question or to furnish any information in his possession, and may be imprisoned not more than one year: Provided, That no fine shall be imposed for the first offense unless it shall appear that the master has failed to exercise due diligence in the performance of the duties imposed by this section: Provided further, That the penalty of imprisonment shall not be imposed except in cases where it shall appear that the master has been guilty of a wilful violation of this section: Provided further, That no penalty shall be imposed for any offense against this section committed more than two years prior to the beginning of the fiscal year in which the alien in connection with whose entry the offense was committed shall have arrived.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contrary to law, and no alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury requiring hospital treatment, or on account of the vessel's quarantine, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, or for the departure on board the vessel or some other vessel, or otherwise, of such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been notified of the intended departure of such alien seaman (which notification in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or such alien shall be detained on board after such notification or on board a vessel or at a station designated by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so. Until the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located has given to the master of such vessel a certificate that the cash deposit required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General has been deposited with him to guarantee the payment of the hospital expenses and burial expenses of such alien seaman in respect of whom such illness occurs, and the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that such certificate has been given, and until the master of such vessel has paid to the collector of customs the cash deposit required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General, such alien seaman shall be detained on board or at a station designated by such immigration officer or the Attorney General, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such illness occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman not specified in the manifest or specified therein but not found on board, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such illness occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all seamen employed on vessels arriving in the United States after June 2, 1940.

(b) Front cover an alien seaman did not appear upon the outside manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contrary to law, and he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be finally charged against such vessel unless and until it has been determined by the Attorney General that such vessel is able to pay such expense without undue hardship.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the position then temporarily held in the alien's company, and where and when each alien was engaged, and such other facts relative to each alien member of the crew as may be required by the Attorney General to be stated in the discretion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and shall produce such aliens for examination by the immigration officers at the time of their arrival. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master failing to deliver such lists or to produce such aliens for examination shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located a penalty of $300 for each alien not included in such lists or produced for examination, unless it is affirmatively shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the failure to deliver such lists or to produce such aliens for examination was excusable or was not the result of negligence on the part of such owner, agent, consignee, or master. Upon the refusal or failure of any such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver such lists or to produce such aliens for examination, or to answer questions in relation to such aliens, he shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or as to whom the immigration officers are not furnished the means of identification required by the Attorney General, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, no clearance papers shall be granted for the vessel on account of which the fine was imposed. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886, 887; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport any alien seaman on board such vessel when required so to do by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the service), or who fails to deport any alien seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman so refused or failed to be deported, except that clearance may be granted for the deportation of such alien seaman upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may deem just.

(b) Front fine in alien seamen did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to depart or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer of such vessel, as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after readmittance by the immigration officer of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, but such evidence may be rebutted by such evidence as may be satisfactory to the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be exacted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment Guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alien's departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, except upon such seaman's written waiver of any vessel arriving in the United States only from a foreign port or place in the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, or Panama, or the Canal Zone, or from any island adjacent thereto, unless such seaman is otherwise subject to such requirements as may be prescribed in case of aliens applying for visas. Such waiver may be revoked at any time within five years after the date thereof, and upon such revocation the alien with respect to whom it was granted shall be deported in the same manner as provided for aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. Such waiver, and revocation if revoked, shall be in writing and a duplicate thereof delivered to the alien affected thereby. Such waiver may be executed by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived, and the execution thereof by any such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall be binding upon the owner of such vessel that the master, agent, owner, or consignee executing such waiver shall not have knowledge that any alien seaman employed on such vessel refused to accept the treatment provided for seamen by the laws of the country whose flag such vessel flies, or that such vessel has been or is intended to be employed in the importation into the United States of any alien for immoral purposes. Such waiver shall not relieve the master, agent, owner, or consignee executing the same of any fine or penalty or cause of action accruing under the immigration laws by reason of the employment of any alien seaman who has been refused a visa as an immigrant or temporary visitor, or who has been certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders set forth in section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of passengers or alien immigrants required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival and a like manifest of all passengers who depart from the United States, except those specifically exempted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be prepared by the master of each vessel bound from a port in the United States to a foreign port. When an alien passenger is a "non-immigrant" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens embarked on each vessel, stamps for boarding cards shall be furnished by the Department and be kept for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Each card shall be signed by the master of the vessel or his authorized agent and by the surgeon, if there be one, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Each card shall be filled out completely by the master, agent, surgeon, or other person signing the same, in the English language, with ink or indelible pencil, and the answers to the questions shall be written in the order and manner shown by the headings of the manifest. Each question must be answered for each person listed, and answers to questions 1 to 7, inclusive, must be written in black ink. Any illegible or incomplete manifest may be returned to the master, agent, surgeon, or other person who prepared it for correction or completion before the departure of the vessel from the port. Any person who knowingly or willfully makes a false statement in connection with the preparation of the manifest or who refuses to deliver the manifest when required so to do, or who refuses to present himself for examination, or who refuses to answer any question put to him by the immigration officer, or who refuses to permit the taking of his photograph when required so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who knowingly or willfully violates any of the provisions of the immigration laws relating to the admission of aliens into the United States, or who knowingly or willfully refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival any alien on board such vessel, or who knowingly or willfully refuses to allow such alien to be taken from such vessel for examination by the proper immigration officer at such port, or who knowingly or willfully refuses to allow such alien to be detained on board such vessel for examination by such officer, or who knowingly or willfully refuses to allow such alien to be taken from such vessel to a hospital for treatment, or who knowingly or willfully refuses to allow such alien to be taken from such vessel to a public quarantine station for examination by the quarantine officers

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members may be delivered (Form I-418) shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "witness", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival list or manifest containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and intended final destination of each alien member of the crew who intends to land in the United States, and the names and addresses of the persons, if any, in the United States whom such aliens have specifically engaged or intend to join upon landing, and such other information in regard to such aliens as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such list or manifest shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer thereof, which oath the immigration officer at the port of arrival is hereby authorized to administer. Such list or manifest shall be delivered before the vessel is granted entry, and the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall, at the time of the delivery of such list or manifest, report and deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the names of all alien members of the crew who have been left behind on account of illness, injury, or any other cause, and the intended destination of each of such alien members at the time of such departure, and also the names of those alien members who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of such departure, and also the names of all deserting alien members of such vessel, and shall report to the immediate district director in charge of the port of arrival any information he may have or receive concerning the whereabouts of such deserting alien members. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses or fails to report and deliver such information concerning such deserting alien members, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct list is not delivered or such information not reported; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 890, 892; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 23 of said Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 1001) has been served, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Upon the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States, all aliens employed on such vessel shall be examined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (which examination shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and no alien shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Upon the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States, all aliens employed on such vessel shall be examined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (which examination shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and no alien shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of an alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to transport such seaman a greater distance than that between the port of arrival and the seaman's home. (43 Stat. 164–165, 28 Stat. 210; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board an American vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure necessary medical treatment, or because of some emergency affecting the safety of the vessel, or for such other reasons as may be deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe; and any such alien who lands in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who remains in the United States longer than the period for which he is granted permission to land, shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws in the case of aliens who have gained admission into the United States. Any such alien who lands in the United States, except temporarily because of illness, or to secure necessary medical treatment, or because of some emergency affecting the safety of the vessel, shall be deported as an alien who has gained admission into the United States without being inspected by immigrant inspectors, if such inspection is required at the time of his entry. Any such alien who is deported shall be deported to the country in which he resided at the time he entered the United States unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that some other country will accept him, and within such time as he may prescribe. Any such alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by this section for the deportation of aliens who have gained admission into the United States without being inspected by immigrant inspectors, except that no such alien shall be required to be detained for hearing before a special inquiry board. Any such alien who shall land in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who remains in the United States longer than the period for which he is granted permission to land, shall be deported in the manner provided by this section for the deportation of aliens who have gained admission into the United States without being inspected by immigrant inspectors, except that no such alien shall be required to be detained for hearing before a special inquiry board. Any such alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens mentioned on such vessel, showing the locations they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively born as far as the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe; and what the nearest relative or friend was in the country of such alien last above mentioned, and the intended final destination of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension; and which shall be produced and shown to any officer of the United States Government engaged in the execution of the immigration laws, or any person authorized by the Attorney General to examine the same, at the request of such officer or person, before the debarkation of any such person from such vessel or vessels in order that such officer may enter on such list his certificate of the result of the examination of each person named therein, and of the final disposition of each person debarked. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in duplicate, and the certificate of each officer shall be made in duplicate, one of which shall be delivered to the master of the vessel upon the completion of the examination of the last person debarked from such vessel, and the other shall remain with the list or manifest and be filed with the records of the office of debarkation. Such list or manifest shall be in such form and contain such other information as the Attorney General may prescribe, and the master of each vessel or his agent shall furnish to the immigrant inspector at the time of the debarkation of each person a copy of the list or manifest containing the name of such person, or such other data concerning him as may be required by the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That when arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival true lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, showing the number thereof, and stating which of such persons are citizens of the United States, which of such persons have been previously admitted to the United States, and which of such persons are in possession of unexpired immigration visés granted them before their application for admission to the United States, and such additional information relative to such persons and in such form as the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, owner, consignee, or agent to report to such immigration officer at the port of arrival any such person not included in such lists or manifests, and to furnish such information in respect to such person as may be required by the Attorney General. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section or any of the rules prescribed by the Attorney General in pursuance thereof, or who shall refuse to furnish to any such immigration officer any information in his possession in relation to any such person, or who shall make any false report, or who shall refuse to allow such immigration officer to enter such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the persons thereon, or who shall refuse to detain such vessel or any person on board thereof when requested so to do by such officer, or who shall refuse to assist such officer in the execution of his duties in regard to such vessel or any person thereon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may also be refused clearance from any port of the United States for any vessel owned in whole or in part by him or by any company or corporation of which he is an officer or managing agent, and may be prosecuted and punished before any court of the United States of competent jurisdiction at any port to which he may be brought. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed upon him under this section may be proceeded against summarily by libel or other process in any court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, and such vessel may be detained for the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is unpaid, may be sold to pay the same. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel shall be severally liable to the payment of such fine. It shall be the duty of the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located to see that the provisions of this section are complied with by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel before a permit is granted to such vessel to depart from such port, and in the event such fines aforesaid are imposed, may refuse clearance to such vessel until the fines are paid or the payment thereof secured to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury or the Attorney General. Such fines shall be a lien upon such vessel, and it may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 15.[15] Leave of alien employees: when chargeable to vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 151), have been fully paid or sufficient security therefor given, or the vessel has been allowed clearance pending decision upon appeal taken as provided by section 39 of said act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 159). Applicable to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 32 of said act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 169).

[15] 8 CFR 150.7 Fines; when remitted. (a) Fines imposed under section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 151) may be remitted in whole or in part by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, upon the following grounds:

(1) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was not at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws;

(2) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been sold to a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration before the violation was discovered;

(3) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed;

(4) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been wrecked or lost on the voyage during which the violation occurred;

(5) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws;

(6) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel;

(7) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation;

(8) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor;

(9) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor;

(10) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country;

(11) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country;

(12) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge;

(13) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died;

(14) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died, and has been buried;

(15) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died, and has been buried, and has been unable to secure funds for the payment of such burial;

(16) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died, and has been buried, and has been unable to secure funds for the payment of such burial, and has been unable to secure passage for the return of the body to the country whence it came.

(b) In the case of an alien employee: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 151), have been fully paid or sufficient security therefor given, or the vessel has been allowed clearance pending decision upon appeal taken as provided by section 39 of said act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 159). Applicable to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 32 of said act (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 169).

[15] 8 CFR 150.7 Fines; when remitted. (a) Fines imposed under section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 151), have been remitted by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, upon the following grounds:

(1) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was not at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws;

(2) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been sold to a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration before the violation was discovered;

(3) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed;

(4) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been wrecked or lost on the voyage during which the violation occurred;

(5) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws;

(6) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel;

(7) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation;

(8) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor;

(9) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor;

(10) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country;

(11) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country;

(12) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge;

(13) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died;

(14) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died, and has been buried;

(15) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died, and has been buried, and has been unable to secure funds for the payment of such burial;

(16) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country, and has been compelled to become a public charge, and has died, and has been buried, and has been unable to secure funds for the payment of such burial, and has been unable to secure passage for the return of the body to the country whence it came.

(b) Head tax: when refunded. Any head tax paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located from any vessel may be refunded by the Attorney General, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, upon the following grounds:

(1) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was not at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws;

(2) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been sold to a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration before the violation was discovered;

(3) That the vessel on which the alien arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed;

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowance of such seamen to enter the United States, except at the port at which the vessel arrives, or at a port designated by the Attorney General, temporarily or for the purpose of being deported from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, temporarily or permanently, or any person who shall bring or cause to be brought into the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, shall be required to pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the alien's right to permanent admission to the United States, or pending the payment of such head tax, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, indemnify such person in whole or in part for loss from the detention of such seaman in connection with the proceedings before him. The decision of the Attorney General in the discretion shall final. Proper.

$500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, when such failure occurs as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

This section as amended shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Head tax: when refunded. Any head tax paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located from any vessel may be refunded by the Attorney General, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, upon the following grounds:

(1) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was not at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws;

(2) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been sold to a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration before the violation was discovered;

(3) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed;

(4) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been wrecked or lost on the voyage during which the violation occurred;

(5) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws;

(6) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation;

(7) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor;

(8) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor;

(9) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country;

(10) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel except at a greatly reduced compensation, and has been compelled to support himself and his family by manual labor, and has been unable to secure employment at such labor, and has returned to his native country, and has been unable to secure passage to such country;

(11) That the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived was at fault or negligent in the matter of the violation of the immigration laws, but that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has exercised due diligence to prevent the violation of such laws, and that the vessel has been libeled and sold to pay the fine imposed, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has been discharged from employment by the owners of the vessel because of the violation of such laws, and has been unable to secure employment as master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report in writing to the boarding officer of the port the name of the vessel, the name of the master, the number of passengers carried, the ports at which they embarked, and the ports for which they have tickets, the number of the crew, and such other information relative to the vessel, its cargo, passengers, and crew as may be required by the boarding officer, and it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report the sanitary condition of the vessel at the time of leaving any foreign port or place, and to answer such questions relative thereto as may be required by the boarding officer. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent of any such vessel who shall refuse to report, or who shall report falsely in any material respect, or who shall refuse to answer any question relative to the vessel, its cargo, passengers, or crew, or who shall refuse to submit the vessel, its cargo, passengers, or crew to examination by the boarding officer, or who shall refuse to render any assistance which may be required by the boarding officer in the examination of the vessel, its cargo, passengers, or crew, or who shall refuse to produce any book, document, or paper relative thereto which may be in his custody, control, or possession, or who shall refuse to give information relative thereto which he may have in his custody, control, or possession, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such refusal, failure, or misreport, and shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years. The master of any vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section relating to the boarding of such vessel by customs officers, or who shall hinder or obstruct, or combine or confederate with any other person to hinder or obstruct, any such customs officer in going on board of such vessel, or who shall refuse to assist any such officer in going on board of such vessel, or in search of such vessel, or who shall hinder or obstruct, or combine or confederate with any other person to hinder or obstruct, any such search, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The master of any vessel who shall refuse to receive on board his vessel any customs officer, or to carry him to any port or place in the United States, or who shall refuse to afford such officer proper accommodations while on board such vessel, or who shall refuse to allow such officer to remain on board such vessel during her entire passage within the United States, or who shall refuse to afford such officer reasonable facilities for the performance of his duties, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3E. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and discharged, and the intended destination of each alien employed on such vessel and not citizens of the United States; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to report and deliver to such immigration officer, at the time of the departure of any such vessel from a port of the United States, a like list containing the names of all such aliens employed on such vessel and not previously reported, and the additions to the crew by reason of births, and the casualties which have occurred since the last report or list was rendered, specifying the cause of such casualties. Such lists shall be verified by the oath of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, taken before a person authorized by law to administer oaths for immigration purposes. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list, or to report and deliver any such information required by this section, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the collector of the customs district in which the port of departure is located until the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, or a bond in the penal sum of $10 for each such alien with sufficient sureties approved by the collector of customs, conditioned for the payment of such sum, shall be deposited with him: Provided, That clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is remitted, while it remains unpaid, no penalty shall be enforced or collected: Provided further, That clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine upon the payment of a sum sufficient to cover the head tax, if any, imposed by section 2 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and the additional sum of $500 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine upon the payment of a sum sufficient to cover the head tax, if any, imposed by section 2 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and the additional sum of $500 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission all fines paid shall be refunded. Such application must be made within one year from the date of the payment of such fine.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not abandon upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after reshipment by the immigration officer at the United States port of arrival.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or destined to any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily to secure repairs to such vessel, unless notice of intention so to land has been given to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and a permit granted by him under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such permit shall be granted only after examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival (which examination shall include a personal physical examination of such alien seaman by the medical officer), unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that such alien seaman is not suffering from any disease or disability for which he might be excluded under the immigration laws. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel without having obtained a permit as herein provided, or who shall land at any port other than the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act (8 U. S. C. 155).

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or destined to any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily to secure repairs to such vessel, unless notice of intention so to land has been given to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and a permit granted by him under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such permit shall be granted only after examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival (which examination shall include a personal physical examination of such alien seaman by the medical officer), unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that such alien seaman is not suffering from any disease or disability for which he might be excluded under the immigration laws. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and the additional sum of $500 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission all fines paid shall be refunded. Such application must be made within one year from the date of the payment of such fine.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of classes of alien immigrants to come within the provisions of section 3 (4) shall not be destroyed or mutilated by the master or the person in charge of the vessel or other aircraft but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any master or other person in charge of any vessel or aircraft who refuses to deliver the list required or who fails to prepare the list when required so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom information is not given in such list, or in the case of a vessel or aircraft not arriving by sea, $300 for each alien concerning whom information is not given in such list, unless it is proved to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that the master or other person in charge of the vessel or aircraft had no reasonable means of obtaining such information. Such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded except that any penalty in excess of $300 for each alien concerning whom information is not given in such list may be remitted or refunded in the discretion of the Attorney General or the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization upon terms and conditions (including the deposit of a bond) which he may deem proper.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel or aircraft bringing an alien to the United States (other than an alien crewman) shall be responsible for the payment of the head tax and the cost of maintenance while the alien is being detained because he is certified to be afflicted with a communicable disease specified in section 212(a)(1) of this Act, or pending the alien's removal, when such removal is directed by the Attorney General under the provisions of section 237(a) of this Act, or pending the alien's departure, when such departure is directed by the Attorney General under the provisions of section 237(c) of this Act, or pending the alien's presentation to a consular officer or immigration officer for an immigrant visa, when such presentation is directed by the Attorney General under the provisions of section 221(g) of this Act. Such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also be responsible for the expenses incident to the exclusion of any alien certified to be afflicted with a communicable disease specified in section 212(a)(1) of this Act, unless such alien is a member of the crew of a vessel or aircraft and is employed on board as such and departs on board the vessel or aircraft or on board another vessel or aircraft of the same line or company.

(b) Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be subject to a penalty of $300 for each alien with respect to whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any such penalty (or any part thereof) which he may deem to be unjust.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any carrier or transportation company has failed to comply with the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, such carrier or company shall not be allowed clearance from any port of the United States to any foreign port or place during the period in which such failure to comply continues, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to withhold clearance for any vessel or aircraft of such carrier or company entering a port of the United States from any foreign port or place during such period.

(d) Any fine or penalty set forth in this section may be sued for and recovered by the United States in the district in which the port is located at which the vessel or aircraft arrives, or in the district in which the office of the transportation company is located with which the vessel or aircraft arrives, or in the district in which the alien is found after he has departed from the port of arrival. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines and penalties imposed by this section have been paid or remitted, but clearance may be granted prior to the remission of a penalty upon the deposit of security or the filing of a bond sufficient to cover the amount of the penalty. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of any fine or penalty when the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance must be granted prior to the determination of any question about the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty (or any part thereof) which he may deem to be unjust. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall have accrued prior to June 2, 1940.

(e) Any fine or penalty set forth in this section may be reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or detain after treatment by the Immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(f) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such person or persons, he may cause him to be detained on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Cuba, Mexico, the West Indies, Central or South America, or the Canal Zone, or from any place outside the United States and Canada, except in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of controlling and regulating the movements of such seamen, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency affecting the safety of the vessel, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 203.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Cuba, Mexico, the West Indies, Central or South America, or the Canal Zone, shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (unless otherwise provided by regulations), a complete list of all the crew, including all persons employed on board in any capacity whatsoever, and shall make oath to the truthfulness of such list before the immigration officer at the port of arrival (which oath may be administered by any such officer), and shall answer such questions with regard to such persons as may be prescribed by the Attorney General. Such list shall show the full name, age, sex, nationality (as hereinafter defined), last permanent residence, calling, and final destination of every such person, and such other information as may be required by the Attorney General, and shall indicate which one of the persons listed is a citizen of the United States, which one is a resident alien, which one is an immigrant entitled to enter the United States, which one is an immigrant not entitled to enter the United States, which one is a nonimmigrant, and such other classification as may be required by the Attorney General. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States whether he has in his possession a valid passport, and the number, date, and place of issuance thereof, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Attorney General. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States whether he has been in the United States previously, and if so, when, where, and how long prior to such time he has been outside the United States, whether he has been deported or has had any trouble with the immigration authorities of the United States or of any other country, whether he has been in prison or in almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is coming to the United States in pursuance of a prearranged plan, and if so, the name and address of the person who has sent for him, whether he intends to return to the country from which he comes after a visit to the United States, whether he has a ticket through to such country, and whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when and how long prior to such time he has been outside the United States. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States his height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and marks of identification. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States whether he has a relative in the country whence he came, and if so, his name and address, and whether he has been supported in whole or in part by the contributions of any charitable organization, and if so, the name and address of such organization. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States is coming to the United States to join a husband, wife, father, or other relative, and if so, the name, relationship, and complete address of such relative. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has been employed in the United States previously, and if so, when and by whom. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has been in prison or in a reformatory or in a mental institution or almshouse, or has been supported by charity, and if so, which. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States is a polygamist, or is coming to the United States for any immoral purpose, or is an anarchist, or believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining such beliefs or advocating such overthrow, or advocates the assassination of public officials, or advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization which writes or publishes or circulates any book, paper, document, or printed matter containing such advocation or teaching, and such other information relative to the immigration and naturalization of persons as may be required by the Attorney General. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has a ticket through to his destination, and whether he has been assisted in coming by any individual, association, society, or government, and if so, the name and address of such individual, association, society, or government. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has been deported, and if so, when and why. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has ever been refused admission to the United States, or has ever had his case certified to the Board of Immigration Appeals, and if so, when and why. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has ever been arrested, and if so, when and why. Such list shall show whether each person who is not a citizen of the United States has ever been in the United States before, and if so, when and how long prior to such time he has been outside the United States, whether he has been deported or has had any trouble with the immigration authorities of the United States or of any other country, whether he has been in prison or in almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is coming to the United States in pursuance of a prearranged plan, and if so, the name and address of the person who has sent for him, whether he intends to return to the country from which he comes after a visit to the United States, whether he has a ticket through to such country, and whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when and how long prior to such time he has been outside the United States. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States his height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and marks of identification. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States whether he has in his possession a valid passport, and the number, date, and place of issuance thereof, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Attorney General. Such list shall show for each person who is not a citizen of the United States whether he has been in the United States previously, and if so, when, where, and how long prior to such time he has been outside the United States, whether he has been deported or has had any trouble with the immigration authorities of the United States or of any other country, whether he has been in prison or in almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is coming to the United States in pursuance of a prearranged plan, and if so, the name and address of the person who has sent for him, whether he intends to return to the country from which he comes after a visit to the United States, whether he has a ticket through to such country, and whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when and how long prior to such time he has been outside the United States. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (8 U. S. C. 180) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or because of such emergencies as the Attorney General may prescribe, or to secure treatment, or because of such emergencies as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except vessels touching at ports solely for the purpose of taking on board bunker, ship's stores, or sea provisions, and not engaging in the transportation of passengers or cargo between such ports) shall, before the departure of such vessel from any port, file with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a manifest, or duplicate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, containing a list of all aliens who are to be taken on board such vessel at such port, and such other information in regard to such aliens as the Attorney General may deem necessary. Such manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master or commanding officer of such vessel. Such list shall be prepared at such time before the departure of such vessel from such port as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the master or commanding officer has delivered to such collector a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of arrival that such manifest has been delivered and that all the requirements of law have been complied with by the master or commanding officer and by all aliens on board such vessel. Such certificate shall be delivered by the collector of customs to the master or commanding officer of such vessel upon the payment or tender of payment of all fines and penalties which have been imposed upon such master or commanding officer or such vessel under the provisions of this section. Any master or commanding officer who knowingly fails to deliver such manifest or who knowingly includes therein the name of any alien who has not been duly inspected by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who knowingly fails to include therein the name of any alien who is on board such vessel at the time of her departure from such port, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien. Such fine shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem, and such vessel may be detained until such fine is paid or her master or commanding officer has given a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof. Clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the payment of such fine upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Such deposit or bond shall be returned if the Secretary of Labor remits such fine or if the master or commanding officer of such vessel establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such fine was improperly imposed. Such fine shall not be remitted or refunded unless application therefor is made within one year from the date the same was incurred. Jurisdiction is conferred upon the district courts of the United States to enforce the provisions of this section by appropriate proceedings. The Secretary of Labor may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this section. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Deportation of such alien seaman shall be a charge against the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor for the fiscal year in which such deportation is effected. Any such alien seaman who shall have been granted a visa by a consular officer abroad shall, upon his return to the United States, be subject to the head tax and the visa fee prescribed by law for the issuance of such visa. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall have been furnished, and not then unless copies of lists required by section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180), have been furnished to the administrative officer designated by said section 33 to the port prescribed by section 28 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 176). Penalty upon vessel, the amount specified in §§ 10.15–10.17, has been made.

SEC. 36. That when written or printed words in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all the persons who are to be taken on board such vessel at such port, and shall be the duty of each such person, before the departure of said vessel from such port, to write or cause to be written his name and answers to such questions touching his nationality, race, and identity as may be put to him by the said immigration officer, in addition to the answers to questions required by section 2 of this Act. Such list or manifest shall be prepared and written in such form and contain such further information touching the said persons and their destination in the United States as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and the said answers shall be recorded by the said immigration officer in such list or manifest. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, who shall make oath before the said immigration officer to the truthfulness and completeness of the list or manifest subscribed by him. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission to the United States, the Secretary of Labor may provide that such list or manifest shall contain such additional information as may be required in the case of any or all aliens sought to be admitted, whether such aliens are in transit through the United States or not, and may provide that such list or manifest shall be produced and delivered to the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, or at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in such number of duplicate copies as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall deliver such duplicate copies to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any master or commanding officer who shall refuse or fail to deliver such list or manifest, or to have the same prepared, or to answer such questions, or to write or cause to be written such answers, or to deliver such duplicate lists, at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with any of the requirements of this section, or with any rules or regulations made by the Secretary of Labor for the enforcement of this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, and shall be imprisoned for not more than one year. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall have been furnished, and not then unless copies of lists required by section 30 of the Act of February 20, 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall have been furnished to the administrative officer designated by said section 33 to the port prescribed by section 28 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 176). Penalty upon vessel, the amount specified in §§ 10.15–10.17, has been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared in blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry; and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or copies of same must be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of entry before any passenger is allowed to land. Any master who refuses to present the list required by the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of entry shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each offense. (8 CFR 150.1 (a).)

Each alien passenger, including names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien seamen of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from a port in the Canal Zone or possession of the United States to any port in the United States shall, before such vessel departs from the port at which such alien seamen arrive in the United States, be inspected by the immigrant inspector at such port, or by such other officer or employee of the United States as may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States unless upon such inspection it is found that he is not afflicted with any of the mental or physical disabilities or diseases constituting grounds for exclusion of aliens as provided in this Act, and unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector that he is entitled to land under the provisions of this Act or any other law or treaty. Any such alien seaman who is not permitted to land shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of aliens who become public charges within five years after they have entered the United States, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Any such alien seaman who is not deported shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge until the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall depart from the port, or, if destined to a foreign port, until the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall depart therefrom, or, if destined to a port in contiguous territory, until the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall depart therefrom or sail for a port in the United States: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, parole into the United States temporarily under bond, in such sum as he may prescribe, any such alien seaman who is certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from any disease, other than those enumerated in section 3 of this Act, or any physical defect, which in the opinion of the Commissioner General of Immigration may require observation or treatment, if such alien seaman is otherwise admissible under this Act: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, parole into the United States temporarily for the period of his stay in good faith in the United States, any alien seaman who presents a valid passport and who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such alien seaman is otherwise admissible under this Act: Provided further, That any alien seaman who is allowed to land temporarily under bond, as provided in this section, and who fails to return to the vessel or depart thereon within the period specified, or within such extension of time as may be granted by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be deported as provided in this section. Any master who fails to detain on board any alien seaman who is required by this section to be detained on board of his vessel, or who lands or permits to land any such alien seaman except as provided in this section, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman so landed or permitted to land. The cost of maintenance of any such alien seaman detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge, pending the decision as to whether he may be allowed to land, shall be borne by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Any such alien seaman who is not deported shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge until the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall depart from the port, or, if destined to a foreign port, until the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall depart therefrom, or, if destined to a port in contiguous territory, until the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall depart therefrom or sail for a port in the United States: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, parole into the United States temporarily under bond, in such sum as he may prescribe, any such SEC. 150.1. Limit of alien employees: navy reduction of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted van vessel until the limit required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been complied, and not then unless notice of illness to the immigrant inspection at all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to depart such seaman (except inspection in transit through the United States) or who is certified by such immigrant inspector to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10.00 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. In writing transfer, withdraw and benefit to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such return as the Attorney General in the direction shall prior. Transaction, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1910.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily detained as a witness, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart upon such terms, to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (8 Stat. 164–168, 28 Stat. 218; 8 U. S. C. 164 (a), 164 (c).)

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabins of alien members of crews (Form 1 and shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a duplicate to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival then constituted as the seat of the district in which the vessel shall enter a complete and accurate list or manifest, in triplicate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, containing the name of all persons who may be on board such vessel at the time of her arrival at such port, the nationality of each person, the last permanent residence of each person, whether he is in possession of a valid passport, the port at which he embarked, the final destination of each person who is not a citizen of the United States, whether each person has been in the United States previously, and if so, when and how many times, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is coming to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, whether he has a ticket through to his destination, whether he has in his possession more than $50 in money, whether he is in good health, mental and physical, and whether he is a polygamist, and whether he is an anarchist; and such other information relative to each person named in such list as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The said lists shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, who shall make oath before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to the best of his knowledge and belief as to the correctness of the lists in all particulars. Such lists shall be produced at the request of any immigrant inspector, and shall be open to his inspection while the vessel remains in port. Any master who refuses to deliver such lists, or who refuses to allow the inspection provided for herein, or who refuses to answer truthfully the questions contained in such lists, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each person concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or for each person concerning whom he refuses to answer truthfully the questions contained in such lists, or for each person concerning whom he refuses to allow inspection, or for each person concerning whom he makes false answers, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located until the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to the proper officer, or for each person concerning whom he refuses to answer truthfully the questions contained in such lists, or for each person concerning whom he refuses to allow inspection, or for each person concerning whom he makes false answers, has been paid to the collector of customs, or satisfactory bond given to the Secretary of Labor to cover such payment. Any master who refuses to deliver lists as required by this section, or refuses to allow the inspection provided for herein, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. (39 Stat. 878–879; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

SEC. 150.15. Liens of alien employees: upon clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the liens provided by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been terminated, and not then unless notice of liability to the immigrant inspector has been received in accordance with section 10 of the Act of 1921 (42 Stat. 135; 8 U. S. C. 163), namely, deposit of the amount specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or be required to depart as the agent of the Government from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall allow any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such alien or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer at such port, or who fails to deport such seaman on board such vessel or on board some other vessel sailing to the country to which such seaman belongs, or to the country in which he shall have shipped, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the United States, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such port is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all deserting alien seamen, whether such seamen are employed in connection with vessels engaged in the foreign, coastwise, or any other trade of the United States (now 1940).

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport or after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

I, ____, of the ____ do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from any port or place granted per present navigate. I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 15 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, applies thereto.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the numerous vessels entering the ports of the United States. The Department will not be responsible for any failure to furnish such forms. Masters of vessels are required to obtain the forms from the vessel's agent in the port of arrival, and after using them to return them to the agent for the purpose of having them filled out and signed. Masters are required to return to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., all forms received from the agent which have not been used, and to report to the Department the number of aliens employed on board the vessel during the last voyage. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who is not returning to the country of which he is a citizen or subject, and the reason why such alien is not returning to such country. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been refused a visa by a consular officer, and the reason why such visa was refused. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been refused admission to the United States, and the reason why such admission was refused. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been deported from the United States, and the reason why such alien was deported. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted a visa by a consular officer after having been previously refused a visa by a consular officer, and the reason why such visa was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted admission to the United States after having been previously refused admission, and the reason why such admission was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted a hearing by a special inquiry officer after having been previously excluded from admission to the United States, and the reason why such hearing was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been arrested in the United States, and the reason why such alien was arrested. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been convicted in the United States of a felony or other crime involving moral turpitude, and the reason why such alien was convicted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been pardoned by the President of the United States, and the reason why such alien was pardoned. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted a commutation of sentence by the President of the United States, and the reason why such commutation was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted a parole by the Attorney General of the United States, and the reason why such parole was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted a suspension of deportation by the Attorney General of the United States, and the reason why such suspension was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted the privilege of departing voluntarily from the United States in lieu of deportation, and the reason why such privilege was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., the name of each alien employed on board the vessel during the last voyage who has been granted a stay of deportation by the Attorney General of the United States, and the reason why such stay was granted. Masters are required to report to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department, and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of persons of alien memory of crewmembers from each vessel shall not be removed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. When an attorney acting as a "watchman" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, or consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to the arrest of any such alien as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any failure to deliver to each immigration officer at a United States port a complete list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not examined abroad at the time of the arrival but who will leave Port Preston at the time of port departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been held and detained, and of those, if any, who have been detained for special examination by the Secretary of Labor, the failure to report each case of detention or landing, each owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver a list of each alien detained, as required by such rules and regulations, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a fine ratio, is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act has been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, or any one detailed by him for the purpose), or who fails to deliver such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board after inspection by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be detained on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to its pertinent Government to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival. Due care shall be taken to see that the list is correctly prepared. The law requires that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of each vessel shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien not listed, or for each alien improperly listed, who is brought into the United States on such vessel, unless the inspector at the port of arrival is satisfied that such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer had no reasonable grounds to believe that such alien was an alien who should be listed. Such fine may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Immigration. In order to facilitate inspection, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer is required to deliver to each immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at each port a list or manifest of all the aliens on board the vessel. Such list or manifest shall be in the order of the numbers on the ship's ticket, and shall contain the following information as to each alien, viz:

(1) Full name in the alien language.
(2) Age.
(3) Sex.
(4) Married or single.
(5) Calling or occupation.
(6) Whether able to read or write.
(7) Nationality.
(8) Last permanent residence.
(9) Final destination.
(10) Whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, and his name and complete address.
(11) Whether in possession of a ticket reading to his final destination.
(12) Whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, and if by others, whether by relatives or friends or by the government to which he owes allegiance.
(13) Whether in possession of $50 in money, and if less than $50 the exact amount.
(14) Whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where.
(15) Whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity.
(16) Whether a polygamist.
(17) Whether under contract or labor agreement to perform labor in the United States.
(18) Whether an anarchist.
(19) Whether a prostitute.
(20) Whether coming for an immoral purpose.
(21) Whether ever deported or refused admission to the United States, and if so, when.
(22) Whether accompanied by wife or children, and how many of each.
(23) Whether a person who has been forcibly abducted.
(24) Whether a person who has been sold or trafficked.
(25) Whether a person who has been induced to emigrate by false promises.
(26) Whether a person who has been induced to emigrate by any offer or solicitation.
(27) Whether a person who has been induced to emigrate by any offer or solicitation.
(28) Whether a person who has been induced to emigrate by any offer or solicitation.

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, steamer, commander, or master (whichever title is in use) of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered on board, and the ports at which they have touched during the course of the present voyage, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each alien employed, and such other information as may be required by the Attorney General, relative to the movements of any such alien employed on such vessel. Except as provided in section 30 of the Act of May 22, 1918, no alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall cause each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of inspection who lands to depart on board that alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 40. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall cause each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of inspection who lands to depart on board that alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or certifies in writing that such inspection will be made at a designated time and place. Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers during the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such amount as he deems just, but not in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Such application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such amount as he deems just, but not in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Such application must be made prior to the determination of the liability to the payment thereof. The action, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which have accrued but have not been paid at the time of approval hereof. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

(b) Every alien seaman who does not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be deported at the vessel's expense unless the Attorney General in his discretion shall think that from all the circumstances of the case he should be permitted to land temporarily. The list of members of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "continued," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection and the making of proper entries, the names of alternate aliens seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 3E. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position therein; and after the vessel has been admitted to entry it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel. Failure to deliver such list, to report any such illegal landing, or to detain any such alien on board vessel if ordered so to do by the principal immigration officer, or the departure of any such alien from the vessel before the inspection of such alien, forfeits a certain sum, to be fixed by the Secretary of Labor, not to exceed $300 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon application in writing therefor, multiple such penalties may be remitted or reduced to an amount not less than $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are delivered to a duly authorized officer of the port of arrival in the event such sum is remitted, while it remains unpaid, the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such sum, and, in the event such sum is remitted, the determination of the duration of the period to be covered by a duly executed bond, may be reviewed, and the decision modified, by the Secretary of Labor: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporary medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the landing in the United States, except temporary detention of such alien from the vessel, or pursuant to bond, or for such other purpose as may be authorized by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe, nor unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and port at which each such alien seaman was shipped, of all alien seamen employed on such vessel (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and shall have executed a bond in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, as the Attorney General may prescribe, conditioned for the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, which may be imposed upon such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer by the Attorney General or any board of special inquiry appointed by him, and for the faithful performance by such alien seaman of the duties for which he was shipped, and for his departure with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel leaving a port in the United States for a foreign port, and for the prompt delivery of such alien seaman to the immigration officer at the port of arrival when required to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the bond is executed the sum of $10 for each alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners). Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the bond is executed the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission or reduction of fine, or upon the deposit of such sum or the execution of such bond, the vessel may be granted clearance. Such fine, penalty, or liability may be remitted or reduced to an amount not less than the expenses of the vessel on which the alien seaman may have been temporarily detained, and such vessel may be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(a) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was detained upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the landing in the United States, or that he was detained by the immigration officers of the port of arrival at the request of the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deposit after treatment by the immigration officer at the port of arrival or departure, as the case may be, of such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on such other vessel leaving a port in the United States for a foreign port to which the master of such vessel may be ordered by the immigration officer at the port of arrival.

(b) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on such other vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deposit after treatment by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or departure, as the case may be, of such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on such other vessel leaving a port in the United States for a foreign port to which the master of such vessel may be ordered by the immigration officer at the port of arrival.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on such other vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deposit after treatment by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or departure, as the case may be, of such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on such other vessel leaving a port in the United States for a foreign port to which the master of such vessel may be ordered by the immigration officer at the port of arrival.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list enclosed herein shall be prepared on plain paper substituted by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival not to exceed 24 hours before the vessel is scheduled to depart. Any additions to this list after such departure should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, the list should be arranged in the order in which the aliens appear on the manifest. Any alien who is not a citizen of the United States must be listed, whether in transit through the United States or destined to a foreign country, and each alien must be assigned a separate number, beginning with number 1 and continuing consecutively. Number 1 should be assigned to the master of the vessel, if an alien, and the remaining members of the crew, if any, should follow in the order of their importance, and then the passengers, if any, in the order of their importance. Infants in arms should be assigned numbers and entered on the list. Any alien who has been previously admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks." Any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the number of the visa, the consular office at which issued, and the date of issuance should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired nonquota immigrant visa should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the words "Nonquota Immigrant" should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired quota immigrant visa should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the words "Quota Immigrant" should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired nonimmigrant visa should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the letter and word designating the class of nonimmigrant visa presented should be shown, as for example, "B-2 Temporary Visitor." Any alien who is in possession of a reentry permit should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the number and date of issuance of the permit should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a border crossing identification card should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the number and date of issuance of the card should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a special permit to reapply for admission should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the date of issuance of the permit should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a special inquiry officer's certificate of identity should be so noted in the column headed "Remarks," and the date of issuance of the certificate should be shown. Any alien who is in possession of a boat identification number issued pursuant to section 3 of the Act of August 19, 1950 (64 Stat. 392; 46 U.S.C. 527), should have the number so issued entered in the column headed "Remarks."

Heading of list.—The list required to be prepared by the master or commanding officer, or the first or second officer, or person in charge of any vessel shall contain, in addition to the name of the vessel, its nationality, and the name of the port of departure, the following information concerning each alien on board, which information shall be given in the English language and in columns headed substantially as follows:

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of British North America or Mexico, or who arrives in the United States by land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering it impracticable for the master to comply herewith, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering it impracticable for the master to comply herewith, or to accompany a sick seaman who is specially detained, shall be granted a landing certificate, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory to which such alien seaman has been granted a landing certificate, shall, at the time of arrival, deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the name of all alien seamen employed on such vessel, stating the position they have been employed in on the vessel, and the port at which they were employed when such vessel departed from a foreign port. Such list shall be prepared on plain white paper, in the form prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such additional requirements as to the information to be contained therein as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe from time to time. The list or changes of alien members of the crew shall be certified to by the master of the vessel and by the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any master who fails to deliver such list or changes of alien members of the crew, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to board the vessel for the purpose of examining the list or the crew, or who fails to detain any alien seaman specified in such list or changes of alien members of the crew, or who refuses to detain any alien seaman who has been ordered detained by any immigration officer, or who refuses to deliver to any alien seaman who has been granted a landing certificate, removal, or deportation order, or who refuses to deliver to any such alien seaman who has been ordered deported any such certificate or order delivered to him for that purpose by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. When such returns are by the Attorney General in the discretion shall finally proper. This section as amended shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from outside contiguous territory, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue detention to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense shall be considered a lien upon such vessel in favor of the United States, collectible as penalties are collectible. Such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has certified that such alien seaman has been found admissible, or who fails to detain such alien seaman on board until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is notified that the alien is to be detained for further examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the port of departure, or who fails to deport such seaman when ordered to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting alien seamen subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily detained as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to pay more than twice the amount of the passage money originally collected for the transportation of such seaman. Any clearance granted such vessel shall be void and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until fully reimbursed for the amount paid by the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on board, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification; and upon the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired or discharged, and of those who have died since the last report, together with such information as may be required from time to time by the Commissioner General of Immigration touching the movements and condition of each such alien employee. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who fails to deliver either of the lists herein required, or who fails to report the names of all alien employees who leave the vessel at any port, or who fails to report the names of those, if any, who have been hired or discharged, and of those who have died since the last report, or who fails to report any such information as may be required from time to time by the Commissioner General of Immigration touching the movements and condition of each such alien employee, or who fails to deliver to each immigrant alien who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired or discharged, and of those who have died since the last report, or who fails to report any such information as may be required from time to time by the Commissioner General of Immigration touching the movements and condition of each such alien employee, or who fails to deliver to each immigrant alien who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure a certificate of the physical and mental examination of such alien, or who fails to report the cause of death of any such alien who may die before departure, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above provided, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively applied for engaged, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing no more of such information as is known by the master to the agent, owner, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has fallen ill and is likely to be detained more than forty-eight hours; and within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to so deliver either of the lists above required the owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, or in the event such sum is not promptly paid, shall constitute a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall fix and prescribe, the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of any vessel may be relieved from the payment of the penalty or any part thereof, and the lien therefor released in whole or in part, or, after the penalty has been paid, the same remitted in whole or in part, and any moneys collected in excess of the amount finally determined upon shall be refunded. Nothing in this section shall be construed to relieve any person from criminal liability in connection with any false statement or omission. Any Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the application to the payment of such penalty, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall finally prescribe, the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of any vessel may be relieved from the payment of all penalties during unexpired portion of June 5, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from which such alien deserted, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deposit such testimonial by the immigration officer at the time of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such testimonial by the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), arriving upon the vessel at the port of arrival and inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or to whom such alien is to deliver such seamen on board after such inspection or to depart such seamen on board any vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customhouse district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the application to the payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall finally prescribe, the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of any vessel may be relieved from the payment of all penalties during unexpired portion of June 5, 1940.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties during unexpired portion of June 5, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily or permanently left behind in a hospital, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deposit such testimonial by the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such testimonial by the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete manifest containing the names of all aliens employed or signed, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ships company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and whether they intend to depart from the port of arrival; or leave contiguous to water or not to depart from the United States, and such other information as may be required by the Attorney General, and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and the cause or reason for their discharge, so far as known or ascertained by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master at the time of the departure of the vessel; and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel shall furnish to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or two lists of aliens such seamen on board such vessel, such inspection or to depart such seamen if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all beneficial aliens seamen independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman on alien seamen did not appear on the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport alien seamen, the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to attend to matters connected with the vessel, for the purpose of applying for a visa, or for the purpose of obtaining a passport, or because of sickness or injury requiring his detention, or when, in the opinion of the Attorney General, his detention is necessary for the medical treatment, or because of the quarantine regulations of the United States, of persons on board such vessel: Provided, That the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliens detained under the provisions of this section the conditions under which they may be permitted to land temporarily, and may require a bond in such sum as he may deem necessary, with sufficient surety, to insure the return of any such alien to the vessel or other transportation line on which he arrived, when required so to do by the Attorney General or any person designated by him for the purpose.

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or permits to be landed any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall cause the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection to be given notice of the sailing of such alien seaman sufficiently in advance of the departure of such alien seaman to permit the physical examination by the medical examiner, the immigrant inspector, and the examination of the manifest of such alien seaman by the immigrant inspector, and the physical examination of such alien seaman by the medical examiner, before the departure of such alien seaman. Such notice shall be given to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located and the name of the alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the immigration officer or the Attorney General, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman on board the vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department, and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of members of alien crew-men, whether seaman or a nonalien, shall not be delivered on board but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form I-418) which must be returned on board the vessel by a nonalien. A nonalien is a person who is not a citizen or national of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the boarding immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on said vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether for the entire voyage or otherwise, and to make oath to the correctness of such lists before the said immigration officer or his assistant at the time of inspection of the vessel at the port of arrival; or make oath to the correctness of any such lists before any immigration officer within three business days after the arrival of such vessel at the port at which application for admission is made, and deliver such lists to the said immigration officer at the time of the granting of such application. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver such lists, or shall refuse to answer truthfully and completely any question touching the matters aforesaid propounded to him by any such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and refuses the deportation of any such alien employed on such vessel at the port of arrival, or who connives or assists in secreting, concealing, or attempting to conceal any such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and refuses to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and refuses the deportation of any such alien employed on such vessel at the port of arrival, or who connives or assists in secreting, concealing, or attempting to conceal any such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and refuses to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the granting of such application a list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the granting such application, or who have been discharged or have deserted from the vessel, stating the name, nationality, and last known address of such alien employee, and also the manner of their discharge; and who shall refuse to answer truthfully and completely any question touching the matters aforesaid propounded to him by any such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent island, or who shall have been a member of the crew of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent island, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency as the Attorney General may prescribe, or unless a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 as may be required by the Attorney General, with sufficient surety, shall be deposited to guarantee the departure of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands shall before the departure of such alien from the United States, (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(a) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164, 165; 8 U. S. C. 168 (a), 168 (c).)

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island, or who shall have been a member of the crew of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island, shall be required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to deposit the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the deposit required by this section has been made, or bond approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such deposit to be refunded, in whole or in part, or may cancel any bond upon the payment thereof to the Attorney General or upon the production of such evidence as may be satisfactory to him that the alien seaman has departed from the United States. Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States shall be required to present himself for examination by the immigration officer at the port of departure and failure to do so shall be considered a failure to depart within the meaning of this section. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a longer period than shall be specified by the Attorney General shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector any alien seaman employed on board such vessel when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent island, or who shall have been a member of the crew of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent island, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency as the Attorney General may prescribe, or unless a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, shall be deposited by the master, agent, owner, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, with the Attorney General, to guarantee the departure of such alien seaman from the United States. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such deposit to be refunded, in whole or in part, or may cancel any bond upon the payment thereof to the Attorney General or upon the production of such evidence as may be satisfactory to him that the alien seaman has departed from the United States. Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States shall be required to present himself for examination by the immigration officer at the port of departure and failure to do so shall be considered a failure to depart within the meaning of this section. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a longer period than shall be specified by the Attorney General shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector any alien seaman employed on board such vessel when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 16. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation to bring into the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or from any island adjacent thereto, or from the Republic of Mexico, any alien not duly admitted by an immigrant inspector at a designated port of entry, or to bring into the United States from any place in the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported in accordance with the provisions of this act, unless such alien has received from the Secretary of Labor prior to such bringing into the United States a certificate to the effect that application for the permission of such alien to enter the United States has been duly made and granted, and such certificate has not been revoked, and such alien is in possession of such certificate at the time of his entry into the United States. Any person, company, or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each and every alien so brought, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section to aliens coming in good faith to the United States at the solicitation of railroads or other employers seeking to secure their services in the construction of railroads or other public works in remote localities where labor is scarce, and may permit such aliens to enter the United States for such length of time as he may deem necessary for the purpose of assisting in the construction of such railroads or other public works, and may grant such other temporary permits to such aliens as may be necessary to secure their services in such localities: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section to aliens coming in good faith to the United States to take employment in the sugar-beet fields, in the beet-sugar factories, or in the harvesting of crops in the States and Territories, under such conditions as he may prescribe to prevent the displacement of citizens and aliens who have previously taken up residence in the United States, and to assure the return to their homes, at the close of the season, of such aliens as may have been employed in the beet fields, beet-sugar factories, or harvesting of crops: And provided further, That skilled agricultural laborers, not to exceed fifty families in any one year, may be admitted upon the certification of the Secretary of Labor to the Secretary of State and to the Secretary of Commerce that such laborers are necessary for the establishment of any new industry languishing for lack of such skilled labor, and that they will not displace any American workmen: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, admit otherwise inadmissible aliens applying for temporary admission to the United States irrespective of the limitations of this section, but no such alien shall be admitted unless a sufficient bond, in such sum and with such surety or sureties as the Secretary of Labor may require, shall be deposited to insure that at the expiration of the time for which he is admitted he will depart from the United States. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules, regulations, and conditions, including the form and amount of bonds, as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section. (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

SEC. 36. That from entering of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they have been in the United States, and if so, how long, and whether they have been naturalized, and if so, when and where, as near as may be discovered, all cases in which any such alien has had his application for citizenship pending in the office of any court, and the name of such court, and such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has had his application for citizenship pending from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time or the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have died on the vessel since the last report was rendered, and the cause of death; and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall report the name of any alien employed on board such vessel and not included in any list required by this section, and the reason for the failure to include such alien in such list, and shall furnish such additional information relative to such alien as the Secretary of Labor may require. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner and contain such additional particulars concerning each alien mentioned therein as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses or fails to deliver any list required by this section, or who refuses or fails to report, add, or remove any alien as required by the provisions of this section, or who refuses or fails to deliver to any such immigration officer any such additional information relative to such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the amount of such penalties has been determined or sufficient bond given to secure the payment thereof, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, such ship may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which such port is located. Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 890–891; 8 U. S. C. 171)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of adjacent islands as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or for medical treatment, or pursuant to such temporary permit as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and for such time as may be necessary for the purpose of his presentation for examination by the medical examiners). SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection it shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination as to the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The provisions of this section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from outside contiguous territory, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reshipment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against such vessel in the payment authorized to the application of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or transferred to any vessel in the United States for the purpose of departing therefrom, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have determined, or the master of such alien shall have established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor, that such alien is not unable or unwilling to pay the head tax because of poverty or other cause, or to comply with any of the requirements of the immigration laws, or likely to become a public charge, or unless such alien is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws. Such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer such sum of money as in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor will be sufficient to defray the cost of his maintenance while he remains in the United States and of his return passage, and to secure the payment thereof, or to furnish a bond in such amount and with such surety as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Bonds given by masters of vessels under the provisions of this section may be sued for and recovered by the United States for the use of any person who shall have been compelled to pay the cost of maintenance and return passage of any seaman who shall have been permitted to land under the provisions of this section and who shall not have been returned by the master of the vessel on which he arrived, or on any other vessel which such master may secure for his return passage, or who shall have been relieved from deportation by the Secretary of Labor. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any seaman who has been duly certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from any contagious disease, or who has been certified by such medical officer to be helpless from illness, injury, or otherwise, or who is under 16 years of age and is coming to the United States to join his parents, or who is the wife or child of a citizen of the United States entitled to enter the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and is returning from a temporary visit abroad. Clearance may be granted any vessel notwithstanding the detention for hospital treatment of any sick seaman, or the refusal of any seaman to proceed on the voyage, if the master shall have complied with the requirements of this section in respect of such seaman. Any seaman who deserts or who refuses to proceed on the voyage when required so to do by the master shall be liable to a fine of $50 or imprisonment for not more than ten days, in addition to any penalty to which he may be subject under existing law. Any seaman who fails to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within a period of five days after notice that such vessel is ready to depart shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any seaman who fails to depart on a vessel other than that on which he arrived within a period of two months

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, except temporarily for the purpose of taking on board his effects and those of his wife and minor children, or because of illness, injury, or arrest, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for such purpose, under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal and the Canal Zone shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner(s), arriving for inspection such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner(s), at the port of arrival) to the Attorney General (Form I-408) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port or other place at which the vessel is a "MOTHER," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of such seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to such determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of the date of entry. (Act of June 2, 1924)

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a true list of crewmen as required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that the deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(Rev. 1-1-52)

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST AND SECOND OFFICERS

I, ROY A. KISSEN, of the U.S.S. SAMUEL CHASE, E1 2A-2, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew thereof in such ports or places thereof as I have been able to ascertain, and that the best of my knowledge and belief no alien has been employed on board said vessel in any capacity except as indicated in the list, and that no member of the crew has been paid off, engaged, or discharged in the United States except as indicated in the list, and that no seaman has been employed on board said vessel at a higher rate of wages than is indicated in the list, and that the list contains a full and true statement of all the wages due or accrued to each member of the crew up to the time of the departure of said vessel from the last port or place from which she sailed.

Sworn to before me this 25th day of AUGUST, 1945.

Immigrant Inspector.

Master.

Time allowed by Department of Commerce, U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE, Washington 25, D. C. — Type 8 on 10 pt. 100

U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1945 O—611703

and shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the aliens seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, has caused such vessel to default to any foreign port, or has caused any loss to the owners thereof, such alien seaman shall be liable to a penalty of $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon application in writing therefor, made under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, the Secretary of the Treasury may remit or cancel any fine, or any part of a bond duly sufficient entirely to secure the payment thereof.

(d) Fines under this section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding alien seamen who shall remain in the United States after the termination of the period for which they were granted permission to land under section 3, 1940.

This section, as amended, shall not affect the requirements of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 137) have been transferred by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 160) to the Administrative functions prescribed by said section 17 to that prescribed by section 32 of said Act, and not then nullified notice of intention to depart shall be given to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization at least 10 days prior to the departure of such alien seaman, unless such notice is waived by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

SEC. 15(b)15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the boarding officer designated in 8 CFR 13.13–13.17, inclusive, a correct list and manifest of all the alien employees on board such vessel, in quadruplicate, showing their full names, ages, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, port where they joined the vessel, and the consular visas, if any, granted them, and such other information relative to such employees as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization or by the boarding officer. Any master who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense.

SEC. 15(b)15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the boarding officer designated in 8 CFR 13.13–13.17, inclusive, a correct list and manifest of all the alien employees on board such vessel, in quadruplicate, showing their full names, ages, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, port where they joined the vessel, and the consular visas, if any, granted them, and such other information relative to such employees as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization or by the boarding officer. Any master who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That when written application is made to the boarding officer at a port of arrival by any alien seaman who intends to depart from the United States for the purpose of entering the service of any vessel of the United States on the high seas, and who is destined to a port for which he has procured a bona fide contract in writing for such service, and who has been duly shipped before the said officer, and who has been found by him upon examination to be not prohibited from landing under any of the provisions of this Act, and who has obtained from said officer a certificate containing a description of such alien, his nationality, last residence, and destination, and stating the vessel in which he has contracted to sail, the amount of wages agreed to be paid him, and the time when, and the port at which, he is required by the terms of his contract to report for duty, such alien seaman may be granted a permit to depart from the United States to the port named in such certificate within a time limit to be fixed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and may be conveyed to such port in the vessel in which he has contracted to sail or in any other vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be granted a permit to depart from the United States unless the master of the vessel in which he has contracted to sail shall have been first duly notified by the boarding officer that such alien seaman has been found upon examination to be not prohibited from landing under any of the provisions of this Act, and has been duly shipped before said officer, and has obtained from said officer a certificate containing a description of such alien, his nationality, last residence, and destination, and stating the vessel in which he has contracted to sail, the amount of wages agreed to be paid him, and the time when, and the port at which, he is required by the terms of his contract to report for duty, and shall have been given an opportunity to examine such alien seaman before the granting of any such permit to depart from the United States. Any master who shall fail to report the departure of any such alien seaman from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, his nationality, and the time and place of such departure, shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such alien seaman who may not be found on board the vessel when she departs from any port of the United States, and no clearance shall be granted to any vessel liable to such penalty until the same shall have been paid or sufficient security given therefor. Any master who shall knowingly conceal, remove, or harbor, or assist in concealing, removing, or harboring, any such alien seaman who has been ordered by the boarding officer to be detained on board, but shall fail to report such fact to the boarding officer before the departure of the vessel from the port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000. Any master who shall refuse to receive on board his vessel any alien seaman who has been ordered by the boarding officer to be detained on board, but shall fail to report such refusal to the boarding officer before the departure of the vessel from the port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000. Any master who shall refuse to receive on board his vessel any alien seaman who has been ordered by the boarding officer to be detained on board, but shall fail to report such refusal to the boarding officer before the departure of the vessel from the port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000. Any master who shall refuse to receive on board his vessel any alien seaman who has been ordered by the boarding officer to be detained on board, but shall fail to report such refusal to the boarding officer before the departure of the vessel from the port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of crewmen shall be typewritten, or written in ink, and shall be verified by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crewmen, the list should not be rearranged in any way, but shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the exact order in which the names appear on the ship's articles. Any list of crewmen not prepared in the manner indicated, or illegible, or incomplete, may cause a fine to be imposed on the master. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That when written application is made to the boarding officer at a port of arrival by any alien seaman who intends to depart from the United States for the purpose of entering the service of any vessel of the United States on the high seas, and who is destined to a port for which he has procured a bona fide contract in writing for such service, and who has been duly shipped before the said officer, and who has been found by him upon examination to be not prohibited from landing under any of the provisions of this Act, and has obtained from said officer a certificate containing a description of such alien, his nationality, last residence, and destination, and stating the vessel in which he has contracted to sail, the amount of wages agreed to be paid him, and the time when, and the port at which, he is required by the terms of his contract to report for duty, such alien seaman may be granted a permit to depart from the United States to the port named in such certificate within a time limit to be fixed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and may be conveyed to such port in the vessel in which he has contracted to sail or in any other vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be granted a permit to depart from the United States unless the master of the vessel in which he has contracted to sail shall have been first duly notified by the boarding officer that such alien seaman has been found upon examination to be not prohibited from landing under any of the provisions of this Act, and has been duly shipped before said officer, and has obtained from said officer a certificate containing a description of such alien, his nationality, last residence, and destination, and stating the vessel in which he has contracted to sail, the amount of wages agreed to be paid him, and the time when, and the port at which, he is required by the terms of his contract to report for duty, and shall have been given an opportunity to examine such alien seaman before the granting of any such permit to depart from the United States. Any master who shall fail to report the departure of any such alien seaman from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, his nationality, and the time and place of such departure, shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such alien seaman who may not be found on board the vessel when she departs from any port of the United States, and no clearance shall be granted to any vessel liable to such penalty until the same shall have been paid or sufficient security given therefor. Any master who shall knowingly conceal, remove, or harbor, or assist in concealing, removing, or harboring, any such alien seaman who has been ordered by the boarding officer to be detained on board, but shall fail to report such fact to the boarding officer before the departure of the vessel from the port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000. Any master who shall refuse to receive on board his vessel any alien seaman who has been ordered by the boarding officer to be detained on board, but shall fail to report such refusal to the boarding officer before the departure of the vessel from the port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands as a temporary or transient member of the crew of such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor to the Attorney General as entitled to be admitted, and then only under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the deportation of any alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(b) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands who shall refuse or neglect to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have had reasonable opportunity to examine such alien seaman, or who shall refuse or neglect to deport any such alien seaman when ordered by the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs for each such alien seaman $2,500 for each deportation upon the demand of the Attorney General, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any fine, or any part of a bond duly sufficient entirely to secure the payment thereof.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, has caused such vessel to default to any foreign port, or has caused any loss to the owners thereof, such alien seaman shall be liable to a penalty of $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon application in writing therefor, made under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, the Secretary of the Treasury may remit or cancel any fine, or any part of a bond duly sufficient entirely to secure the payment thereof.

(d) This section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding alien seamen who shall remain in the United States after the termination of the period for which they were granted permission to land under section 3, 1940.

This section, as amended, shall not affect the requirements of the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands as a temporary or transient member of the crew of such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor to the Attorney General as entitled to be admitted, and then only under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, or adjacent islands shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the deportation of any alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or purchased in any possession of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the necessity of replacing seamen, or for such other cause and for such time as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the sole purpose of and solely effectuating the object of such landing, and produce to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a passport visaed by a consular officer of the United States, or, if a stateless alien, a certificate of identity issued by the Secretary of Labor, and such seaman shall be subject to such physical and mental examination as immigration officers may be directed to make. Any such seaman who is certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from any disease or condition which will probably endanger the welfare of the United States shall be deported in the same manner as provided for aliens who become public charges within five years after entry. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of law shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who is employed on board any vessel in the United States and who shall desert or attempt to desert shall be liable to a fine of $1,000 or to imprisonment for a term of one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable to leave the United States because he was required to testify in any civil, criminal, or admiralty case or proceeding in the United States, or because he was prevented from leaving the United States by sickness, wounds, or other cause not due to his own fault. Any such seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission required by this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived or on which he has been employed has departed shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall have given bond in the sum of $300 for each such seaman, conditioned that such seaman will depart with such vessel or on some other vessel within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who has been granted shore leave while his vessel was in port shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act if found on board such vessel after she has departed from port, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall have given bond in the sum of $300 for each such seaman conditioned that such seaman will depart on the next vessel leaving such port for a foreign country. Any such seaman who has been granted shore leave while his vessel was in port shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act if found on board such vessel after she has departed from port, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall have given bond in the sum of $300 for each such seaman conditioned that such seaman will depart on the next vessel leaving such port for a foreign country other than the country to which such vessel is destined. Any such seaman who has been granted shore leave and who fails to report on board his vessel or other vessel going to the same foreign country within a period of twenty-four hours after the departure of such vessel, or within a period of twenty-four hours after notice has been given to the master or agent of such vessel that such seaman has been found by the Secretary of Labor to have been left behind in the United States sick or injured, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who is employed on board any vessel in the United States and who deserts or attempts to desert shall be liable to a fine of $1,000 or to imprisonment for a term of one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable to leave the United States because he was required to testify in any civil, criminal, or admiralty case or proceeding in the United States, or because he was prevented from leaving the United States by sickness, wounds, or other cause not due to his own fault. Any such seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission required by this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any such seaman who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived or on which he has been employed has departed shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall have given bond in the sum of $300 for each such seaman conditioned that such seaman will depart with such vessel or on some other vessel within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who has been granted shore leave while his vessel was in port shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act if found on board such vessel after she has departed from port, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall have given bond in the sum of $300 for each such seaman conditioned that such seaman will depart on the next vessel leaving such port for a foreign country other than the country to which such vessel is destined. Any such seaman who fails to depart on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners). Any alien seaman on board such vessel shall be subject to such physical and mental examination as immigration officers may be directed to make. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

Sec. 2. That the certificate of any person to whom a certificate of the kind or grade specified in section 1 of this Act has been issued may be suspended or revoked by the Secretary of Commerce or by the person designated by him for the purpose, upon proof sufficient to justify such suspension or revocation under the provisions of this Act and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. Any person shall be entitled to appeal from any order of suspension or revocation to the Secretary of Commerce, who shall have the power to affirm, modify, or reverse such order. Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Commerce. Pending decision on appeal, the order appealed from shall remain in full force and effect. Whenever any certificate shall be suspended or revoked as herein provided, the person to whom such certificate was issued shall immediately deliver it to the Secretary of Commerce or to any customs officer, local inspector of steam vessels, or United States commissioner of navigation within whose district he may be found. Any person who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $100, and any customs officer, local inspector of steam vessels, or United States commissioner of navigation within whose district he may be found is hereby authorized and required to take possession of such certificate and transmit it to the Secretary of Commerce. (46 Stat. 854; 48 Stat. 1464; 49 Stat. 1480.)

American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien seamen of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner. agent. consignee. or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival. before any alien seaman shall be granted a permit to land. a complete list or manifest of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel. stating the nationality. last known residence. and calling at which such seamen intend to land. and such other information as may be required by the Attorney General. and thereupon such officer shall indorse upon such list or manifest his approval of the landing of such alien seamen who appear to him to be entitled to land in the United States. and shall return to the master. agent. consignee. or owner of such vessel a list containing the names of all alien seamen who have been granted permits to land. and no such seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States who has not been granted such permit. Any such alien seaman who has been granted such permit shall be deported as provided in this Act to the country to which the master. agent. consignee. or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman was employed when granted a permit to land in the United States is required to return such alien seaman. unless the Secretary of Labor shall require such master. agent. consignee. or owner to return such alien seaman to a foreign port or place in lieu of the country to which such alien seaman belongs. and any master. agent. consignee. or owner of any such vessel failing to return any alien seaman employed on board his vessel when required by the Secretary of Labor shall pay a tax of $200 for each such alien seaman. and may also be refused clearance papers for his vessel by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may. upon application in writing therefor. mitigate such penalty to accord with the circumstances in each case. but shall not remit more than $75 of such penalty. and no such penalty shall be remitted except upon the payment of the costs and charges incurred in the case. Upon the refusal or neglect of any master. agent. consignee. or owner to deliver to any such immigration officer the list or manifest required by this section. or to report the desertion or the cause for the absence of any alien seaman. or to detain any such alien seaman on board or on the vessel to which he belongs until the departure of such vessel from the port. or to pay the tax imposed by this section for each such alien seaman. or to deport any such alien seaman. or to make any of the statements required by this section in the declaration. manifest. or list. or to produce any such list or manifest. or to make due report. or to pay the tax within the time limited by this section. he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1.000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. and may also be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. and shall be liable to the United States for the amount of the tax imposed by this section. and such tax may be collected by suit or out of the vessel. Clearance papers may be withheld from any vessel refusing to pay the tax imposed by this section. or any fine or penalty imposed by this section. or any part thereof. unless a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may. upon application in writing therefor. mitigate such penalty to accord with the circumstances in each case. but shall not remit more than the tax imposed by this section for each such alien seaman. and no such remission shall be granted except upon the payment of the costs and charges incurred in the case. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine or penalty. or while the fine remains unpaid. except that clearance may be granted prior to such determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or penalty. or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may. upon application in writing therefor. mitigate such penalty to accord with the circumstances in each case. but shall not remit more than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Any such remission shall final thereof.

This section as amended shall apply to all seamen now in the United States. and to all seamen arriving in the United States after June 2. 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who did not depart from the United States prior to the effective date of this section. as provided by section 36 of the Act of February 5. 1917. as amended. shall be a deportable alien. and such seaman may be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5. 1917. as amended. notwithstanding the provisions of section 20 of the Act of May 26. 1924. as amended. relating to the deportation of aliens arriving in pursuance of contract or in violation of the immigration laws. Deportation shall not be stayed on the recommendation that the alien be permitted to depart voluntarily. unless the Attorney General is of the opinion that exceptional circumstances require such stay. Any such alien seaman who shall have remained in the United States for a period in excess of one year after the effective date of this section shall be presumed to have remained longer than required by law. and the burden of proof shall be upon such alien seaman to overcome such presumption.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship. such seaman may be granted a conditional permit to remain temporarily in the United States in lieu of deportation. and such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such amount and with such security as the Attorney General may prescribe to guarantee the departure of such seaman from the United States when required to do so. Such bond shall not be returned to the obligor until the alien for whom he became surety has been deported or has departed voluntarily from the United States. or has been granted permission to remain therein permanently. or has been granted a further conditional permit to remain temporarily. or has died. or has been granted a permit to land temporarily. or has been granted an immigration visa. and such obligor has been notified by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that such alien is no longer under bond. The Attorney General may. in his discretion. cancel any such bond upon the deposit with him of the amount thereof in lawful money of the United States. Any such deposit shall be held for the same purpose and subject to the same conditions as the bond for which it is substituted. and the person making such deposit shall be entitled to receive interest thereon at the rate of 2 per centum per annum. No bond given hereunder shall be required to remain in force more than two years. and no such bond shall be valid for more than $1.000 in the case of any one alien. Any such bond may be sued upon in the name of the United States in the event of the breach of any condition thereof. and the Attorney General may remit or mitigate the forfeiture upon such terms as he shall deem appropriate. and shall pay to the obligor any moneys in excess of the amount of the forfeiture. Any such bond shall be considered breached when the alien for whom the bond was given has been deported. has departed voluntarily. has been granted permission to remain therein permanently. has been granted a further conditional permit to remain temporarily. has been granted an immigration visa. or has died. and such obligor has been notified by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that such alien is no longer under bond. Any such bond may be cancelled by the Attorney General

SEC. 36. That alien seamen in the United States from any foreign port or place [1] shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel on which they arrive to report the name of all such seamen employed on such vessel, furnish the necessary information about them required by the boards of special inquiry, and pay the tax hereinafter provided for. Such seamen shall be inspected by the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival [or, in case contiguous to more than one port, at such one of such ports as may be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization], and only such seamen as are admitted by the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be permitted to land in the United States: Provided, That seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board sea stores or bunker coal, or both, and not engaging in the discharge or taking on board of cargo at such ports, shall not be required to be inspected by immigration officers at such ports unless specially ordered by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization: Provided further, That seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of transferring from such vessels to vessels of the United States sailing directly for foreign ports, and not engaging in the discharge or taking on board of cargo at such ports, shall not be required to be inspected by immigration officers at such ports unless specially ordered by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization: Provided further, That seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board sea stores or bunker coal, or both, and not engaging in the discharge or taking on board of cargo at such ports, shall not be required to be inspected by immigration officers at such ports unless specially ordered by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization: Provided further, That alien seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States shall be required to be inspected by immigration officers at the discretion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, but no such seamen shall be permitted to land temporarily or permanently at any port unless destined to such port as their bona fide destination, and shall be in possession of sufficient money or means of transportation to reach such destination, or unless they are in the employ of a line of vessels plying regularly between ports of the United States and foreign ports touching at such ports of the United States, and are in possession of such means of transportation as will insure their departure from the United States within a period of time to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with the approval of the Secretary of Labor: Provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who is refused a landing permit at any port of the United States shall be required to remove such alien seaman on board such vessel or on board some other vessel owned by the same interests, or to cause such alien seaman to be removed to the country to which he belongs, or to the country from which he came to the United States, at the discretion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, within such period of time as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and in default thereof shall be liable to the penalties prescribed in the case of masters of vessels bringing aliens unlawfully to the United States: Provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who is refused a landing permit at any port of the United States shall be required to deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, at the discretion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, a bond in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the removal of such alien seaman within the time limited by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization: Provided further, That the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may, in his discretion, refund the bond or cancel any bond deposited under the provisions of this section upon the removal of the alien seaman in accordance with the provisions of this section.

C. 171), have been furnished and the fee therein required by said section 30 to 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 168-170) paid, and the consular officer is satisfied that the provisions of said section 30 to 32 have been complied with, and that no alien employee of the vessel will be permitted to land in the United States except those specifically permitted to land by the Secretary of Labor. (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 168)

SEC. 150.15. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of the United States, except Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the Virgin Islands of the United States, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Republic of the Philippines, or the Territory of Hawaii, shall, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all the crew members of such vessel, whether they be employed on deck, in the engine department, or in the service of the vessel, and whether they are to be discharged in the port of arrival or not, and shall furnish such other information in regard to them as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, on Form I-418, or such other form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The master of the vessel shall sign the list or manifest and make oath to the correctness thereof before the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such list or manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling or occupation, final destination, whether in transit through the United States or destined for debarkation therein, whether in possession of a valid passport, and whether in possession of a valid immigration visa of each alien crew member employed on board such vessel. The list or manifest shall also show the date and place of admission to the United States for permanent residence of each such alien crew member, if admitted prior to such arrival, and the immigration status under which admitted. Such list or manifest shall also show the name, birth date, and last permanent residence of the wife and minor children of each such alien crew member, if they are residing in the United States, and the name and address of the nearest relative or friend in the country from which each such alien crew member came to the United States. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who is ill on board the vessel at the time of its arrival at the port, and the name of each alien crew member who was ill on board the vessel at the time of its departure from the last foreign port or place at which the vessel touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the name of each alien crew member who died on board such vessel during the voyage to the port of arrival, and the date of death of each such alien crew member. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been left behind at the last foreign port or place at which the vessel touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the reason why each such alien crew member was left behind. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been signed on articles at the last foreign port or place at which the vessel touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the name of each alien crew member who has been discharged at such last foreign port or place. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been shipped or entered on board the vessel at any port or place in the United States since the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place at which she touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the name of each alien crew member who has been discharged in the port of arrival; or who has since contracted to ship on board any vessel sailing from the port of arrival; or who has since absconded from the vessel. Such list or manifest shall also show the name of each alien crew member who has been transferred to any other vessel, stating the name of such vessel, and the date of such transfer. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been lost overboard during the voyage to the port of arrival, and the circumstances of each such case. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been left behind at any port or place in the United States since the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place at which she touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the reason why each such alien crew member was left behind. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been lost overboard during the voyage to the port of arrival, and the circumstances of each such case. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been signed on articles at the last foreign port or place at which the vessel touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the name of each alien crew member who has been discharged at such last foreign port or place. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who has been shipped or entered on board the vessel at any port or place in the United States since the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place at which she touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the name of each alien crew member who has been discharged in the port of arrival; or who has since contracted to ship on board any vessel sailing from the port of arrival; or who has since absconded from the vessel. Such list or manifest shall also show the name, birth date, and last permanent residence of the wife and minor children of each such alien crew member, if they are residing in the United States, and the name and address of the nearest relative or friend in the country from which each such alien crew member came to the United States. The master shall also state in such list or manifest the name of each alien crew member who is ill on board the vessel at the time of its arrival at the port, and the name of each alien crew member who was ill on board the vessel at the time of its departure from the last foreign port or place at which the vessel touched before arriving at the port of arrival, and the name of each alien crew member who died on board such vessel during the voyage to the port of arrival, and the date of death of each such alien crew member. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of channels of alien immigrant (steerage) passengers (Form I-420) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where an attorney assumes a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, names of aliens members of the crew should be entered on the manifest in the same order as the corresponding aliens appear on the list of channels of alien immigrant passengers.

SEC. 3d. That alien arrival at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether from choice or by impressment, and specifying the names of all aliens, if any, who have been left behind on account of sickness or injury, and the intended destination of each alien so left behind, and the reason for leaving him behind, and such information in addition thereto as may be required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival; and it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each alien employed on board such vessel at the port of arrival, before the inspection of such alien, a printed notice, to be furnished by the Secretary of Labor, stating that he may be detained for examination by the immigration officers, and that if he intends to land in the United States he must truthfully answer all questions propounded to him by such officers. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses or neglects to perform any duty required of him by this section, or who knowingly lands or permits to land any alien employed on board such vessel at any port in the United States, except in case of such emergency or such occasional landing as may be permitted by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who knowingly lands or permits to land at any such port any alien employed on board such vessel who has been refused a landing at such port by such officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed or permitted to land, or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That for the purposes of this section, the term "owner" shall include any person, partnership, association, company, or corporation owning, chartering, or operating any vessel arriving at a port of the United States.

SEC. 3e. That upon arrival of any vessel at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons, whether passengers or members of the crew, who may apply for admission to the United States, at the time of the inspection of such persons by the immigration officers, and before the landing of any such persons, and specifying the nationality, last permanent residence, and intended destination in the United States of each such person, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver such lists, or who shall refuse to furnish any additional information required by the Secretary of Labor relative to such persons, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such person in respect of whom such failure occurs. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner may be arrested either before or after the departure of the vessel from the port, and held in the sum of $1,000 pending the delivery of such lists, and such vessel may be detained for that purpose without the payment of any fees or charges. Duplicate lists of all such persons may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and in the event more than one vessel is employed by the same line in bringing such persons to the United States, the Secretary of Labor may require the master of the vessel last arriving to deliver the duplicate lists required hereunder. Upon the refusal of the master of the last vessel to deliver such duplicate lists, he shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000. The Secretary of Labor shall have the right to refuse to permit the departure from any port of the United States of any vessel the master of which shall refuse or fail to deliver the lists required of him by this section, and may, in his discretion, require the detention of any vessel the master of which shall refuse or fail to deliver the lists required of him by this section prior to the granting of clearance papers to such vessel, and may place such officers on board of such vessel as may be necessary to secure compliance with the provisions of this section by the master.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, or the Republic of Panama, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or for such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 108.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, or the Republic of Panama shall deliver to each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (or, if there is no such officer at the port, the customs officer in charge) has granted such alien seaman a personal physical examination by the medical examiner(s), to the satisfaction of such immigration officer or medical examiner, that such alien seaman does not belong to any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who fails to detain such seaman on board until such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all beneficial alien seamen subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, or the Republic of Panama shall be made by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seaman pursuant to the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared pending such deportation, and the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman shall be a lien against the vessel to be collected as penalties are collected, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States in the district in which she may be found.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliens' departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except from foreign contiguous territory) or any vessel departing from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliens' departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, who fails to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall upon the demand of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and before departure of such vessel, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that such failure occurred from causes beyond the reasonable control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel and that no fault or negligence on the part of any of them contributed to such failure. The decision of the Attorney General in the question shall be final. The provisions of this section shall not apply to all seamen who shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who are employed as members of the crew of any vessel during the round trip of such vessel immediately following the entry of such seamen as members of the crew of such vessel.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a like effect in any proceeding before the Attorney General or any immigration officer.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the exercise of his discretion shall think proper, the payment thereof may be waived or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such bond, and such vessel shall thereupon be relieved of liability to payment of such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that such failure occurred from causes beyond the reasonable control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel and that no fault or negligence on the part of any of them contributed to such failure. The decision of the Attorney General in the question shall be final. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens who shall come to the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 163 (a), 163 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens mentioned in section 12 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 171), must be prepared by the master, purser, surgeon, or authorized agent of every vessel bringing aliens to the United States from any foreign port or place, and shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival before any of the passengers are landed. Any master, purser, surgeon, or authorized agent of any vessel who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or who knowingly or negligently delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to subscribe and swear to the same before the proper officer, or who refuses to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question concerning the same propounded to him by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws of the United States, or who refuses to permit any such officer to make such examination concerning the same as is provided by law, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 12. (a) Every alien, including alien members of the crew of foreign vessels arriving at ports of the United States, shall be examined by one or more immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission or for a landing certificate, or for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has become subject to deportation from the United States. Such examination shall be conducted only by officers of the Department of Labor designated by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose, except that in the case of aliens arriving at ports not designated by the Secretary of Labor for the examination of aliens, such examination may be conducted by officers of the United States Public Health Service designated for the purpose by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service.

(b) Any alien who, after examination, is certified by the examining officer to be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission to the United States shall be duly admitted by the immigrant inspector, and any alien who is not so certified shall be detained for further inquiry by the immigrant inspectors, and shall not be admitted except upon the certification of a special board of inquiry or upon the decision of the Secretary of Labor or of a court as provided in this section. Such boards of inquiry shall be composed of three immigrant inspectors, any two of whom may act, and shall have authority to administer oaths and to take and consider evidence concerning the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or concerning the admissibility of any alien, or concerning any matter which is material and relevant to the enforcement of the exclusion and deportation provisions of this Act. The decision of such boards of inquiry shall be based upon the preponderant evidence adduced at the hearing. Said boards shall have authority to require the production of books, papers, and documents, and to require the attendance of witnesses and their testimony, and to that end may invoke the aid of any court of the United States. Said boards shall have authority to confirm or reverse the decision of the immigrant inspector in charge, or to remand the case for further hearing before the immigrant inspector in charge. Said boards shall have authority to take and consider evidence concerning any matter which is material and relevant to the enforcement of this Act, and to perform such duties as may be imposed upon them by the Secretary of Labor in the administration of this Act. Such boards shall be appointed by the Secretary of Labor, and may consist of such officers or employees of the Department of Labor as the Secretary of Labor may designate. Upon the certification by a board of inquiry that a certain alien is subject to deportation, the alien may appeal to the Secretary of Labor, who shall cause the case to be reviewed and determined solely upon the evidence before the board of inquiry. Pending the decision on appeal, the alien shall be detained in custody unless released under bond in the sum of not less than $500, with security approved by the immigrant inspector in charge, conditioned upon the obedience by such alien to the final order and decision of the Secretary of Labor in the premises. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be based solely upon the certification of the board of inquiry, and shall be final. Any alien who shall be finally ordered deported and who shall have given bond, as provided in this section, shall forfeit the same by failure to deposit him for deportation within the time specified by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final.

(c) Any alien who shall be finally ordered deported shall pay the cost of his deportation, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is unable to pay the cost of his transportation, in which case the cost of his deportation shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any alien who shall be finally ordered deported who shall have paid the cost of his passage to the United States, or the cost of whose passage was paid by his parents, husband, or other person in the United States, if such parents, husband, or other person shall make oath that they are unable to pay the cost of deportation, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any alien who shall be finally ordered deported who shall have been admitted to the United States more than one year before the date of the warrant of deportation shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act unless the Secretary of Labor shall adjudge that the cost of the deportation of such alien should be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the United States Courts. Any alien who shall be finally ordered deported who shall have been admitted to the United States within one year before the date of the warrant of deportation shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act unless the Secretary of Labor shall adjudge that the cost of the deportation of such alien should be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the United States Courts. Any alien who shall be finally ordered deported who shall have been found to have come into the United States in violation of any treaty or convention between the United States and any foreign country whereby the right to enter the United States is claimed by reason of the nationality or race of such alien shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act

The law described below shall be performed on board vessels arriving at the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pending the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of questions to which answers are required by the inspector may be performed on board and shall be delivered to the inspector for the immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alternate question is a "yes-or-no" question, a question to that effect should be indicated in the manner. In order to facilitate inspection, the following extract from section 8 CFR 150.15 is published:

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien arriving at any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business they respectively hold in the ship's company, what wages they were respectively agreed to receive, and how much of the same has been paid, and what part thereof remains unpaid, and the amount of money in possession of each alien; and shall furnish such further information as may be required by the rules of such officer; and shall pay to the United States a head tax of $8 for each alien, other than those specifically exempted by law, which said head tax shall be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, or to his deputy at the time of inspection: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be held to apply to any person in transit through the United States from one foreign country to another through inadvertence, stress of weather, or other unavoidable cause which may be considered sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, or to any person who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who later departs therefrom temporarily to any foreign country, unless it shall be the intention to abandon the right to return to the United States under such permission within the period fixed therein, or to any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, reentry permit, or other document which may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of this Act, and who is otherwise admissible under the provisions of this Act, or to any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad: Provided further, That any such alien who shall be found upon the inspection provided for by this Act to be afflicted with any contagious disease which would be likely to endanger the public health shall be detained for treatment and finally deported in the same manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after their arrival in the United States, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien did not become affected with such disease within such time after his entry as to indicate that such disease existed prior to his entry: And provided further, That any such alien who shall be excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and who shall enter the United States in violation of law, and who shall thereafter be found therein, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after their entry into the United States, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien did not enter with the knowledge or consent of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel or vehicle in which he arrived, or that such master, agent, consignee, or owner could not have discovered the illegality of such entry prior to the departure of such vessel or vehicle from the foreign port: And provided further, That any person, including any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel or vehicle, who shall bring to the United States any alien who is excluded from admission by any of the provisions of this Act, or who shall refuse to return any such alien on any vessel or vehicle owned, controlled, or operated by him, upon the demand of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided further, That any person, including any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel or vehicle, who shall bring to the United States any alien afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, other than those mentioned in section 34 hereof, and who shall not have been detained at the time of inspection because such disease was not known or suspected to exist, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided further, That any person who shall be found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this Act shall, in addition to the penalties hereinbefore prescribed, be liable to the head tax provided for in section 2 hereof in the case of each alien who may have been brought in contrary to the provisions of this Act: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any fine, penalty, or head tax provided for in this Act: And provided further, That no alien shall be admitted to the United States who is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease: Provided, That this shall not apply to any immigrant who solely because of physical disability is unable to meet the requirements of the contract labor provisions of this Act, if such immigrant shall be otherwise admissible and shall enter the United States in accordance with such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act relating to the payment of head taxes shall not apply to any alien who has been in the United States and who shall depart therefrom and return within six months from the date of his last arrival in the United States upon a ticket issued, or other evidence furnished, at the request of such alien before his departure from the United States, by the transportation company which brought him to the United States, or by any authorized agent of such company, and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor his identity and former residence in the United States: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of the provisions of this Act to any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who shall depart therefrom for a temporary visit abroad: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to apply to accredited officials of foreign governments, nor to their suites, families, or guests, nor to persons coming temporarily as members of or connected with any organization recognized by the United States Government for the purpose of participating in any litigation before the Government of the United States, or coming temporarily for the purpose of testifying before the Government or any of its departments, bureaus, or officials, nor to persons visiting the United States temporarily as tourists or temporarily for business or pleasure: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may impose such limitations and conditions upon the admission of any such persons mentioned in this proviso as he may deem necessary: And provided further, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to apply to, or to exclude, any alien who was formerly a citizen of the United States and who shall, prior to his application for admission, have received from the Secretary of Labor a certificate stating that he is returning to the United States after having been a citizen thereof, and that the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that the application for such certificate was made in good faith and that the holder thereof is returning to the United States for permanent residence: Provided further, That no alien shall be admitted to the United States unless in possession of a passport or other travel document as may be required by the Secretary of State under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559), as amended by the Act of March 2, 1921 (41 Stat. 1217), and the Act of May 10, 1929 (45 Stat. 1009), and the Act of June 21, 1930 (46 Stat. 854), and the Act of June 14, 1932 (47 Stat. 656), and the Act of June 29, 1932 (47 Stat. 418), and the Act of June 5, 1936 (49 Stat. 1482), and the Act of June 4, 1937 (50 Stat. 203), and the Act of June 7, 1939 (53 Stat. 807), and the Act of June 28, 1940 (54 Stat. 673), and the Act of June 16, 1941 (55 Stat. 252), and the Act of June 16, 1941 (55 Stat. 252), and the Act of June 16, 1941 (55 Stat. 252 arrival and inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner) or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman on board a vessel or other vessel at the port of arrival if such seaman is found by the medical examiner to be afflicted with any of the following diseases or conditions: Idiocy, imbecility, epilepsy, leprosy, active tuberculosis, or any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs when such seaman is, in the Attorney General in the opinion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all hospital marine engineers employed on or after June 5, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear when the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from such port or place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain of depart after readmittance by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of cabin passengers of alien arrival must be filed with the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passenger is allowed to land. The list of cabin passengers of alien arrivals may be typewritten, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabin passengers of alien arrivals must be signed by the master, commanding officer, purser, or authorized agent of the vessel, and verified by him before a person authorized to administer oaths. Such list must contain the following information regarding each alien, whether cabin or steerage passenger, and each citizen of the United States, who may be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place:

Full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last residence, seaport for landing in the United States, final destination if known, whether having a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or by others, whether in possession of $50 in money or not, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, and his name and complete address, whether ever before in the United States, if so, when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepayment of transportation, or assisted by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign government to come, whether in possession of a ticket through to destination, whether any of his transportation was paid for by others, whether he has been deported, and if so, how many times, whether a person who has a contagious disease, whether a person who has been in prison or in a reformatory or in almshouse or asylum or hospital for the insane or supported by charity within five years, whether a person who has been convicted of a felony or other infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, whether a person who has been convicted of a violation of any law relating to prostitution or importation of persons for immoral purposes, whether a person who has been convicted of a violation of any law relating to polygamy or the importation of polygamists, whether a person who has been convicted of a violation of any law relating to the importation, sale, or manufacture of intoxicating liquors, whether a person who has been convicted of a violation of any law relating to the importation of alien contract laborers, whether a person who has been convicted of a violation of any law relating to the importation of persons who are mentally or physically defective, IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list checked below specifies persons who are required to be inspected on board vessels arriving at this port from foreign ports. The fee of one dollar for each person inspected will be collected by the inspector. Any person not specifically required by the immigration laws to be inspected on board may be inspected at the office of the Immigration Service, if a notification to that effect should be indicated on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, masters of vessels will please see that the persons listed are mustered in groups according to race, as indicated by the headings in the list.

Any person who arrives at this port on board any vessel and who is found to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who has been found to be a person who is excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917, may be deported at any time within five years after entry, if the cause for deportation was not known to the immigration officers at the time of entry. Any person who becomes a public charge from causes existing prior to landing and who fails to make application within the time prescribed by law for the adjustment of his status to that of a lawfully admitted resident, or who becomes a public charge within five years after entry from causes not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to landing, may be deported at any time upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any person who has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude committed before entry, or who admits the commission of such crime, may be deported at any time within five years after entry upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any person who has been convicted of two crimes involving moral turpitude committed before entry, not arising out of a single scheme of criminality, may be deported at any time within five years after entry upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any person who has been convicted of a violation of any law relating to the illegal manufacture, sale, or possession of narcotic drugs committed before entry may be deported at any time within five years after entry upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any person who has been convicted of violating any law relating to the illegal importation, sale, or possession of marihuana committed before entry may be deported at any time within five years after entry upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any person who has been convicted of violating any law relating to the traffic in opium committed before entry may be deported at any time within five years after entry upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any person who has been convicted of violating any law relating to the traffic in opium committed after entry may be deported

The Secretary may, in his discretion, withhold clearance from any vessel or person who refuses to answer any question put to him by any officer of the United States authorized to administer the laws relating to vessels, their masters, officers, and crews, or to demand the production of any book, paper, or document relating thereto, or who evades answering any such question when answered, or who refuses to produce any such book, paper, or document when demanded, or who destroys, mutilates, or secretes any such book, paper, or document, or who connives at or attempts to do any of such acts, or who refuses to allow any officer of the United States authorized to enforce the laws relating to vessels, their masters, officers, and crews, to search any vessel which such officer has reason to believe is concerned in any violation of such laws, or who refuses to allow such officer to examine the manifest of any such vessel, or to search any trunk or package on board thereof, or who obstructs or hinders such officer in such search, or who refuses to allow such officer to take with him on board such vessel for the purpose of such search any person whom such officer may think necessary to assist him therein, or who refuses to allow such officer to remain on board such vessel while she is in port, or who refuses to allow such officer to take with him on board such vessel while she is in port any person whom such officer may think necessary to assist him in keeping such vessel under his control, or who refuses to allow such officer to remain on board such vessel while she is in port, or who refuses to allow such officer to take with him on board such vessel while she is in port any person whom such officer may think necessary to assist him in keeping such vessel under his control, or who refuses to allow such officer to remain on board such vessel while she is in port, or who refuses to allow such officer to take with him on board such vessel while she is in port any person whom such officer may think necessary to assist him in keeping such vessel under his control, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or departing from any port in the United States, who knowingly uses any force or violence and any threat of force or violence to prevent any officer authorized by law to search any vessel, or any person on board thereof, from going on board such vessel or any part thereof, or any other place on the vessel, or to prevent any such officer from searching any such vessel, or any part thereof, or any other place on the vessel, or any such person from leaving such vessel after being ordered by such officer not to leave, or who knowingly uses any force or violence and any threat of force or violence to assault, resist, oppose, prevent, impede, intimidate, or interfere with any such officer in the discharge of his duty with respect to such vessel or such person, or who knowingly aids or abets any person in doing any of the things prohibited by this subsection, or who attempts to do any of the things prohibited by this subsection and fails because he is prevented, stopped, or hindered in the attempt by the action of any person other than the master, owner, agent, charterer, officer, or crew of the vessel, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000, or by imprisonment for not more than ten years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(b) If the Attorney General finds that any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or departing from any port in the United States, is not properly documented under the laws of the United States, or that the master, owner, agent, charterer, officer, or crew of such vessel has committed an act prohibited by subsection (a) of this section, or that the master of such vessel has failed to comply with the requirements of section 4 of the Act of June 15, 1917 (50 U.S.C. 191), as amended, or any regulation issued thereunder, he may, in addition to any other penalty provided by law, refuse clearance of such vessel and may detain such vessel until and unless the master thereof shall have complied with such requirements and regulations and paid all penalties incurred, and may, if such vessel is about to depart without having complied with such requirements and regulations and paying such penalties, take such vessel into his custody and detain her until such requirements and regulations have been complied with and such penalties paid, and may place a custodian on board such vessel at the expense of the vessel or the master thereof, and may employ such force as may be necessary to accomplish the purposes of this subsection. Any vessel which shall depart or attempt to depart from the United States in violation of this subsection shall be liable to seizure by any officer of the United States authorized to enforce the laws relating to vessels, their masters, officers, and crews, and may be prosecuted in the district court of the United States for the district into which she may be taken. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing, authorize such vessel to depart from the United States without the payment of such penalties or the compliance with such requirements and regulations as he may specify.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman or to the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of such vessel, he may, in lieu of deportation of such seaman on such vessel, cause such seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States as required by the Attorney General under the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States in violation of an outstanding order of deportation issued against him under the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(f) Any alien seaman who shall fail or refuse to depart from the United States pursuant to the lawful order of the Attorney General shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (8 U.S.C. 155, 156).

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens and their immediate and last foreign residence (Form I-418) shall not be furnished or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. No erasure or alteration of any kind shall be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, names of aliens destined to certain States, cities, or localities should be grouped together on the manifest, and a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. The list of aliens and their immediate and last foreign residence must be written legibly with pen and ink or indelible pencil, and must be verified by the master before the vessel's departure from the last port outside the United States. Any illegible or incomplete entries may result in delay in the inspection of aliens and the granting of clearance.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That when arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and whether they have been convicted or admit the commission of a crime involving moral turpitude, and the intended future residence or destination as far as the alien may be known, of each alien who shall be found on board, and whether such alien has been in possession of a passport, and if so, by what country, when, and where issued, and the purpose for which issued, and by what authority, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and completely any question relative to such aliens propounded to him by the Commissioner General of Immigration or any immigrant inspector, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. Any such master, owner, consignee, or agent who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival any of the lists required by this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located a sum not exceeding $20 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. Any such master, owner, consignee, or agent who shall refuse or neglect to report, or who shall report incorrectly, any alien employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax imposed by this Act on any such alien, shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien in respect of whom such default occurs. Any such penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, whose decision shall be final, and shall be paid to the collector of customs, and in default of payment may be recovered in the name of the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, institute such proceedings in the United States district court as he may think proper, for the purpose of collecting any penalty imposed by this section. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be detained on board or at quarantine or such other place as may be designated by the Attorney General, pending examination by the United States Public Health Service officers, and no such alien shall be admitted to the United States or permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien (other than an alien crewman employed on board such vessel) who is afflicted with any such disease at the time of inspection by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival may be required, at the discretion of the Attorney General, to provide for the detention of such alien in a hospital (other than a hospital used in connection with a quarantine station) designated or approved by the Public Health Service until the alien is certified by the Public Health Service officer in charge of the hospital as no longer a menace to the public health, and such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master may be required to furnish a bond in such amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien detained in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the necessity for detaining any alien under this subdivision, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all pending claims subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien detained on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who is afflicted with any such disease at the time of inspection by the medical officer of the port of arrival may be required, at the discretion of the Attorney General, to provide for the detention of such alien in a hospital (other than a hospital used in connection with a quarantine station) designated or approved by the Public Health Service until the alien is certified by the Public Health Service officer in charge of the hospital as no longer a menace to the public health, and such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master may be required to furnish a bond in such amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien detained in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the necessity for detaining any alien under this subdivision, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all pending claims subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from outside thereof, or that he was detained by the master of the vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain the detention certificate provided for in subdivision (a) hereof, but such proof may be overcome by the certificate of the immigration officer at the Attorney General's port of departure that the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has been detained to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The "Declaration of Intention" to be executed on blank forms approved by the Department and to be taken for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of entry, and the "Certificate of Arrival" to be executed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel. The use of a carbon duplicate is suggested.

Section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874), as amended by section 3 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 153), reads as follows:

"That the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All aliens over sixteen years of age, physically capable of reading, who can not read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish: Provided, That any admissible alien or any alien lawfully in the United States may, if otherwise qualified, bring in or send for his father or grandfather over fifty-five years of age, his wife, his mother, or his grandmother, his minor children, his wife's minor children, or his married children under eighteen years of age, and such relatives may be admitted irrespective of whether they can read or not: Provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall exempt persons coming to the United States to avoid military service."

Section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 153), reads as follows:

"That the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All idiots, imbeciles, feeble-minded persons, epileptics, insane persons; persons who have had two or more attacks of insanity at any time previously; persons afflicted with constitutional psychopathic inferiority; persons with chronic alcoholism; paupers; professional beggars; vagrants; persons afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; persons who have been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, excepting political offenses; polygamists, or persons who practice polygamy or believe in or advocate the practice of polygamy; anarchists, or persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; prostitutes, or persons coming into the United States for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; persons who directly or indirectly procure or attempt to procure or import prostitutes or persons for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; persons who have been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, and who may again seek admission within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to their reembarkation at a foreign port or place or their arrival at a port within the United States they shall obtain the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission; persons who are coming in consequence of any promise, agreement, or solicitation to perform labor or service of any kind after arrival in the United States, except that aliens may be admitted who are professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, nurses, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession, or persons employed as domestic servants; persons whose ticket or passage is paid for with the money of another or who is assisted by others to come, unless it is shown that the person has sufficient means to support himself until he can obtain employment; persons who have come in violation of the contract labor laws; persons who are assisted by any society or association in the United States in coming to the United States, except that nothing in this Act shall prevent any charitable society or association incorporated by the United States or any State thereof, or any charitable individual in the United States, from importing any person who may be otherwise admissible, who shall, before his application for a visa, agree in writing to indemnify the proper authorities for such sum as may be expended for his support during his first year in the United States; persons who are under sixteen years of age, unless accompanied by one parent or by a guardian, relative, or friend who produces satisfactory evidence of his willingness and ability to care for such alien, or who satisfies the proper authorities that adequate provision has been made for his care and support; persons who are not comprehended within any of the foregoing excluded classes who are found to be and are certified by the examining surgeon as being mentally or physically defective, such physical defect being of a nature which may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living, unless such person is the spouse, child under sixteen years of age, or parent of a person who is a citizen of the United States or who has a wife or child or parent lawfully residing therein and dependent upon him for support, and who proves to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the admission of such person will not be contrary to the interests of the United States."

Section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 153), reads as follows:

"That the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All idiots, imbeciles, feeble-minded persons, epileptics, insane persons; persons who have had two or more attacks of insanity at any time previously; persons afflicted with constitutional psychopathic inferiority; persons with chronic alcoholism; paupers; professional beggars; vagrants; persons afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; persons who have been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, excepting political offenses; polygamists, or persons who practice polygamy or believe in or advocate the practice of polygamy; anarchists, or persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; prostitutes, or persons coming into the United States for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; persons who directly or indirectly procure or attempt to procure or import prostitutes or persons for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; persons who have been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, and who may again seek admission within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to their reembarkation at a foreign port or place or their arrival at a port within the United States they shall obtain the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission; persons who are coming in consequence of any promise, agreement, or solicitation to perform labor or service of any kind after arrival in the United States, except that aliens may be admitted who are professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, nurses, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession, or persons employed as domestic servants; persons whose ticket or passage is paid for with the money of another or who is assisted by others to come, unless it is shown that the person has sufficient means to support himself until he can obtain employment; persons who have come in violation of the contract labor laws; persons who are assisted by any society or association in the United States in coming to the United States, except that nothing in this Act shall prevent any charitable society or association incorporated by the United States or any State thereof, or any charitable individual in the United States, from importing any person who may be otherwise admissible, who shall, before his application for a visa, agree in writing to indemnify the proper authorities for such sum as may be expended for his support during his first year in the United States; persons who are under sixteen years of age, unless accompanied by one parent or by a guardian, relative, or friend who produces satisfactory evidence of his willingness and ability to care for such alien, or who satisfies the proper authorities that adequate provision has been made for his care and support; persons who are not comprehended within any of the foregoing excluded classes who are found to be and are certified by the examining surgeon as being mentally or physically defective, such physical defect being of a nature which may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living, unless such person is the spouse, child under sixteen years of age, or parent of a person who is a citizen of the United States or who has a wife or child or parent lawfully residing therein and dependent upon him for support, and who proves to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the admission of such person will not be contrary to the interests of the United States."

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, showing the destination of each alien who intends to enter the United States, and such other information regarding each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration and approved by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be delivered before the vessel is admitted to entry, and the immigrant inspector shall note any additions, corrections, or omissions found thereon. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to deliver to such immigrant inspector the lists required by this section, or who refuses to furnish the information required by this section, or who refuses to permit any immigrant inspector to come aboard such vessel for the purpose of performing his duties under this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and solely for medical treatment, or temporarily and solely for the purpose of obtaining the necessary documents for his departure, and for such time as may be necessary for the procurement of such documents, and for such time as may be necessary for his departure on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board some other vessel, and no such alien seaman shall be granted a visa as an alien crewman by any consular officer unless such consular officer is satisfied that such alien seaman will be afforded a reasonable opportunity to depart on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board some other vessel, and that such alien seaman is not likely to become a public charge. Any alien seaman who remains in the United States for a longer period than that for which he was admitted under this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of any question arising under this section, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such sum as may be required by the collector of customs or under such bond as may be approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing, remit fines incurred under this section in cases where it is established to his satisfaction that the vessel could not have been detained by the exercise of due diligence. The Attorney General may in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor pay from appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws the expenses of the return of any alien seaman who has been found to be unlawfully in the United States to the country to which he belongs or to the country from which he came to the United States, and the cost of his maintenance while he is detained pending such return, not exceeding $3 per day for not exceeding ten days, and the transportation and maintenance of any witnesses whose presence may be required in connection therewith.

(a) Every alien seaman who has been granted shore leave under section 13 of the Act of May 26, 1924, and who fails to return to the vessel or other vessel or vessels of the same owner within the period for which granted, or who fails to report from time to time as required by the master, agent, or consignee of the vessel, or who fails to return to the vessel or other vessel or vessels of the same owner upon the request of the master, agent, or consignee, shall be deported as provided in the case of aliens unlawfully in the United States, and shall be ineligible for a visa as an alien crewman and for admission to the United States unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to return was due to circumstances beyond his control and without fault on his part or collusion with any person.

(b) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman, including expenses incident to his return, as required by section 16 of the Act of May 26, 1924, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such refusal.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164, 165, as amended by 44 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel on her first arrival at the first port of the United States. The list of persons on board the vessel at the time of sailing from the last port of departure shall be prepared by the master or commanding officer, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Each alien shall be separately listed, and all members of the crew must be included, even though they may not intend to land. Where no alien is carried, a list to that effect must be prepared and delivered. Any master or commanding officer who refuses or neglects to prepare and deliver such list, or who refuses to answer truthfully questions propounded to him concerning the persons on board his vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such offense.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, commander, or other officer in charge of the vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens on board, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each alien who has been given a certificate under section 4 of this Act, the compartment and space occupied by each alien during the voyage, and the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each alien. Such lists shall be verified by the oath of the master, commander, or other officer in charge of the vessel, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, commander, or other officer in charge of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of first arrival the lists required by this section, or who refuses to answer truthfully questions propounded to him concerning the persons on board his vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such offense; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the delivery of such lists or the answering of such questions, or while any such penalty remains unpaid, nor shall such penalty be remitted or such clearance papers be granted except by the Secretary of Labor. Any person who willfully refuses to deliver any list required by this section, or who willfully delivers a false list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness which could not have been foreseen before sailing) shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and for the purpose and under the conditions prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman on board any such vessel who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease which could be detected by a medical examination of such alien seaman prior to the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place, or which could be detected by such medical examination at the time of embarkation at such port or place, or which could be detected by such medical examination at the time of arrival at the port of the United States, or who fails to detain each seaman on board such vessel pending a physical examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, and the certificate required by section 42 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who is afflicted with any such disease at the time of arrival at the port of the United States shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the medical officer in charge of the Public Health Service may direct. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. The penalty provided for in this section shall not attach in case of the escape of such alien seaman after he has been landed, unless such escape is connived at or permitted by the master, agent, owner, charterer, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe rules and regulations governing the detention on board or at quarantine of alien seamen pursuant to this section, and the payment of the cost of their maintenance while so detained. (43 Stat. 164, 165; 8 U. S. C., Ch. 7, Sec. 180 (a), 180 (c).)

(b) Except that an alien seaman who has not been admitted to the United States may be permitted to depart therefrom in pursuance of law from any port or place in the United States, notwithstanding the provisions of section 19 of this Act, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and may be treated in respect of such departure as an alien crewman departing in pursuance of section 20 of this Act. (43 Stat. 165; 8 U. S. C., Ch. 7, Sec. 180 (b).)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is unnecessary for the enforcement of this Act, he may cause such alien seaman to be removed to any port in the United States to which such vessel is destined and there delivered to the immigration officers for inspection, or he may cause such alien seaman to be removed to any foreign port or place to which such vessel is destined and there delivered to the consular officer of the United States in charge of the port or place, and the cost of such removal shall be borne by the owner of such vessel. Seamen thus removed shall be entered as passengers upon the manifest of the vessel on which they are returned. (43 Stat. 165; 8 U. S. C., Ch. 7, Sec. 180 (d).)

(d) Except that an alien seaman who did not depart from the United States upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall not be permitted to depart from the United States upon any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or to depart after termination of his service as a seaman, unless he (1) establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has acquired a status not specifically relating to service as a seaman, or (2) establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or (3) establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is a bona fide resident of the United States and is employed as a seaman solely on vessels engaged in trade between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone, or between the United States and its territories or possessions other than the Philippine Islands, Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands, or (4) establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is employed as a seaman solely on a vessel of the United States regularly engaged in trade between ports of the United States and ports in the Philippine Islands, Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands, or (5) establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is employed as a seaman solely on a vessel of the United States regularly engaged in trade between ports of the United States and ports in the Philippine Islands, Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands, and that he intends to land in the Philippine Islands, Guam, Samoa, or the Virgin Islands and to depart therefrom as a seaman on the first vessel sailing therefrom for a port of the United States. (43 Stat. 165; 8 U. S. C., Ch. 7, Sec. 180 (e).)

(e) Any alien seaman who shall land in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. (43 Stat. 165; 8 U. S. C., Ch. 7, Sec. 180 (f).)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel arriving in the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel departing therefrom for any place outside thereof, or intransit through the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless specially admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, pursuant to such regulations as he may prescribe, upon the certification by the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Commerce, or such officers as they may designate for the purpose, that the United States consul at the last foreign port from which such seaman departed has been given reasonable notice of the application of such seaman for admission and full opportunity to be heard concerning the same. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except a vessel transporting only cabin passengers who are admissible without visé, and except a vessel entering the United States solely because of stress of weather, or other necessity not caused by the fault of the owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or master thereof, is required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a manifest of all persons destined to the United States who are on board such vessel, whether they are citizens of the United States or aliens, and whether they are passengers or members of the crew, and concerning each such person the following additional data: Full name in family and given names, age, sex, marital status, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, whether in possession of a valid passport, and whether destined to the United States or in transit thereto, the intended length of stay and address while in the United States, whether ever before admitted to the United States and if so when and where, whether ever deported or ever refused admission to the United States or ever applied for a visé and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity and if so where, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepaid or other assistance, and whether coming in pursuance of a prearranged employment, and if so the details thereof, whether in possession of $50 in cash or other money and if less than $50 the amount actually possessed, whether ever engaged in anarchistic practices or any kind of criminal activity and if so when and where, whether ever practiced polygamy, whether coming to perform labor and if so what kind, whether able to read and write, whether a person of constitutional psychopathic inferiority, whether afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or a dangerous contagious disease, whether physically capable and mentally competent to earn a living, whether under sentence of death for any crime, whether under indictment or has been convicted of any crime involving moral turpitude, whether an unaccompanied child under sixteen years of age, whether a stowaway, whether ever a member of the anarchistic or any other class excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, whether ever a member of the Communist Party of the United States or of any other organization entertaining views opposed to organized government, whether ever a member of any organization which believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, and whether ever a member of any organization which believes in or advocates the assassination of public officials, and such other information as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee who shall refuse or fail to deliver such manifest shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such information is not furnished, and no clearance shall be granted to such vessel by the collector of customs until such penalty is paid or such manifest delivered. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 31. (a) The Commissioner General of Immigration shall cause to be detained on board or at the immigrant station at the port of arrival each alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States until the immigrant inspector has determined whether such alien seaman is admissible to the United States, but such detention shall not exceed three days, unless the vessel on which such alien seaman arrives is quarantined, in which case such detention shall not exceed the period of quarantine. Such alien seaman shall be subject to such physical and mental examination as may be required by the Public Health Service. Such alien seaman shall be entered at the port of arrival and the name of the vessel on which he arrives shall be recorded. Such alien seaman shall be given a certificate by the immigrant inspector showing the name of the vessel on which he arrives, the date of his arrival, and the length of time he is permitted to remain in the United States. Such certificate shall be surrendered by such alien seaman to the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel on which he departs from the United States, and the failure of such alien seaman to surrender such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of section 18 of this Act.

(b) Upon the arrival at a port of the United States of any vessel on which is employed an alien seaman who is required by section 18 of this Act to be issued a certificate by the Commissioner General of Immigration, the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of such vessel shall deposit with the Commissioner General of Immigration, or such officer as he may designate for the purpose, a bond in the penal sum of $300 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on such vessel or on some other vessel within the period of time for which he is admitted under the immigration laws, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by illness or shipwreck or other cause beyond his control, or that he has been granted permission to remain in the United States, or that he has been taken from such vessel by the immigration officers for the purpose of testifying in any case or proceeding before any court, or for the purpose of submitting evidence to the Department of Labor, or that he has been granted asylum in the United States as a political refugee. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, require a bond in a greater or lesser amount than $300 in the case of any alien seaman or class of alien seamen, and may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of a bond the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of returning any alien seaman to the country to which he belongs, or to the country in which he embarked for the United States, or to any country willing to receive him, such sum not to exceed $300. Any bond given under the provisions of this section may be sued in the name of the United States in any district in which the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived shall have arrived or shall thereafter arrive, for the recovery of the penalty in case of the failure of the alien seaman to depart as required, or to perform any other condition of the bond. Any bond given under the provisions of this section shall be void and of no effect after the lapse of six months from the date of the arrival of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived, unless suit shall have been brought thereon within that time. (43 Stat. 164, 165; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel has refused or failed to deliver to the proper immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and at the time of the departure of the vessel from the United States, a complete list or manifest of all persons on board the vessel, whether they are passengers or members of the crew, or has refused or failed to deliver such lists or manifests at the time of the departure of the vessel from a foreign port for the United States, or has refused or failed to deliver a true list or manifest in all particulars, or has refused or failed to make oath to such lists or manifests when required so to do by the Commissioner General of Immigration or any immigrant inspector, or has refused or failed to deliver to the immigrant inspector any person included in the lists or manifests, or has refused or failed to detain any such person on board the vessel or at the station of the immigrant inspector when ordered so to do by the Commissioner General of Immigration or any immigrant inspector, or has refused or failed to report the illness or death of any person on board, or has refused or failed to deliver to the proper immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the certificate required by section 30 of this Act to be delivered to the master of the vessel upon the departure of each alien seaman, or has refused or failed to perform any other duty required by this Act, or has violated any of the provisions of this Act, such master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every such violation, and such penalty shall constitute a lien upon the vessel which may be recovered by proceedings against the vessel in the district court of the United States for the district within which the vessel may be found. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists or manifests required by section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to file the additional affidavit required by said section 31 or to take depositions as therein provided has been given, the consular certificate, if any, required by section 10 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 169) has been issued, and the consular affidavits required in §§ 150.13–150.17, have been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of churches of alien immigrants, as required by section 8 of the act of February 20, 1907, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of attorney American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 32. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether such persons are passengers or members of the crew, and to answer such questions in relation to such persons as may be required by such immigration officer as to the right of any such persons to enter the United States under the provisions of this Act or the Act to which this is an amendment. Such list or manifest shall be prepared and delivered in such form and manner and contain such other particulars about each person therein as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall furnish to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list of all the crew employed on board, and shall not permit any member of the crew to land in the United States from such vessel until the list has been delivered to the immigration officer and the inspection of the crew completed, except in such cases as shall be specially provided by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to permit the inspection of the crew as herein provided for, or who refuses to answer truthfully the questions contained in such list or manifest in relation to any alien on board such vessel, or who lands or permits to land any alien on board such vessel, except in accordance with the provisions of this Act or the Act to which this is an amendment, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list or manifest required by this section has been delivered and the inspection of the crew completed, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall furnish a copy of such list or manifest, certified by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, to the customs officer granting clearance to such vessel.

SEC. 33. That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who becomes ill during the voyage to the United States and who is certified by the medical officer at the port of arrival to be suffering from a contagious disease which would be cause for debarring such alien from admission into the United States shall provide for the detention of such alien on board such vessel or at such place designated by the immigration officer at the port of arrival for such length of time as may be necessary for the physician to determine whether or not such alien is afflicted with such disease, and shall, if required by such immigration officer, provide suitable and adequate facilities for the detention of such alien on board such vessel or at such designated place. If such alien is certified by the medical officer at the port of arrival to be afflicted with such disease, he shall be detained on board or at such place until he is rejected by a Board of Special Inquiry and deported to the country whence he came, or is admitted by the Secretary of Labor or some officer to whom he may delegate authority in the premises, or is certified by the medical officer that he may be admitted without danger to the public health. The cost of such detention and of the maintenance of such alien during the period of detention shall be paid by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States, and a lien is hereby imposed upon the vessel to secure the payment of such cost. Upon the refusal or failure of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to pay the cost of such detention, the Secretary of Labor may cause a sufficient sum to be collected by the sale of such vessel or any part thereof after due notice by publication for a period of ten days in such manner as he may prescribe. Nothing in this section shall be construed as imposing any duty upon any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel to provide for the detention of any alien afflicted with a contagious disease other than to prevent the landing of such alien, except in the case of aliens coming in the steerage or third class or an alien who has been a member of the crew of such vessel and who has signed articles to proceed with the vessel upon which he arrived in the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of actual necessity, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate landing and reshipment of such seamen in connection with their departure on board the vessel or some other vessel. Such seamen shall be placed under bond in such amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, but not less than $300, to guarantee the performance by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on board which they arrived of the requirements of this section. Such seamen shall be subject to deportation in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act. Any seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such seaman so landed, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except vessels touching only at ports in Canada, Mexico, the West Indies, Bermuda, the Canal Zone, or Newfoundland) shall be responsible for the deportation of any alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman employed on board while such seaman is detained in the United States for medical examination, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance in a hospital, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while he is under treatment for a contagious disease, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while he is detained pursuant to the provisions of section 18 of this Act, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while he is detained pursuant to the provisions of section 19 of this Act, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while he is detained pursuant to the provisions of section 20 of this Act, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while he is detained pursuant to the provisions of section

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or any alien seaman who has been employed on board any vessel which has been allowed to land temporarily in the United States under bond, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, injury, or distress, certified by the proper immigration officer, or his assistant, at the port of arrival, or unless such seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is entitled to be admitted to the United States as a returning resident, or as an immigrant admissible under the immigration laws and is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act (8 U. S. C. 155, 156). Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in the United States under bond, and who shall fail to depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel within the time fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act (8 U. S. C. 155, 156).

LIST OR MANIFEST OF ALIENS EMPLOYED ON THE VESSEL AS MEMBERS OF CREW

Required under Act of Congress of February 5, 1917, to be delivered to the United States immigration officer by the representative in charge of any vessel having such aliens on board upon arrival at a port of the United States

(Include names of American citizen seamen as well as aliens in order to facilitate inspection of aliens)

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place, or has been employed on board any vessel departing from the United States for any foreign port or place, unless the master of such vessel shall establish that he had no reason to believe that such alien seaman was unlawfully in the United States. Upon the master establishing that he had no reason to believe that such alien seaman was unlawfully in the United States, such seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States, except that clearance may be withheld pursuant to the provisions of section 20 of this Act. Any master who shall employ any alien seaman who has not been lawfully admitted to the United States, or who has been employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place, or who has been employed on board any vessel departing from the United States for any foreign port or place, without having reported the presence of such alien seaman on board such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival or departure, as the case may be, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Two vessels shall be regarded otherwise under the ownership of the same person or persons whenever more than one-half of the interest in each shall be owned by such person or persons. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master of which shall fail to pay any penalty imposed by this section, and such penalty shall constitute a lien upon the vessel which may be enforced by libel in rem. The Attorney General is authorized to remit or mitigate any penalty imposed by this section upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just. Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or affect any other provisions of the immigration laws, but such provisions shall be enforced in addition to the penalties imposed by this section.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except vessels which touch only at ports in the United States contiguous to foreign territory) or departing from the United States for any place outside the United States (except vessels which touch only at ports in the United States contiguous to foreign territory), or any person who may be interested in the business of such vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival or departure, as the case may be, a tax of $8 for each individual (except a member of the crew) on board such vessel, unless such individual is in transit through the United States to a foreign country, or is a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or is a bona fide resident of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, or Argentina (but continuous residence in the United States for one year immediately prior to such individual's departure from the United States shall be prima facie evidence of bona fide residence in the United States), or is in possession of a permit from the Secretary of Labor, which permit may be granted under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, authorizing such individual to depart from the United States within the period specified in such permit notwithstanding the provisions of section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (8 U. S. C. 202). Such permit may be granted only upon the application of the individual desiring to depart, and only if the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such individual is not an alien who has been ordered deported pursuant to section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (8 U. S. C. 155). Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer thereof has paid or secured payment of the taxes imposed by this section, but clearance may be granted prior to the departure of any vessel without the payment of taxes imposed by this section if the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer thereof has entered into a bond to the United States, with sufficient surety, in a penal sum not less than $2,000 nor more than $5,000, conditioned upon the payment of such taxes. Such bond shall be in such form and shall be executed by such surety as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. The Attorney General is authorized to remit or mitigate any penalty imposed by this section upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound vessel on which he arrived in the United States may be given by the certificate of the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver him on board such vessel when required, and shall require the imposition of the penalty provided in subsection (a) of this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any penalty imposed under this section upon such terms as he may deem just, and may refund any money paid to the United States in connection therewith.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is necessary to secure the presence of such seaman as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver him on board such vessel when required, and shall require the imposition of the penalty provided in subsection (a) of this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any penalty imposed under this section upon such terms as he may deem just, and may refund any money paid to the United States in connection therewith.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival of the vessel at the port of entry, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members prior to sailing (Form 603) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the immigration station at the last port of departure.

Any person who willfully assists a member of the crew in violating any of the provisions of the immigration laws of the United States shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 or to imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving at the United States from any foreign port or place is hereby excluded from admission into the United States, except as hereinafter provided, and may not enter the United States, except as provided in this Act.

The following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All idiots, insane persons, epileptics, and persons who have been insane within five years previous; persons who have had two or more attacks of insanity at any time previously; paupers; persons likely to become a public charge; professional beggars; vagrants; persons with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; persons who have been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who admit the commission of such crime or misdemeanor, or who admit the violation of any law or regulation governing the admission of aliens to the United States, except that the offense of purely political character shall not be grounds for exclusion; persons who have been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, and who may again seek admission within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to their reembarkation at a foreign port or place or their application for admission to the United States they shall obtain from the Secretary of Labor special permission to reapply for admission; persons who have been deported under the provisions of section 19 of this Act, and who may again seek admission within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to their reembarkation at a foreign port or place or their application for admission to the United States they shall obtain from the Secretary of Labor special permission to reapply for admission; persons who have been deported under the provisions of section 20

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof, or person in charge thereof, to report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the name of each alien on board such vessel, whether entering the United States or not, and such information respecting the right of any such alien to enter the United States as may be required by the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to make such report or to furnish such information, or who shall make any false report or give any false information in connection therewith, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien concerning whom such report is required or such information is furnished, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Before the departure of any such vessel from a port in the United States for a port in a foreign country, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a complete list of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list shall show the name, age, sex, calling, and nationality of each such alien, the country to which he belongs, the port at which he was admitted to the United States, the date of such admission, and the intended length of his stay in the United States or whether he intends to become a citizen thereof, and such additional information relative to such aliens as the Attorney General may from time to time prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to deposit such list as herein provided, or who shall fail to include therein the name of any such alien, or who shall fail or refuse to furnish such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Attorney General, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien concerning whom such report is required or such information is furnished, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Before the departure of any such vessel from a port in the United States for a port in a foreign country, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a complete list of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list shall show the name, age, sex, calling, and nationality of each such alien, the country to which he belongs, the port at which he was admitted to the United States, the date of such admission, and the intended length of his stay in the United States or whether he intends to become a citizen thereof, and such additional information relative to such aliens as the Attorney General may from time to time prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to make such report or to furnish such information, or who shall make any false report or give any false information in connection therewith, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien concerning whom such report is required or such information is furnished, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Before the departure of any such vessel from a port in the United States for a port in a foreign country, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a complete list of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list shall show the name, age, sex, calling, and nationality of each such alien, the country to which he belongs, the port at which he was admitted to the United States, the date of such admission, and the intended length of his stay in the United States or whether he intends to become a citizen thereof, and such additional information relative to such aliens as the Attorney General may from time to time prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to make such report or to furnish such information, or who shall make any false report or give any false information in connection therewith, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien concerning whom such report is required or such information is furnished, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (other than an immediately contiguous foreign territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such exceptions as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 206)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall be responsible for the proper conduct while ashore of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel during the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for the period of such vessel's stay in port, and for the payment of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seaman (while hospitalized and not more than hospitalized) and the cost of transportation of such alien seaman on board such vessel or otherwise to the country to which he belongs, or to the country in which the port of arrival is located, the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine, or any part thereof, upon the remission of a fine imposed in respect of such alien seaman by the master of such vessel under section 2500 for each seaman so employed, shall apply to all incoming alien seamen employed on June 5, 1940.

(b) Upon failure of any alien seaman duly accepted on board any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after such seaman by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or place contiguous thereto, when such seaman was found on board such vessel, whether such failure occurs when such seaman is on the high seas or in the United States, or in any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, unless satisfactory evidence is produced to such immigration officer that such seaman has been paid or is entitled to be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or by the foreign government under the laws of which such vessel is registered, the cost of transportation from the port of arrival to the country to which such seaman belongs, or that such seaman has been granted permission to land in the United States, or has been taken on board another vessel at the expense of the owner of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is about to depart from the United States for a port in the country to which such seaman belongs, or that such seaman has been or is to be employed

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted by the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew, or members thereof to be taken on board while in port, and of alien members left behind, to be delivered to the master of the vessel by the proper officer at the port of arrival (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is given, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens members, include names of alternate American citizen address as well as alien.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all members of the crew employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively born as far as the aforesaid (except the Republic of Panama) and which are citizens of the United States, and the names of all aliens among them, and such other information relative to each alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and every master, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer in writing as soon as discovered all cases in which any such alien has absconded from the vessel; giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and every master, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer before the departure of any such vessel if such be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed at the time of the arrival of the vessel but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired but discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, he shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom either failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all branches of alien employment independent of June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such seaman the written permit by the immigration officer at the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of a mental disorder which may require treatment therefor, he may cause him to be detained on shipboard or at an approved hospital at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or for the sole purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or because of the shipwreck of the vessel upon which he arrived, or for such other cause as the Attorney General may prescribe, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all branches of alien employment independent of June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such seaman the written permit by the immigration officer at the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of a mental disorder which may require treatment therefor, he may cause him to be detained on shipboard or at an approved hospital at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector in charge at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien inspectors (Form I-426) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate assembly is a "motorway", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission, multiple names of attorney American citizen seamen are well regulated.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival list or manifest the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, whether the destination thereof be in the ports of the United States or not, and whether they were transported as such in the vessel or not, and whether they have been discharged or not, and shall also state the number of such aliens who have been discharged in the ports of the United States, and the cause or reason for such discharge, and the number, if any, who have died, and the cause and circumstances of such death, and the number, if any, who have deserted, and such other information as may be required by the Attorney General, relative to the right of such aliens to enter the United States under the provisions of this Act, or the rules and regulations made hereunder, which list or manifest shall be prepared in such manner and upon such forms as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall be sworn to before an immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at a port of the United States, or if sworn to before a United States consular officer abroad, a certified copy thereof shall be produced and delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of arrival: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States from foreign contiguous territory may be authorized by the Attorney General, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, instead of the list required by this section, a true copy of the list or manifest of aliens destined to the United States which has been certified by the proper consular officer at the port of departure. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector any additional information required by the Attorney General under the provisions of this section, or any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses or fails to comply with any of the provisions of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom any such correct list is not made as above required, or in which any such list or manifest is found incorrect or incomplete in any particular, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the same variation from the truth occurred notwithstanding the exercise of due diligence on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to prevent the same, and in the event such fine is imposed, which it remains unpaid, not less than $10 nor more than $50, may be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance shall not be refused any vessel by reason of the failure of any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to deliver either of the lists required by this section if the master of such vessel shall certify under oath that no alien employed thereon at the time of the arrival has been employed on such vessel at any time during the period of its engagement which has not been included in the list or manifest delivered by him, and that he has no knowledge or reason to believe that any alien employed on such vessel has been omitted from such list or manifest. (39 Stat. 879; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 150.15. Duty of alien employee: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be refused any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 137), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 160) pursuant thereto, the deport specified in §§ 150.13, 150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness as the alcoholic, general may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 160.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory is hereby authorized and required to refuse to permit any alien seaman employed on such vessel (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), until such alien has been inspected and examined (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner). The Attorney General is to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, multiple such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the direction shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding alien seamen subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) That any alien seaman who does not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any foreign vessel to depart from any port or place in the United States for any port or place in any foreign country, or for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to cause or permit any alien passenger to depart from the United States on board such vessel without first having obtained a permit from the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of departure, which permit shall be granted only upon the production by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel of a list or manifest of all such passengers, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration, containing such information concerning each such passenger and the intended destination as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration, and upon the delivery by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States of a certificate from the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival stating that each such passenger has been duly inspected and admitted into the United States, and that the inspection fee required by section 2 of this act has been paid for each such passenger, or that such passenger is not required to pay such fee. Such certificate shall be delivered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined for each such violation not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. Clearance granted any vessel prior to the granting of permits as herein required shall not relieve the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof from the penalties herein provided.

SEC. 15. That no alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or destined to any port or place in the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or by permission of the Secretary of Labor, and under such regulations as he may prescribe, to accompany and care for sick seamen who are detained for medical treatment: Provided, That the cost of burial of any such seaman who may die in the United States and the cost of his maintenance while in a hospital, and the cost of his return to the country to which he belongs, if he is a citizen thereof, or to the country from which he came to the United States, if he is not a citizen of the United States, shall be paid out of the moneys collected from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such seaman arrived in the United States, or out of any moneys due such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, or out of a bond filed for the purpose, or out of moneys due the vessel on which such seaman arrived in the United States, or out of moneys due the vessel on which such seaman arrived in the United States, or out of moneys due the vessel on which such seaman arrived in the United States

The list described below shall be prepared and ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens on board incomplete at ocean (Form 523) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be landed and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver or deposit such lists of such aliens arriving and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance nor a true report be made as above required, but no such vessel shall be permitted and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION 3, RULE 10

SEC. 3. Manifesting, withdrawing, and landing.—(a) Aliens and persons seeking shall be manifested on the blank forms provided for that purpose by the department in accordance with the terms of section 36. When an alien arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made upon the manifest.

(b) Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 hereof have (initialed, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 hereof, the deposit specified in Rule 25 (subd. 5) has been made.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Louis M Sonick, of the Wisconsin, do depose that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 36 of the United States Immigration Law and of subdivisions 3 (a) and (b) of Immigration Rule 10 which appear below.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens mentioned in section 12 of the act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 878), as a "memorandum," a location to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission, include names of all citizens of the United States entitled to admission as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival a list containing as many of the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position that they respectively hold in the crew and the wages they were respectively entitled to on shipping, and showing what part of the wages has been paid in advance, what amount remains unpaid, and the amount to be deducted, if any, and the reasons therefor, and also the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who are not to be carried to the port of destination, and the intended final destination of each of such aliens, so far as known, and the last permanent residence of each alien, so far as known, and shall furnish such other information likely to lead to the apprehension of any alien who may unlawfully have obtained admission to the United States or who may be found unlawfully in the United States, and shall also furnish a description of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer in charge of the port as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor a list containing the names of all aliens employed upon such vessel who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who subsequently shipped from the vessel, giving a description of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in addition, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has secreted himself or attempted to secrete himself on board such vessel, stating the particulars thereof and also the names of those, if any, who have been put on board or allowed to leave such vessel at the time of her departure from any port in the United States; and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall furnish to the Secretary of Labor, upon demand, a full and complete report of the movements while in the United States of any alien employed on board such vessel, and shall furnish such other information concerning the movements of such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor; and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each and every such alien in respect of whom such failure occurs: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any fine or penalty or portion thereof imposed under the provisions of this section: Provided further, That clearance may be granted to any such vessel notwithstanding the failure to deliver the list herein required for a period of ten days after the master shall have made oath before the proper officer that he has made every effort in his power to obtain such list and has been unable to do so, and has set forth in such affidavit the reasons for his inability to obtain such list, and has furnished such information concerning the persons who should appear thereon as he may be possessed of: Provided further, That upon the refusal or neglect of the master to furnish such list or such information concerning the persons who should appear thereon, or upon the furnishing of incomplete or inaccurate information concerning such persons, the master shall be liable to the penalty hereinbefore prescribed for each and every person who should appear upon such list, but concerning whom complete and accurate information has not been furnished: And provided further, That no fine or penalty shall be remitted or refunded except on certificate of the Secretary of Labor that in his opinion the case is entitled to such remission, specifically stating the reasons therefor.

SEC. 15. That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States shall be required to take such alien back to the port from which he came, or to the country whence he came, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien while on board such vessel and the cost of his return shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel: Provided, That if any such alien shall have been admitted to the United States or shall have been permitted to land temporarily pending inquiry into his right to enter the United States, the cost of his maintenance while so admitted or detained shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in which such alien came: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any vessel upon which, during the voyage, an epidemic of any contagious disease shall have occurred.

SEC. 15. [Time of taking aliens off vessels for hospital treatment.] That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to provide for the proper medical examination of aliens detained on account of the existence of a contagious disease or a suspicion thereof, and for the removal of such aliens to a hospital for treatment and detention until cured, or to their return to the country whence they came, at the option of the alien, and for the support of such aliens while so detained, and for the burial of such as may die while so detained, and for the disposition of their baggage and personal effects; and the Secretary of Labor shall have the power to enter into contracts with any State or municipality or with any transportation company for the support and treatment of such aliens and for their return to the country whence they came, and for the disposition of their baggage and personal effects; and the Secretary of Labor shall have the power to establish such rules and regulations and to make such contracts, through such officers and agents, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

SEC. 20. (a) That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall bring to the United States any alien not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such emergency as the Attorney General may prescribe, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That it shall be a sufficient defense to any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer that he could not have ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence that the alien was unlawfully entitled to enter the United States.

(b) That the Attorney General shall prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of this section, and may employ such persons and incur such expenses as he may deem necessary to carry out its provisions, and such expenses shall be paid out of appropriations for the expenses of the courts of the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any transportation company has violated this section, he may refuse clearance to any vessel of such company until he is satisfied that such company will not violate this section during the remainder of the fiscal year in which such violation occurred.

SEC. 21. That the Attorney General shall have control of all aliens detained at the United States penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia, and at the United States prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, and shall designate the penitentiary in which any alien convicted of violating any of the provisions of this act shall be confined, and shall have the power to transfer any alien confined in either of said institutions to the other of said institutions, or to any other penitentiary, prison, or jail in the United States, and shall have the power to parole any alien confined in any penitentiary, prison, or jail in the United States into the custody of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization for deportation in accordance with the provisions of this act, and shall have the power to release any alien on bond during the pendency of proceedings to deport him from the United States, in such amount and upon such conditions as he may prescribe, and shall have the power to cancel bonds and parole agreements.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such emergency as the Attorney General may prescribe, under such regulations as he may prescribe at the port of arrival and under such bond as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and no alien seaman (whether employed on board or not) shall be admitted into the United States from any place outside thereof unless in the opinion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer at the port or place where such alien seaman boarded such vessel, or, if such alien seaman boarded such vessel at a port or place where there is no consular officer, by the consular officer at the port or place most convenient of access by land or water to such port or place, and unless such consular officer has certified in writing on the face of such passport the name of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived and the date of such arrival: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the requirements of this section with respect to any alien seaman who is a native of the country to which he belongs, or who is entitled to enter the country to which he belongs, or who is a bona fide resident of the country in which the vessel arrives, or who is in possession of a seaman's certificate issued under section 4 of the Seamen's Act of March 4, 1915, as amended by section 11 of the Act of June 5, 1920, or who is in possession of a certificate of identity issued by the Secretary of Labor or by a person or persons designated by him for the purpose: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the requirements of this section with respect to any alien seaman who is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer at the port or place where such alien seaman boarded such vessel, or, if such alien seaman boarded such vessel at a port or place where there is no consular officer, by the consular officer at the port or place most convenient of access by land or water to such port or place, and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is unable to obtain a certificate of identity from the country to which he belongs, or from the country in which the vessel arrives, and that he is not a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived.

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof shall be responsible for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the ultimate deportation of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), forever duly paid to depart on board any vessel sailing from such port, or to depart on board some other vessel, or to obtain a passport viséed by a consular officer of the country to which he belongs, or to obtain such other document as may be necessary to enable him to depart, or to obtain from the Secretary of Labor a written permit to land temporarily in the United States, or to obtain from the Attorney General a written permit to remain in the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall depart from the United States on board any vessel, without having been inspected by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who shall fail to depart from the United States within the period of time for which he was granted permission to land temporarily, or who shall fail to obtain a passport viséed by a consular officer of the country to which he belongs, or such other document as may be necessary to enable him to depart, or a written permit to remain in the United States, or who shall fail to comply with any of the conditions of such permit, shall be deemed a criminal, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The action of the Attorney General in the premises shall be final.

(b) That any alien seaman who does not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be found to have remained unlawfully in the United States, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after readmittance by the immigration officer in the United States, and such alien seaman shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any transportation company has violated this section, he may refuse clearance to any vessel of such company until he is satisfied that such company will not violate this section during the remainder of the fiscal year in which such violation occurred.

SEC. 31. That the Attorney General shall have control of all aliens detained at the United States penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia, and at the United States prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, and shall designate the penitentiary in which any alien convicted of violating any of the provisions of this act shall be confined, and shall have the power to transfer any alien confined in either of said institutions to the other of said institutions, or to any other penitentiary, prison, or jail in the United States, and shall have the power to parole any alien confined in any penitentiary, prison, or jail in the United States into the custody of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization for deportation in accordance with the provisions of this act, and shall have the power to release any alien on bond during the pendency of proceedings to deport him from the United States, in such amount and upon such conditions as he may prescribe, and shall have the power to cancel bonds and parole agreements.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the destination of each alien, the intended length of his stay in the United States, and the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, and whether he has a ticket through to his destination, and whether his passage has been paid by any person or by any society or organization, and by whom, whether in possession of money and how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming under contract or agreement to perform labor, and what kind, whether in possession of a ticket over the railroads or other transportation lines to his ultimate destination, whether he has been deported, and if so, how and why, whether connected with any organization which teaches the overthrow by force of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether a anarchist, whether coming for an immoral purpose, whether he is coming in pursuance of a prearranged employment, and if so, the details thereof, whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States, whether he is a skilled laborer, and if so, what his occupation is, whether he is in good health, mentally and physically, and whether deformed or crippled, and if so, how, when, and where the deformity occurred, the height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and all distinctive marks of identification which may be observed by the inspection officers, the nationality, the last residence, and the race of each and every alien, and such other information regarding the movements of aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such lists shall be prepared at the time of the departure of the vessel from each foreign port or place at which it touches on its way to the United States, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passengers shall be landed therefrom, and shall be subject to the inspection by such officer of all aliens on board such vessel, and of their baggage, before the same shall be landed in the United States. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question therein contained, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to any such immigration officer any such additional information required by him, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense, and shall be imprisoned for not more than one year. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall be severally liable to the penalty prescribed for each and every violation of the provisions of this section by any person employed on board thereof, and the vessel shall also be liable for such penalty, and such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive. The Commissioner of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper execution of the provisions of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors at such ports as may be necessary to secure the proper execution thereof. Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section, or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign port or place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses and need not be paid to the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law does not permit the discharge of an alien seaman in a foreign port unless the master or person in charge of the vessel from which he is discharged reports to the immigration officer at the port of discharge the intended departure of such alien seaman at least 24 hours before the vessel leaves port, and secures the permission of such officer to the discharge. Penalties are provided for violation of this law by the master or person in charge of the vessel. The law also requires the master to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of discharge a list or manifest of all alien seamen employed on board the vessel, and a similar list or manifest of all alien seamen shipped or discharged at each foreign port. Forms for the alien seamen's lists or manifests may be obtained from the immigration officer at the port of arrival.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. That after the 1st day of July, 1917, in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, steamship or transportation company, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, of any vessel bringing an alien to any port of the United States to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival a manifest or list, prepared at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place, containing the name, age, sex, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket prepaid or otherwise, whether in possession of money, and how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether in possession of a return ticket, whether coming under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under an order of deportation, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind by any corporation, company, or association, or by any person on behalf of any such corporation, company, or association, and whether in possession of the money necessary to pay for the transportation to the place of ultimate destination, which manifest or list shall be subscribed under oath by the master, steamship, transportation, or other agent, owner, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, or by the first officer or assistant next in command in the absence of the master, and shall be taken before the immigrant inspector in charge at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival in the United States, except that in the case of the transfer of such vessel from one immigrant inspector's district to another district, such manifest or list shall be taken before the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure from the district in which the vessel arrives from a foreign port or place. Such master, steamship, transportation, or other agent, owner, consignee, or charterer shall furnish to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival such additional information relative to the persons named in such manifest or list as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall indorse upon such manifest or list the name of every alien seaman who is discharged from such vessel in the United States, and shall report the cause of such discharge. Any master, steamship, transportation, or other agent, owner, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. (39 Stat. 879; 8 U. S. C. 167.)

SEC. 150.15 Lists of alien crewmen upon departure of vessel from port.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the master or commanding officer of every vessel departing from any port of the United States to any foreign port or place shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure, at the time of departure, a list or manifest of all alien crewmen employed on board the vessel, whether they are to be discharged in the United States or not, and whether they have been lawfully admitted to the United States or not. The list or manifest shall be prepared on Form I-418 and shall show the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, and the port where shipped of each alien crewman. The master or commanding officer shall also indicate on the list or manifest the date and cause of separation from the vessel of each alien crewman who has been discharged, deserted, died, or otherwise ceased employment on the vessel since the last departure of the vessel from a foreign port or place. If no alien crewmen are employed on board the vessel, the master or commanding officer shall so indicate on the list or manifest. (39 Stat. 879; 8 U. S. C. 167.)

(b) Crewmen of vessels departing temporarily to foreign contiguous territory. The master or commanding officer of a vessel departing temporarily to foreign contiguous territory contiguous to the United States and returning to the same port from which the vessel departed shall not be required to deliver a list or manifest of alien crewmen employed on board the vessel, but shall retain such list or manifest on board the vessel for delivery to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of return. (39 Stat. 879; 8 U. S. C. 167.)

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector possible to the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of alien passengers for whom a certificate of medical examination is required to be furnished by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival is located the arm of two [illegible] to debark such passengers on board after such inspection or to detain such passengers if required by such immigration officer or the attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs or the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien passenger in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, upon the remission or payment of the fine, or any part thereof, imposed upon the master or commanding officer of the vessel from which such alien arrived in violation of law.

The list or manifest shall be prepared and filed by the master or commanding officer or the agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel in triplicate, and all the provisions of law now or hereafter in force relating to the information required in the case of aliens applying for admission to the United States shall, except as otherwise provided by law, apply to such aliens. The master or commanding officer, or agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel shall also deliver to each alien a card or other suitable document, in such form as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, stating the name of the vessel and the number assigned to the manifest covering the alien, and directing the alien to present such card or other document to the immigration officer at the port of arrival when application is made for admission into the United States. Such master or commanding officer, or agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel shall also deliver to each alien a copy of the inspection card served upon him, which copy shall be identified by the immigration officer by the initials of his name and the date and port of arrival.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival and place designated in the port of arrival, or such other immigration officer as may be designated by the Attorney General, a complete list or manifest of all aliens embarking at the port of departure, whether destined to the United States or not, and of all aliens who may be transported in transit through the United States in immediate and continuous passage from a foreign country destined to a foreign country, which list or manifest shall be made at the time of departure, or as near thereto as practicable, in such form or manner as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall contain such information regarding each such alien as may be required by the Attorney General at the time of his departure from the United States: Provided, That the master, commanding officer, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is in transit through the United States and who is destined to a foreign country shall not be required to deliver such list or manifest to any immigration officer at the port of arrival, but shall deliver the same to the immigration officer at the port of departure of such vessel from the United States, or to the master, commanding officer, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any other vessel on which such alien shall engage for passage to a foreign country, and such master, commanding officer, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such other vessel shall deliver such list or manifest to the immigration officer at the port of departure of such alien from the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 18. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of entry a list or manifest of all aliens applying for admission, and the said list or manifest shall contain the names in full of all such aliens, whether accompanied or unaccompanied, and the names in full of the husband or wife and minor children of any such alien, the age, sex, marital condition, race, and last occupation, the nationality of such alien, and of the husband or wife and minor children of any such alien, the last permanent domicile, whether native or foreign, the final destination, whether such alien has a ticket through to such destination, whether the transportation is paid directly or indirectly by such alien or by another person or corporation or other agency, and by whom such passage was paid, whether such alien has been in the United States before, and if so, when and where, whether such alien has a relative or friend in the United States, and if so, whether such relative or friend is the husband or wife, father or mother, grandfather or grandmother, brother or sister, son or daughter, uncle or aunt, cousin or nephew, and the name and complete address of such relative or friend, the name and address of the person or persons to whom such alien is going, whether such alien has ever been in prison or in almshouse or asylum, whether such alien is coming in pursuance of a prearranged contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what kind of labor, whether such alien is a skilled laborer, and if so, what his occupation is, whether such alien has sufficient money to pay his way to his destination, and how much money he has, whether such alien is going to join a husband or wife or parent or other relative, and if so, what relative, whether such alien is an anarchist, whether such alien is a polygamist, whether such alien is coming to the United States for the purpose of performing any act of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose, whether such alien is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether such alien is a person who believes in or advocates the assassination of public officials, whether such alien is a person who has been previously deported from the United States and is coming in violation of law, whether such alien is a person who has been previously excluded and deported on any ground provided for in this Act and is coming in violation of law, whether such alien is a person who has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, whether such alien is a person who is coming to the United States for an immoral purpose, whether such alien is mentally or physically defective, such defect being specified, whether such alien is an epileptic, whether such alien is insane, whether such alien has had one or more attacks of insanity at any time previously, whether such alien is in good health and has sufficient money or other property to enable him to land, whether such alien has been deported from the United States at the public expense in pursuance of law, and whether such alien is coming to the United States to perform labor if such labor is performed, and such other facts as may be required by the Attorney General for the proper administration of the immigration laws and regulations, and the said list or manifest shall be prepared in such form or manner and contain such additional information relative to such persons as the Attorney General may prescribe. The said list or manifest shall be signed by the master, commanding officer, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel bringing the aliens mentioned therein, and shall be sworn to before an immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or before a consular officer at the port of departure, or at the last port where the vessel touched before sailing for the United States, or before a consular officer at the port where the vessel takes on board passengers destined to the United States, or before a consular officer at the port where the vessel touches en route to the United States, or before a consular officer at the port nearest the point of departure in the case of aliens coming overland from foreign contiguous territory, or before a commissioner of emigration at the port of departure in the case of aliens coming from insular possessions of the United States, or before such other officer as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose. Any master, commanding officer, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or who fails to include therein the name of any alien brought to the United States on such vessel, or who fails to truthfully answer any question contained in such list or manifest concerning any such alien, or who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any such vessel any alien not included in such list or manifest, or who lands or permits to land any such alien at any time or place other than that designated by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, or who refuses to detain on board or other vessel or at the designated place any such alien when ordered so to do by the Attorney General, or who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port any such alien ordered to be detained on board or other vessel or at the designated place pending the decision as to whether he may land, or who refuses to assist in the physical examination of such aliens as provided for in this Act, or who refuses to detain in quarantine any such alien when required so to do by the officers of the United States Public Health Service, or who refuses or fails to remove any such alien from the United States when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone shall not permit any alien to land from the vessel at any port or place in the United States before the inspection of such alien shall have been completed, unless and until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have given permission for such alien to land. The master, commanding officer, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien who is a stowaway is required to detain such alien on board the vessel at the last port at which such master, commanding officer, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel touches before coming to the United States and to report such alien to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for examination. Any such master, commanding officer, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of any vessel failing to comply with the provisions of this subdivision shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

(b) Any alien who shall come to the United States or who shall attempt to do so by means of any false or fraudulent practice for the purpose of evading any of the provisions of this Act, or who shall aid or assist any alien to do so, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assisted in the case covered by subdivision (b) of this section will cause undue hardship to such assistant, such assistant may be admitted to the United States for such period of time and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, notwithstanding the provisions of any other law relative to the admission of aliens to the United States. (43 Stat. 164-165, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or arriving in the port of arrival and departing therefrom with respect to any such alien seaman who shall not be in possession of a valid passport and a proper visa, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have given a bond to the United States in the penal sum of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, conditioned that such alien seaman shall depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel in command of the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, or shall depart by some other vessel within such time as the Attorney General may require, or shall not come unlawfully to the United States, and shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel shall arrive such hospital expenses and maintenance charges as may be incurred on account of such alien seaman while a patient in a hospital, and such funeral expenses as may be incurred on account of such alien seaman who may die while in the United States, not exceeding in the case of any such seaman the sum of $250, as may be required by the Attorney General. Such bond shall not be valid for the payment of such hospital expenses and funeral expenses of any such alien seaman for a longer period than one year after the date of the vessel's departure from the United States. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to enter into the bond required by this section, but no such vessel shall depart from the United States without clearance. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such violation. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or arriving in the port of arrival and departing therefrom with respect to any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been notified by such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer that such alien seaman has been discharged from such vessel, and no such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall employ any alien seaman who has not been admitted into the United States or who has been notified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman is not admissible into the United States, or who has been ordered deported from the United States, unless such alien seaman is destined to a foreign port and is in possession of a valid passport and a proper visa. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such violation. (43 Stat. 164-165, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or interned, to such destination as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory or adjacent islands (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination of every alien for the detection of those afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders set forth in section 3 of this Act), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to report such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located for the use of the United States a penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. This section as amended shall apply to all deportable aliens who arrive in the United States on or after October 1, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the immigration officers of the United States at the time of his departure for any cause shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after temporary refusal by the immigration officers of the United States, and such seaman shall be a deportee. Such seaman shall not be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of the fine imposed by this section, and no such fine shall be remitted or canceled unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such seaman has been duly deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel has been assessed the fine provided for in this section, or that the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to obtain or deport alien crewmen, or that the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the gale's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are in the United States and those who are not. Such lists shall be delivered in the port of arrival; or lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating a description of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to the discovery, shall be delivered to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which such information shall have been before the master at the time of the departure of such vessel, and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind on account of illness, or other cause, and the cause of such detention. Such lists shall be subscribed and sworn to by the master or commanding officer, or first or second officer of such vessel, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and the failure to deliver such lists or to report any alien concealed or secreted on board shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, and the vessel shall be liable for the payment of any fine imposed upon the master. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at each port of arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the port from which it is about to depart until the master or commanding officer shall have delivered to the immigrant inspector at such port of departure lists containing the names of all aliens who have been taken on board at such port since the delivery of lists at the previous port of arrival in the United States, and the cause of the departure of each alien so named from the vessel. Such lists shall be subscribed and sworn to by the master or commanding officer, or first or second officer of such vessel, to the best of his knowledge and belief. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such lists, or who fails to report any alien concealed or secreted on board, or who fails to report the cause of departure of any alien, as required by this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 to land in the United States, except seamen specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

penalty been waived, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the crew, being brought to the United States from any foreign port or place, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigrant immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master of the vessel or by the first officer or purser thereof, or by the person in charge of the vessel during the journey across the sea: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in his discretion, waive the production of lists or manifests in the case of vessels plying regularly between ports in the United States and ports in foreign contiguous territory: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, to deliver to the immigrant immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a duplicate list or manifest of all the persons destined to the United States on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall be certified by the master of the vessel to be a correct list or manifest of all such persons.

SEC. 18. (a) That any person, including any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone any alien who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 2 of this Act, or who has arrived in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone by land in violation of law, shall be required to remove such alien to the country from which he came or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to any country which may be willing to receive him, at the option of the alien, and the cost of such removal shall be borne by the person bringing such alien to the United States: Provided, That if any such alien has been admitted to the United States and has become a public charge from causes existing prior to his entry, the cost of such removal shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel had knowledge of the defect or disease from which the alien was suffering at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place: And provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to aliens who have been in the United States for a period of more than one year before they become public charges.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone any alien who has been refused admission to the United States shall, if ordered by the Secretary of Labor, return such alien to the country from which he came to the place from which he embarked, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to any country which may be willing to receive him, at the option of the alien, and the cost of such return shall be borne by the person bringing such alien to the United States.

(c) No alien seaman (except one employed on a vessel touching only at ports in the Canal Zone, or at ports in the United States and foreign contiguous territory) shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, unless there is on board such vessel at the time of its arrival at such port a sufficient number of persons employed on board thereof, other than alien seamen, who are citizens of the United States or aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, to man the vessel with regard to the safety of passengers and crew. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act, upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in foreign contiguous territory from a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall come to the United States in violation of law, or who shall remain in the United States for a longer time than permitted under the immigration laws and who shall not depart therefrom when required so to do, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act.

(f) Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in foreign contiguous territory from a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or who shall depart from the United States on any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(g) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be refused a permit to land in the United States, except temporarily and while such vessel is in port, by any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by such immigration officer to the fact of such refusal and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(h) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be allowed to land temporarily in the United States, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(i) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be refused a permit to land in the United States by any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by such immigration officer to the fact of such refusal and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(j) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be allowed to land temporarily in the United States, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(k) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be refused a permit to land in the United States, except temporarily and while such vessel is in port, by any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by such immigration officer to the fact of such refusal and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(l) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be allowed to land temporarily in the United States, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(m) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be refused a permit to land in the United States, except temporarily and while such vessel is in port, by any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by such immigration officer to the fact of such refusal and the cause thereof, as far as known.

(n) Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be allowed to land temporarily in the United States, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known.

SEC. 150.15 Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has complied to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector with the provisions of section 17 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 880; 8 U. S. C. 171), when demanded, and not then unless notice of refusal of clearance has been served, the reasons therefor stated, and opportunity for hearing afforded, as provided by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 169).

SEC. 150.16 Aliens seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and while such vessel is in port, by any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, unless such seaman is duly certified by the medical officer in charge at the port to be suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects described in section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and in the case of any such seaman who is certified to be suffering from any such disease or defect, he shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the case may be, pending examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, and pending certification by him as to the probable length of time he will be so detained. Such seaman shall be given all reasonable facilities for communication with the consular officer of the country to which he belongs, and with the agent of the steamship company on which he arrived, or other steamship company operating between the United States and the country to which he belongs, for the purpose of obtaining his repatriation or transportation in pursuance of the provisions of section 18 of the Act of February 5, 1917, upon the certification by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that he is not suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects described in section 2 of said Act. Such seaman shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the case may be, pending the result of his application for a writ of habeas corpus, for a period not exceeding forty-eight hours after the decision of the United States Commissioner or judge before whom such writ is returnable, unless such writ is sooner withdrawn or such seaman is sooner discharged therefrom. Such seaman, if certified to be suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects described in section 2 of said Act of February 5, 1917, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of said Act, upon the certification by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that he is not suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects described in section 2 of said Act of February 5, 1917, and upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in foreign contiguous territory from a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or who shall depart from the United States on any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by the master of the vessel from which he deserted or the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival to the fact of such desertion and the cause thereof, as far as known. Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be refused a permit to land in the United States, except temporarily and while such vessel is in port, by any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act upon the certification by such immigration officer to the fact of such refusal and the cause thereof, as far as known. Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, and who shall be allowed to land temporarily in the United States, and who shall not depart therefrom with

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival full and complete manifests of all aliens embarking at the port of departure. Such manifests shall be prepared and delivered in the form and manner and with such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor and shall be subject to such verification, inquiry, and examination as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe. The master of each vessel shall, upon the arrival of such vessel in the port of arrival, deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the inspection of the vessel a list or manifest of all aliens who have been denied admission to the United States since the departure of the vessel from the last previous port, and the reasons for denying admission to each of said aliens. The master of each vessel shall also deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the inspection of the vessel a list or manifest of all aliens employed on the vessel who are not citizens of the United States, specifying the positions in the vessel in which they are employed, the wages paid to each, and the length of time employed on the vessel. Such lists or manifests shall be signed by the master and verified by his oath in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any master who shall refuse or fail to deliver any list or manifest required of him by this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. Any master who shall refuse or fail to deliver the lists or manifests required of him by this section shall pay a penalty of $100 in addition to the penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master of which refuses or fails to deliver such lists or manifests, or pay such penalties, until the same are delivered or paid. Any master who shall refuse or fail to deliver such lists or manifests, or pay such penalties, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico shall be responsible for the payment of the hospital expenses and burial expenses of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or for the deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted pending an appeal taken as hereinafter provided or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all beneficial alien inspections on vessels subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the contiguous territory of such vessel as a deserter shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain such seaman on board or secure his lawful departure by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain such seaman on board or secure his departure from the United States when the vessel on which he arrived departs without him, unless such seaman shall have been lawfully granted permission to land temporarily by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and such permission has not been withdrawn.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel, will be unduly delayed thereby, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall constitute a lien against such vessel, which may be collected as a penalty from the owner, charterer, agent, or consignee thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the necessity for deportation under this subdivision.

(f) Any such vessel which shall have been granted clearance pending the payment of the fine imposed by this section, or pending an appeal taken as hereinbefore provided, shall be liable to seizure and forfeiture to the United States in the event such fine is finally imposed and shall not be paid.

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms obtained by the Government and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector promptly on the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry. Separate lists must be made of all persons coming on board such vessel, whether they are to land at that port or at some subsequent port in the United States. Such lists must be delivered to each immigrant inspector who boards the vessel, whether the vessel is bound for a port of entry or not. The master will be required to make oath before the inspector that the list contains a full and true account of all persons coming on board such vessel at any port or place in the United States, and that the list delivered to the inspector is an exact copy of the list kept by the master. The master will also be required to answer such questions as may be asked by the inspector concerning the persons on board, their nationality, last residence, destination, and other matters connected with the administration of the immigration laws. Any master who refuses to deliver such list, or to make oath to the same, or who fails to deliver a correct list, or who refuses to answer such questions, or who makes a false answer to any question, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such offense.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or any vessel touching at any port or place in the United States from which sailing vessels are about to depart for any foreign port or place, shall be granted a permit to land temporarily in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of injuries received after arrival, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment which is not obtainable on board, or for the purpose of rendering assistance in case of shipwreck or other disaster, or for the purpose of participating in the funeral of a shipmate, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may, by regulations, prescribe, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any alien seaman employed on such vessel found in the United States contrary to the provisions of this section may be taken on board such vessel by order of the Secretary of Labor, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to the cost of maintaining such alien seaman while in the United States and to the cost of his removal from the United States, to be recovered as a penalty of not more than $300 for each such alien seaman, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while any such penalty remains unpaid, or while any such alien seaman remains in the United States after the departure of such vessel, unless a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof shall have been deposited with the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any such penalty, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States who is ordered by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be detained on board or at quarantine, or who is granted a permit to land temporarily as provided herein, shall be deported as a matter of course in the same manner as provided in the case of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law, unless the Secretary of Labor shall recommend to the Secretary of State that such alien seaman be granted a visa for the purpose of permitting him to ship in good faith as a seaman on board a vessel sailing from a port in the United States, and the Secretary of State may grant such visa if in his discretion he deems it advisable to do so. Such alien seaman shall not be granted a visa for the purpose of permitting him to ship on board a vessel sailing from a port in the United States if the Secretary of Labor has reason to believe that such alien seaman intends to desert from such vessel in the United States. Any alien seaman who deserts from any vessel in the United States shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law, unless the Secretary of Labor shall recommend to the Secretary of State that such alien seaman be granted a visa for the purpose of permitting him to ship

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, James Moore, of the M. V. Gallia, do depose and say that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in said vessel from and port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 30 of the United States Immigration Law, and of subdivisions 8 (a) and (b) of Immigration Rule 10 relative thereto.

James Moore
Master, first or second officer.

Sworn to before me this 8th day of September, 1921

Immigrant Inspector.

21-P-12

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared and ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens incomplete or errors (form 523) shall not be furnished on request, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be prepared in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver such lists or such aliens arriving and departing respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such case pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine. Such vessel may depart with such alien subject to the payment of such fine or a fine lower is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or the giving of such other security as may be satisfactory to the collector of customs and sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION 3, RULE 10

SEC. 3. Manifesting, registering, and identifying.—(a) Arriving and departing seamen shall be manifested on the blank forms provided for that purpose by the department, in accordance with the terms of section 30. When an arriving seaman is a "MOTAWAY" a notation to that effect should be made upon the manifest.

(b) Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 30 have been furnished, and not then unless, notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 32 hereof, has been served, the deposit specified in Rule 25 (supd. 3) has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital to such extent and under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, or pending such inspection or to obtain such seaman's identification as may be required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or pending such seaman's application for a visa when such application is made at the port of arrival, or pending such seaman's departure within the period for which he was admitted: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel which shall have been in the service of the couriers or ambulances of the armies operating in the United States and associated countries during the World War and who has been honorably discharged from the service, records of which discharge are available in the United States: Provided further, That any alien seaman who shall have been lawfully admitted into the United States may be permitted by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, in his discretion, to depart foreign to the vessel on which he arrived or to any other vessel sailing from the port of arrival for a foreign port, upon the payment of the cost of his maintenance while detained, not to exceed $5 per day, and such payment shall be a lien upon the vessel which shall be collectible as provided for the collection of head taxes.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Panama Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto in which the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has reason to believe that any alien seaman employed on such vessel will, upon the immigration officer's order, refuse to permit such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deliver such seaman on board after such inspection or to obtain such seaman's identification as may be required by the immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof if he is satisfied that the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival was derelict in the performance of his duty in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Panama Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto, or any alien seaman who shall have been reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after readmission by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be collected as provided for the collection of head taxes, unless such vessel shall furnish a bond or deposit sufficient to cover such expense and such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or any seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or transferred to such vessel elsewhere, or any alien seaman employed on board any vessel which shall depart from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or adjacent islands shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or to secure repairs to such vessel unable to proceed without such repairs or pending the decision as to whether it may proceed without repairs, or because of actual distress of weather, or other cause beyond his control, or pending the performance of such acts as may be required by the provisions of this section, or pending the departure of such vessel, any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and the inspectors detailed from the Public Health Service have satisfied themselves that such alien seaman is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 2 of this Act, and that such alien seaman is not otherwise inadmissible under this Act. Such seaman shall be given a certificate by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival stating that he has been admitted temporarily, the reason therefor, and the length of time allowed, and shall be required to report to the immigration officer at such port or place as may be designated in such certificate. Such seaman shall be required to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and if he fails to depart or to report as required, he shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Such seaman shall be required to present himself for examination by the immigration officer at any subsequent port of arrival of such vessel in the United States, and at any port from which such vessel departs for the United States, and shall be required to depart on such vessel or some other vessel, and if he fails to depart or to present himself for such examination he shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Such seaman shall be required to present himself for such examination at the request of any immigration officer at any port of arrival of such vessel in the United States, and at any port from which such vessel departs for the United States, and shall be required to depart on such vessel or some other vessel, and if he fails to depart or to present himself for such examination he shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Such seaman shall be required to present himself for such examination at the request of any immigration officer at any port of arrival of such vessel in the United States, and at any port from which such vessel departs for the United States, and shall be required to depart on such vessel or some other vessel, and if he fails to depart or to present himself for such examination he shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(b) Every alien seaman who is required to present himself for examination by the immigration officer at any port of arrival of such vessel in the United States, and who is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 2 of this Act, shall be detained on board or at such port of arrival pending examination by the medical officer of the Public Health Service, and certification by such medical officer as to the character of the disease or defect affecting such alien seaman. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he is admitted to a hospital for treatment of such disease or defect. The cost of such hospital treatment, and of the maintenance of such alien seaman during such treatment, shall be paid by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States. Such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also pay the cost of the maintenance and treatment in a hospital of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 2 of this Act, and who is found by the medical officer of the Public Health Service to have developed such disease or defect after the arrival of such alien seaman in the United States, and who is admitted to a hospital for treatment of such disease or defect. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he is admitted to a hospital for treatment of such disease or defect. The cost of such hospital treatment, and of the maintenance of such alien seaman during such treatment, shall be paid by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States. Such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also pay the cost of the maintenance and treatment in a hospital of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 2 of this Act, and who is found by the medical officer of the Public Health Service to have developed such disease or defect after the arrival of such alien seaman in the United States, and who

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members prepared (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. "Words in writing" means a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the said vessel, where and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing no such names as may be found to be on board; and such information in addition to the above as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, touching the said aliens and their landing in the United States; and it shall be the duty of such master, owner, consignee, or agent to report to such immigration officer, at which as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien may have illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to prevent the debarkation of any such alien, and also the names of those who have been landed or who have died on the way, and the ports at which landed, and the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel if then bound for the port of departure, and the names of those who may be engaged to complete the crew, and the ports from which they were respectively shipped, and such information in addition to the above as may be required by the Secretary of Labor touching the said aliens and their landing in the United States; and it shall be the duty of such master, owner, consignee, or agent to deliver to each alien employee who may be detained on board at the time of the vessel's departure from the port of arrival a certificate in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, stating the name of such alien, the amount of head tax collected therefor, and the number of the manifest on which he arrived; and such certificate shall be delivered by the master, owner, consignee, or agent to the immigration officer at the port where the vessel next arrives from a foreign port, or, if bound for the United States, at the port where the vessel finally departs for a foreign port. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this section, or to deliver to the immigration officer any such list required by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to report, detain, or deliver any such alien as required by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax provided for by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by this section, or who shall willfully make any false or incorrect report or statement to the immigration officer in relation to the matters required by this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any steamship or transportation company which shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every such violation, to be recovered by the United States in an action in the nature of debt in the district in which the port of arrival is located; and the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse clearance to any vessel of such company entering or clearing from any port of the United States pending the payment of such penalty. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture, or any part thereof, incurred under the provisions of this section, upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States, or from any insular possession thereof, to which the provisions of section 36 of this Act do not apply, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of the name, nationality, and last permanent residence of every alien seaman employed on board and has granted to such alien seaman a permit to land temporarily or has given notice that no such permit is necessary. Such permit may be granted to any alien seaman employed on board a vessel which has been certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival as not having any contagious disease, after such inspection of the crew as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall not be granted to any alien seaman certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival to be suffering from any such disease, or to any alien seaman who has been certified by the proper consular officer at the last foreign port from which the vessel departed to be suffering from any such disease, unless such alien seaman shall have been specially examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service and found not to be suffering from any such disease. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to grant such permit to any alien seaman who has been refused admission to the United States within one year from the date of the refusal, unless the master, owner, consignee, or agent of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall have given a bond with sufficient surety to insure the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or shall have deposited with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Secretary of Labor may, upon application in writing, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and such action shall be conclusive. Such fine shall not be remitted or refunded except as herein provided.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by such vessel, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, as amended, and the cost of his maintenance while unable to obtain employment shall be borne by the master, owner, consignee, or agent of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place would result in serious illness of such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital or emergency, to such territories as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory shall be permitted to land in the United States, except pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of the name, nationality, and last permanent residence of every alien seaman employed on board and has granted to such alien seaman a permit to land temporarily or has given notice that no such permit is necessary. Such permit may be granted to any alien seaman employed on board any vessel which has been certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival as not having any contagious disease, after such inspection of the crew as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall not be granted to any alien seaman certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival to be suffering from any such disease, or to any alien seaman who has been certified by the proper consular officer at the last foreign port from which the vessel departed to be suffering from any such disease, unless such alien seaman shall have been specially examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service and found not to be suffering from any such disease. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to grant such permit to any alien seaman who has been refused admission to the United States within one year from the date of the refusal, unless the master, owner, consignee, or agent of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall have given a bond with sufficient surety to insure the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or shall have deposited with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe, and such action shall be conclusive. Such fine shall not be remitted or refunded except as herein provided.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by such vessel, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, as amended, and the cost of his maintenance while unable to obtain employment shall be borne by the master, owner, consignee, or agent of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place would result in serious illness of such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector portside the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be later than the vessel. The list of changes or alien departure or crewmen (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry list or lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, what wages they were respectively entitled to demand, and specifying those to be paid in the port of entry; or list containing the names of such aliens as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien employed thereon as aforesaid, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, by him or them, and the cause or causes for their discharge, and the sum paid or due each of them on account of wages; and it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to deliver with each list of outgoing aliens a certificate stating the number of such aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States, specifying the ports through which they were admitted, and the date of such admission, which certificate shall be indorsed by the United States immigration officer at the port where the same is delivered. Any master, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by any immigrant inspector touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, or who shall make any false answer or statement in reply thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list or lists required by this section to be delivered have been filed, and clearance may be withheld from any vessel failing to comply with the provisions of this section or with any regulations made by the Attorney General pursuant thereto.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of North America to which it belongs or in which it has been employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer in charge at the port of entry (which inspection in all cases shall include a determination of the nationality and admissibility of each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer), or has waived such inspection or to depart such seaman if testified by such immigration officer to the medical examination of such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs: Provided, That the Attorney General may prescribe for the masters of such vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to such vessel, the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond or reduce the amount thereof to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal the Attorney General in his discretion shall refund such deposit.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not address upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to depart as required by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of a relationship by blood or marriage to a person lawfully admitted to the United States, such alien may be granted a visa and admitted to the United States for such period of time and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, but no such visa shall be granted to any alien seaman who is a member of the anarchistic or other classes excluded by section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 137), unless such alien seaman was in the United States at the time of the passage of such Act and has remained therein continuously since such time. (43 Stat. 161–162, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the adjustment of such cases, or unless it be established by such alien seaman to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he did not desert from any vessel on which he arrived in the United States or that he had reasonable cause for deserting such vessel, and that he is not otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws. Any such alien seaman who is permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported when the vessel on which he arrived departs from the United States or within such time thereafter as the Attorney General may direct. Deportation of such alien seaman may be made to the country in which he was born, or to the country in which he resided, or to the country to which he belongs, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived. Any master who refuses or fails to deport any alien seaman employed on board his vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the deportation of any alien seaman, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such sum as the Attorney General may prescribe, conditioned upon the payment of the penalty if the alien seaman is found to have been unlawfully employed and the deportation charges if the alien seaman is found to be subject to deportation. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond or reduce the amount thereof to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal the Attorney General in his discretion shall refund such deposit.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not address upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to depart as required by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of a relationship by blood or marriage to a person lawfully admitted to the United States, such alien may be granted a visa and admitted to the United States for such period of time and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, but no such visa shall be granted to any alien seaman who is a member of the anarchistic or other classes excluded by section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 137), unless such alien seaman was in the United States at the time of the passage of such Act and has remained therein continuously since such time. (43 Stat. 161–162, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of alien immigrants required by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874), shall not be furnished or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the Function immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall not be destroyed or mutilated by any person prior to the arrival at the first port in the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the list required by this section, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the list or any person on board thereof, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by said section or by the rules prescribed thereunder, or who makes any false statement in relation thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. (39 Stat. 878; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 136.)

(a) The master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone or any island possession of the United States (except Guam, Samoa, or the Virgin Islands of the United States) shall, before any alien on board such vessel shall be admitted or permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of actual emergency affecting the safety of such alien or the vessel while in the waters of the United States, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all such aliens, in duplicate, on Form 500, which shall be prepared by the master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, or by the person in charge thereof, from the ship's papers and from such inquiry as may be necessary to obtain the information required by such form. The list or manifest shall be signed and sworn to before an immigration officer by the master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, or by the person in charge thereof, and by the surgeon, if any, who has been employed on board. Such list or manifest shall contain a correct enumeration of all such aliens, including transit aliens, who depart from any port in the United States on such vessel, whether they have been admitted to the United States or not, and shall state the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether married or single, whether in possession of a ticket through to destination, whether in possession of money and, if so, how much, whether going to join a relative or friend and, if so, what relative or friend and his name and complete address, whether ever before in the United States and, if so, when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind to perform labor in the United States, whether having a ticket or passage paid for by any person or corporation, society, municipality, or government, and if so, by whom, whether the alien has a relative or friend in the United States or elsewhere and, if so, what relative or friend and his name and complete address, the kind of labor for which each alien is destined, the race or people to which each belongs, the last occupation and the personal description of each alien, including height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and marks of identification.

(b) Every such master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the list or any person on board thereof, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by said section or by the rules prescribed thereunder, or who makes any false statement in relation thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the Secretary of Labor shall withhold clearance for the purpose of insuring the presence of any alien who may be a witness in any proceeding before the Department of Labor, but such withholding of clearance shall not continue for a period exceeding ten days after the final decision in such proceeding. The Attorney General shall have power to remit such fines, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have paid the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 132), and the head tax imposed by section 1 of the Act of May 10, 1920 (41 Stat. 592; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 132a), in connection with the departure of such vessel from the last port outside the United States and possessions of the United States, and shall have paid any fine imposed upon him under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and section 1 of the Act of May 10, 1920, or any judgment entered in any suit brought for the recovery of such fine, or shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover the amount of such fine or judgment and costs of suit, or shall have given a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Clearance may be granted any vessel prior to the payment of such head tax, fine, or judgment, or the giving of such bond or security, upon the execution by the master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel of a bond to the United States in a penal sum of $1,000 for each alien on board such vessel, conditioned for the payment of such head tax, fine, or judgment, and costs of suit, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. (39 Stat. 878; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 136.)

SEC. 31. No alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States under the immigration laws unless employed on board a vessel arriving at a port of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of actual emergency affecting the safety of such alien or the vessel while in the waters of the United States, and no such seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for such medical treatment, or because of such actual emergency, unless upon the order of the Secretary of Labor. (39 Stat. 884; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 155.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone or any island possession of the United States (except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of actual emergency affecting the safety of such alien or the vessel while in the waters of the United States) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for such medical treatment, or because of such actual emergency affecting the safety of such alien or the vessel while in the waters of the United States, any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States, unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and a valid visa, if a visa is required by section 2 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 253; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 202), or is in possession of a valid seaman's identity certificate issued pursuant to section 6 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 878; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 136), and is in possession of a valid certificate of identity issued by the consular officer who issued his passport or visa, or by the consular officer who would issue a passport or visa to such alien if application therefor were made, stating that such consular officer has satisfactory evidence that such alien is entitled to the nationality claimed by him, and that such consular officer has personally examined such alien and is satisfied that he is admissible to the United States under the immigration laws, except that the provisions of this section requiring a passport and visa shall not be applicable to any alien seaman who is a native of the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, or the Republic of Panama, or who has been in the United States for a period of two years next preceding his application for admission as a seaman, and who is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws.

(b) Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 890; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, secs. 155, 156), and shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, or in which he was born, or of which he was a subject, at the time of his entry into the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him permission to remain in the United States as a quota immigrant or as a nonquota immigrant entitled to enter the United States solely to perform the service specified by him and which he is destined to perform, and who is capable of performing such service, or unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is unable to procure the services of a master or commander who will certify that he is needed on board his vessel, and that he intends to employ him on board his vessel when she departs from the United States, and that he will pay the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and the cost of his passage to the country to which he belongs, or in which he was born, or of which he was a subject, at the time of his entry into the United States, or to the port at which he shipped, at the option of the master or commander. (39 Stat. 884; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 155.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien embarkees: when otherwise of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 155), has been delivered and not then unless notice of intention to depart shall have been given at least 48 hours in advance of departure, and unless the master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have paid the head tax required by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 132), and the head tax required by section 1 of the Act of May 10, 1920 (41 Stat. 592; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 132a), in connection with the departure of such vessel from the last port outside the United States and possessions of the United States, and shall have paid any fine imposed upon him under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and section 1 of the Act of May 10, 1920, or any judgment entered in any suit brought for the recovery of such fine, or shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such fine or judgment and costs of suit, or shall have given a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Clearance may be granted any vessel prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the Secretary of Labor shall withhold clearance for the purpose of insuring the presence of any alien who may be a witness in any proceeding before the Department of Labor, but such withholding of clearance shall not continue for a period exceeding ten days after the final decision in such proceeding. The Attorney General shall have power to remit such fines, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. [Sec. 33 of Act of May 26, 1924, applies without regard to section 32 of said Act (43 Stat. 253; U. S. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspection officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens destined to such port or place to be had on board and discharged therefrom, and whether such aliens have severally been provided with passports and visas, and by what consulate and where such visas were respectively granted; whether the possessor has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or is a polygamist, or believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or is an anarchist, or is coming for an immoral purpose; whether he is in possession of and has been examined by a physician before leaving foreign shore, and whether he has a ticket through to destination and has been assisted by any society or person, and by whom, whether the immigrant has a relative or friend in the United States or elsewhere and, if so, what relative or friend and his name and complete address, whether going to join such relative or friend or to accept employment, and if so, what employment, whether the immigrant intends to become a citizen of the United States, whether he is going to the United States as a contract laborer, whether he has been deported, whether he has ever been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is coming in pursuance of the request, prepaid or unpaid, of any person or persons in the United States to assist him to enter, whether he has come within the class excluded by law, whether he has been guilty of any crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, whether he has been guilty of any political crime, whether he has been practically engaged in the production of anarchistic or other publications or writings which advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or which advocate the assassination of public officials, and whether he has ever been an inmate of or connected with the management of a house of prostitution or practiced prostitution, and whether he has been engaged in the white-slave traffic, and whether he is coming to the United States to engage in any immoral practice; and such other facts as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the proper administration of this Act and of the immigration laws as to the admissibility of any alien. The said lists shall be prepared in such manner and at such time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commander or other officer of the vessel in charge thereof, taken before a consul of the United States at the port of departure, or, where there is no consul, before the consul of a friendly power, and certified by him. The master or commander or other officer of the vessel in charge thereof shall also take the same oath to the truth of the statements contained in the lists with respect to each alien not included in the consular certification, before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, at the time of the delivery of the lists required by this section. Any master or commander or other officer of the vessel in charge thereof who shall refuse to deliver such lists to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to allow the immigrant inspector to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the list or any person on board thereof, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any other duty required of him by said section or by the rules prescribed thereunder, or who shall make any false statement in relation thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the Secretary of Labor shall withhold clearance for the purpose of insuring the presence of any alien who may be a witness in any proceeding before the Department of Labor, but such withholding of clearance shall not continue for a period exceeding ten days after the final decision in such proceeding. The Attorney General shall have power to remit such fines, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. The list or manifest of alien immigrants required by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874), shall not be furnished or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall not be destroyed or mutilated by any person prior to the arrival at the first port in the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the list required by this section, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the list or any person on board thereof, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by said section or by the rules prescribed thereunder, or who makes any false statement in relation thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the Secretary of Labor shall withhold clearance for the purpose of insuring the presence of any alien who may be a witness in any proceeding before the Department of Labor, but such withholding of clearance shall not continue for a period exceeding ten days after the final decision in such proceeding. The Attorney General shall have power to remit such fines, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. [Sec. 33 of Act of May 26, 1924, applies without regard to section 32 of said Act (43 Stat. 253; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 202), which has been interpreted by section 22 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164; U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 8, sec. 213), as not applying to aliens in transit through the United States.]

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except from a foreign contiguous territory) shall be responsible for the proper maintenance of any alien seaman employed on such vessel, such maintenance to include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner, or any duly authorized surgeon designated by the Attorney General, of each alien seaman (except those who have been previously examined by such examiner or surgeon at a port of the United States) to be discharged from such vessel, and the furnishing of a certificate by such examiner or surgeon to the master of such vessel, stating that such alien seaman has been examined by him and is free from any contagious disease, and the furnishing of such other certificates as may be required by the Attorney General. Such maintenance shall include the furnishing of such alien seaman, while on board such vessel, of a proper and sufficient amount of food, and of such accommodations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General. Such examination of such alien seaman shall be made by such examiner or surgeon before such alien seaman is discharged from such vessel, and such certificates shall be furnished by such examiner or surgeon to the master of such vessel before such alien seaman is discharged from such vessel. Such examination of such alien seaman shall be made at the expense of the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, and such certificates shall be furnished by such examiner or surgeon without charge therefor.

(b) Any master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, or any rule or regulation made by the Attorney General in the execution thereof, shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $2,500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. The Attorney General is authorized and empowered to remit, mitigate, or refund any such fine, or any part thereof, imposed under the provisions of this section, whenever in his opinion such fine was incurred without fault on the part of the master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, or that such fine is excessive in proportion to the offense committed.

This section as amended shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving at the ports of the United States on vessels which shall arrive on or after the first day of July, 1924, whether such vessels shall then be outward or inward bound.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared pending such expense until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived, or on another vessel within the time specified by the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(e) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(f) Any alien seaman who shall be found a stowaway shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(g) Any master who shall refuse to detain any alien seaman specified in subdivision (d), (e), or (f) of this section when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while detained, or any master who shall refuse to deliver such alien seaman to the immigration officers for deportation, or any master who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 167.)

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 4 of the Seamen's Act of March 4, 1915 (38 Stat. 1164), as amended by section 6 of the Act of March 4, 1919 (40 Stat. 1360), relating to the shipping or discharging of seamen in foreign countries. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(i) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 16 of the Act of September 7, 1916 (39 Stat. 758), relating to the detention of seamen who refuse to perform their duty. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 169.)

(j) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 4526 of the Revised Statutes (U. S. C., title 46, sec. 701), relating to the discharge of seamen before the consul. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 170.)

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, CHARLES HENDERSON, of the MARKET ST., do depose and say that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew properly in said vessel from and port or place quarine per. Section column 1 here, noted the color of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 2, Code of Federal Regulations, and color of section 14 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, under oath and that

Charles H. Henderson
Master, Mate or Second officer

Sworn to before me this 4th day of June, 19 52

A. [illegible]
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of crewmen of alien nationality on board a vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be delivered by the master, or in his absence by the officer in charge of the vessel, to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or place conformable to usage of said nation. Failure to deliver such list, or any part thereof, or to make oath to the same, as required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, is punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both such fine and imprisonment, and in addition to such penalties the vessel may be refused clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in the list or manifest required by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 136) shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and while such vessel is in port, unless a bond in the sum of $300 for each such alien is given by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel guaranteeing the return of such alien on board such vessel or the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended, and the penalty provided in section 10 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended, in connection with such alien, unless such alien is duly discharged in the United States with the consent of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended, and the penalty provided in section 10 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended, in connection with such alien, or unless such alien is a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel and is employed on board thereof when such vessel departs from the United States: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any such alien who has been employed on board such vessel for a period of not less than four years immediately preceding his arrival at a port of the United States, and who is found by the Attorney General to be a bona fide seaman and to have been employed on board such vessel during such period in the regular course of his calling as a seaman, and who is not destined immediately to a country which will not permit his return to the United States, and who is not likely to become a public charge, and who is not afflicted with any contagious disease, and who is not a member of the anarchistic or other objectionable classes excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien who has been employed on board such vessel during the war in the interest of the United States for such length of time as he may deem proper: Provided further, That any alien seaman who has been granted a waiver by the Attorney General of the provisions of this section and who has been employed on board such vessel during the war in the interest of the United States shall be deported as an alien seaman employed on board a vessel arriving at a port of the United States unless within four months after the date of such waiver he has been admitted to the United States for permanent residence in accordance with the immigration laws and regulations in force at the time of such admission.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each person who may apply for admission to the United States, or who may be detained on board for examination by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and such additional information relative thereto as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to such immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival a true and correct list containing the names of all alien passengers who were not admitted thereon at the time of the departure of such vessel, which list shall show the final destination of each such alien passenger for which a ticket has been issued, and the names of those who have been held for the purchase of tickets, and the names of those who have been detained on board for examination by the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of the vessel, and such other information in regard to each such alien passenger as may be required by the Attorney General: Provided, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver to such immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of the vessel any information in regard to any such alien passenger who was not admitted thereon at the time of the departure of the vessel if such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall have delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival a list containing the names of all alien passengers who were not admitted thereon at the time of the departure of the vessel, and the final destination of each such alien passenger for which a ticket has been issued, and the names of those who have been held for the purchase of tickets, and the names of those who have been detained on board for examination by the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of the vessel, and such other information in regard to each such alien passenger as may be required by the Attorney General, and shall have delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival any such additional information in regard to any such alien passenger as may be required by the Attorney General which may be received by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel after the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at: Provided, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival any information in regard to any alien member of the crew of such vessel who is employed on board such vessel when it departs from the United States on such vessel, and who is destined to a country in which he intends to reship, and who is not likely to become a public charge, and who is not afflicted with any contagious disease, and who is not a member of the anarchistic or other objectionable classes excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws: Provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival any information in regard to any alien member of the crew of such vessel who is employed on board such vessel when it departs from the United States on such vessel, and who is destined to a country adjacent to the United States, and who intends to return on such vessel within four months from the date of its departure from the United States

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Central or South America, the West Indies, Bermuda, the Canal Zone, or the Philippine Islands) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or for detention on board any other vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or such seaman is in possession of a bond filed with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof in the penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond fully sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel such bond. Such application may be approved by the Attorney General in his discretion upon the following terms and conditions, namely:

(a) That the alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper, shall be permitted to land temporarily;

(b) That the alien seaman shall not abscond upon the outgoing vessel or while he remains in the United States;

(c) That the alien seaman shall not become a public charge;

(d) That such alien seaman shall be returned on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on such other vessel as the Attorney General may direct, and shall pay the entire expense of such return from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman on board such vessel for departure from the United States, unless such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such failure occurred without fault on his part or that he was temporarily by the immigration officer at the port of arrival for the purpose of submitting such alien seaman to a medical examination, or that he was prevented from so delivering such alien seaman on board such vessel for departure by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or by reason of sickness or injury of such alien seaman certified by the medical officer of the United States immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or by reason of such alien seaman having been left behind in a hospital in the United States with the consent of the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or by reason of such alien seaman having been lawfully detained in the United States by any court or magistrate in any habeas corpus proceeding, or by reason of such alien seaman having been otherwise lawfully detained or prevented from departing from the United States, or by reason of such alien seaman having been left behind in the United States with the consent of the master of such vessel, and that such alien seaman has been employed on such vessel, so far as practicable, in accordance with the usual custom of the port from which such vessel sailed, and has been treated in accordance with the usual custom of such vessel, and has been furnished with such accommodations as are required by law to be furnished to alien seamen by vessels arriving at the ports of the United States.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration matters pending on its effective date.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list or manifest of passengers of alien members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where an alternate manifest is a "nonimmigrant" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. The list or manifest of passengers of alien members of the crew shall be prepared in duplicate, typewritten, and shall contain the following information as to each passenger: Name in full; age; sex; whether married or single; calling or occupation; whether able to read or write; nationality; race; last permanent residence; whether in possession of a ticket through to destination; whether in possession of money and how much, if more than $50; whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, his name and complete address; whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where; whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity; whether a polygamist; whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, prepaid or otherwise, to perform labor in the United States; whether in possession of a special immigrant visa and, if so, the number and place of issuance; whether an anarchist; whether a person who believes in or advocates or teaches the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether a person who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government or who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property; whether coming pursuant to contract; whether ever deported or excluded from admission to the United States, and if so, when and why; whether ever detained or confined in any penal institution or reformatory, and if so, when, where, and why; whether a stowaway; whether ever a practitioner of polygamy; whether a person who has been or intends to be engaged in the practice of prostitution or has been or is coming to the United States for any other immoral purpose; whether a person who has been or is coming to the United States for the purpose of performing any unlawful act; whether a person who has been or is likely to become a public charge; whether suffering from tuberculosis in any form or from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; whether mentally or physically defective, and if so, what defect; whether deformed or crippled, and if so, how deformed or crippled; height; complexion; color of hair; color of eyes; marks of identification; and nationality, place of birth, and last permanent residence of alien.

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immediate immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel. Seamen who have been discharged in the port of arrival or have died during the voyage need not be included in such lists. Upon application made to the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe, and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure; and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted at the time of such departure; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid there shall be collected from the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, which sum shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located; and no clearance shall be granted such vessel while such lien remains undischarged: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 880–887; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 151), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 1001) prevails upon arrival, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands (except Canada and Newfoundland) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, to such extent as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the North American continent and adjacent islands employed on such vessel shall pay the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of such alien seaman for medical, mental, and examination by the medical examiner). If any such alien seaman is certified by the medical examiner to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders for the exclusion of which this Act provides, the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the contiguous territory of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or from the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 418; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector (From 1-918 shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate portion of the vessel is to be discharged at a second port, the master shall deliver to the immigration officer at such port a list containing the names of all aliens remaining on board after such inspection or to depart such vessel without inspection, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate Canadian citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on the vessel, specifying the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports at which they intend to land, and shall furnish such further information in relation to the same as may be required by the Attorney General. It shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel, before the departure of any alien employee from the vessel, to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port a list containing the names of all aliens employees who intend to depart from the United States on board such vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who have been employed theretofore at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind in foreign countries, and the reasons therefor, so far as the same can be ascertained. All cases of desertion of alien seamen, agent, consignee, or master to deliver copies of the lists of the alien employees required to be delivered by the master to the immigration officers at the ports of arrival and departure, respectively, or to report such cases of desertion or inability to do so, under the penalties prescribed by section 32 of this Act in the case of masters. It shall be the duty of the Attorney General, upon the application of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel, to issue to such vessel clearance papers without requiring the presence on board of such vessel of any alien seaman employed thereon who has been duly reported by the master as a deserter, or who is unable to go on board such vessel by reason of sickness, which fact shall be certified by the medical officer of the United States public health service who may be detailed to make such examination, or by reason of his detention in quarantine, or by reason of his arrest on warrant issued upon any charge, or by reason of his detention by local authorities for examination or trial in connection with any criminal charge against him, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance at the port and his return passage to the country to which he belongs, or country from which he came to the United States, as determined by the Commissioner General of Immigration, such sum to be refunded upon the subsequent departure of such alien seaman on board the vessel for which he was originally destined or on board some other vessel sailing to the same port, or upon the production of such evidence as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration that the cost of such maintenance and return passage has been otherwise paid or secured to be paid. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the list required by this section, or any part thereof, or to report the illness or absence from the vessel at any port of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such alien seaman (which inspection it shall be the duty of said officer to make with all reasonable speed), or upon the refusal to deliver to any such alien seaman who has been duly reported by the master as a deserter, or who is unable to go on board such vessel by reason of sickness, which fact shall be certified by the medical examiner of the United States public health service, or by reason of his detention in quarantine, or by reason of his arrest on warrant issued upon any charge, or by reason of his detention by local authorities for examination or trial in connection with any criminal charge against him, the clearance papers of such vessel may be withheld by the collector of customs of the district in which the port is situated, and a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such refusal occurs may be imposed upon the master: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case, and such sum shall be remitted or refunded upon the payment of the penalty imposed or the final determination that no penalty is incurred: Provided further, That clearance may be granted in the discretion of the Secretary of Commerce in the case of vessels touching at foreign ports for oil or supplies, upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to any sum not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as he may deem reasonable, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case, and such sum shall be remitted or refunded upon the payment of the penalty imposed or the final determination that no penalty is incurred: Provided further, That clearance may be granted in the discretion of the Secretary of Commerce in the case of vessels touching at foreign ports for oil or supplies, upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to any sum not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as he may deem reasonable, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case, and such sum shall be remitted or refunded upon the payment of the penalty imposed or the final determination that no penalty is incurred.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, or who shall remain in the United States after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such vessel at the time of her departure the list required to be delivered by the master of such vessel as a deserter

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of passengers to be taken from the vessel (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the object for which they were employed; and it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to furnish such information in addition as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which the said list contained no mention of such aliens who were employed on such vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver to each such alien who was not employed thereon at the time of the arrival just prior to departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place at which such vessel touched, a written permit, in such form as the Attorney General may prescribe, to depart from the United States and to present such permit to the immigration officer at the port of departure. It shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien who has been refused admission to the United States to return such alien on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from the place to which such alien belongs under the provisions of this Act, or to the country in which he embarked, as the case may be, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien while he is detained on board such vessel shall be paid by such master, agent, consignee, or owner. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with the regulations prescribed thereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien for examination or detention, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any alien examined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and certified to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as being liable to be excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the sickness or injury of such alien necessitating his removal to a hospital, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of detaining such alien for special inquiry at some place other than the port of arrival, or for the purpose of landing such alien at the port of arrival for the purpose of prosecution, or for such other purpose as he may deem to be in the public interest, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so landed in addition to any penalty which may be imposed upon him for bringing in such alien, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty or pending the payment thereof, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof. Such application must be made within two years after the payment of the penalty, and notice thereof shall be given to the Attorney General in the manner he shall prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such penalty is paid or remitted. Any such vessel may depart from any port of the United States without the payment of such penalty or the granting of such clearance if the master shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, not exceeding $300 for each alien on board, conditioned upon the return of such alien within such period of time as the Attorney General may prescribe, or the payment of the penalty in case the alien is not returned within such time, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty in any case where such alien is detained on board or at a station in charge of an immigrant inspector, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty in the case of any such alien who is a member of a crew employed on such vessel and who is destined to the country in which he was born or has a residence, and who is not a citizen or subject of the country to which the vessel is destined, if the master shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover the expense of his maintenance pending his return on board such vessel or his departure in some other manner, and if the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival certifies that in his opinion such alien should be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the sickness or injury of such alien necessitating his removal to a hospital, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of detaining such alien for special inquiry at some place other than the port of arrival, or for the purpose of landing such alien at the port of arrival for the purpose of prosecution, or for such other purpose as he may deem to be in the public interest, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so landed in addition to any penalty which may be imposed upon him for bringing in such alien, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty or pending the payment thereof, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof. Such application must be made within two years after the payment of the penalty, and notice thereof shall be given to the Attorney General in the manner he shall prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such penalty is paid or remitted.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the sickness or injury of such alien necessitating his removal to a hospital, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, except temporarily under bond, in such sum and with such surety as the Attorney General may prescribe, or under such conditions other than the payment of bond as the Attorney General may prescribe, to prevent such alien from becoming a public charge, or from becoming a person afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities specified in subsection (a) of this section, or from becoming a person who within five years after entry has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or from becoming a person who is a polygamist, or from becoming a person who practices polygamy or believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials, or from becoming a person who within one year previous to the application for admission had been deported, or from becoming a person who has been convicted of a violation of subchapter IV of this chapter, or from becoming a person coming to the United States in pursuance of any arrangement to perform labor, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, or from becoming a person ineligible to citizenship, or from becoming a person not comprehended within any of the foregoing excepted classes, or from becoming a person whose ticket or passage is paid for with the money of another, or who is assisted by others to come, unless it is affirmatively and satisfactorily shown that such person does not belong to any of the foregoing excluded classes, or that such assistance was solely by persons related to such immigrant by blood or marriage, or that it is otherwise clearly and beyond doubt established that such immigrant is not coming in pursuance of such arrangement, or that such person is not excluded by reason of being a professional beggar, a vagrant, feebleminded, insane, afflicted with tuberculosis, or afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or that such person has not been within four years a criminal, an anarchist, or a prostitute, for the purpose of exercising such profession, or for the purpose of importing any person or persons for the purpose of prostitution, or for any other purpose: Provided, That any immigrant who is excluded by the provisions of this subsection, except those excluded because they are afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, may be admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit with such department of such sum of money, not exceeding $500 in any individual case, as the Secretary of Labor may require, conditioned upon the exclusion and deportation of such immigrant under the rules prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, after a hearing before the Board of Review, suspend deportation of such alien for such time and upon such conditions as he may prescribe. Such hearing may be held before the Board of Review or before a special inquiry officer, as the Attorney General may direct. The Attorney General may, at any time, cancel such suspension or change the conditions upon which it was granted. Upon the cancellation of any such suspension the alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any alien who shall remain in the United States in violation of any order of deportation, or of any condition of any such suspension, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(d) Every alien who shall be convicted of violating any provision of this section, for which violation deportation is not directly provided as the penalty, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(e) Any alien who at any time after entering the United States is found to have been at the time of entry a member of any of the classes excluded by law, or to have entered or remained unlawfully in the United States, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless the alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he did not know and could not with reasonable diligence have ascertained that he was a member of such excluded class, or that he had been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and that his residence had been terminated only by reason of an order of deportation which was subsequently rescinded or set aside.

(f) Every alien who shall enter the United States in violation of any prohibition contained in this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the sickness or injury of such alien seaman, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U.S.C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien employed on board such vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any alien examined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and certified to be suffering from any contagious disease, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the sickness or injury of such alien necessitating his removal to a hospital, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of detaining such alien for special inquiry at some place other than the port of arrival, or for the purpose of landing such alien at the port of arrival for the purpose of prosecution, or for such other purpose as he may deem to be in the public interest, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so landed in addition to any penalty which may be imposed upon him for bringing in such alien, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with the regulations prescribed thereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien for examination or detention, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any alien examined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and certified to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as being liable to be excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the sickness or injury of such alien necessitating his removal to a hospital, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of detaining such alien for special inquiry at some place other than the port of arrival, or for the purpose of landing such alien at the port of arrival for the purpose of prosecution, or for such other purpose as he may deem to be in the public interest, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so landed in addition to any penalty which may be imposed upon him for bringing in such alien, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty or pending the payment thereof, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty or any part thereof. Such application must be made within two years after the payment of the penalty, and notice thereof shall be given to the Attorney General in the manner he shall prescribe. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such penalty is paid or remitted. Any such vessel may depart from any port of the United States without the payment of such penalty or the granting of such clearance if the master shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, not exceeding $300 for each alien on board, conditioned upon the return of such alien within such period of time as the Attorney General may prescribe, or the payment of the penalty in case the alien is not returned within such time, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty or pending the payment thereof, or the giving of

The line described below shall be traversed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival before any alien member of crew "monkeys," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as may be in the master's control to deliver to such immigration officer in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a written list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed (persons at the time of the vessel's last call at a foreign port, who have been hired for the trip, and who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to be discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed: But in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to so deliver lists, or in case any such list is incorrect in any material respect, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or consignor of the vessel upon which any such alien arrives shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien as to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens embarked on any vessel at any foreign port or place on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(d) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, and such other aliens as may be detained by the immigration officers for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act or of any law relating to the immigration of aliens, shall be detained for examination in relation thereto by a Board of Special Inquiry appointed by the Secretary of Labor. Said Board shall have authority to administer oaths and to take evidence touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, and shall perform such other duties relative to the immigration of aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. The decision of any two members of said Board shall be the decision of said Board: Provided, That any alien seeking admission to the United States may be permitted to withdraw his application for admission in lieu of being required to submit to a hearing before a Board of Special Inquiry, unless the immigrant inspector has knowledge or reason to believe that such alien is afflicted with a disease or belongs to one of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by this Act, or is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to enter the United States under all the laws relating to the immigration of aliens.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that a mistake has been made in the decision of the Board of Special Inquiry in any case, he may direct a new hearing before the Board upon the original evidence or upon such additional evidence as he may think necessary, and may affirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the Board upon the case stated by it. In any case in which the Board of Special Inquiry shall decide that any alien should be allowed to land, the decision shall be communicated to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien arrived, and such alien shall be permitted to land from such vessel, pending further inquiry and decision, unless the immigrant inspector in charge has reasonable ground to believe that such alien is afflicted with a contagious disease, or that he belongs to one of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by this Act, or that he is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to enter the United States under all the laws relating to the immigration of aliens, in which case he may temporarily detain such alien for further examination by the Board of Special Inquiry or for the Attorney General. Such decision of the Board of Special Inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Attorney General within ten days after the decision is rendered. Pending the decision on appeal, the alien shall be detained by the immigrant inspector in charge. The Attorney General may make such additional rules and regulations governing the conduct of proceedings before Boards of Special Inquiry and the appeals from their decisions as he may deem necessary.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or for the sole purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, injury, or quarantine requirements at a hospital, or because of the necessity of replacement, or for such other cause as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been informed such seaman (which inspection at all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to deport any such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if ordered by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens embarked on any vessel at any foreign port or place on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(d) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, and such other aliens as may be detained by the immigration officers for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act or of any law relating to the immigration of aliens, shall be detained for examination in relation thereto by a Board of Special Inquiry appointed by the Secretary of Labor. Such decision of the Board of Special Inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Attorney General within ten days after the decision is rendered. Pending the decision on appeal, the alien shall be detained by the immigrant inspector in charge. The Attorney General may make such additional rules and regulations governing the conduct of proceedings before Boards of Special Inquiry and the appeals from their decisions as he may deem necessary.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that a mistake has been made in the decision of the Board of Special Inquiry in any case, he may direct a new hearing before the Board upon the original evidence or upon such additional evidence as he may think necessary, and may affirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the Board upon the case stated by it. In any case in which the Board of Special Inquiry shall decide that any alien should be allowed to land, the decision shall be communicated to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien arrived, and such alien shall be permitted to land from such vessel, pending further inquiry and decision, unless the immigrant inspector in charge has reasonable ground to believe that such alien is afflicted with a contagious disease, or that he belongs to one of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by this Act, or that he is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to enter the United States under all the laws relating to the immigration of aliens, in which case he may temporarily detain such alien for further examination by the Board of Special Inquiry or for the Attorney General. Such decision of the Board of Special Inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Attorney General within ten days after the decision is rendered. Pending the decision on appeal, the alien shall be detained by the immigrant inspector in charge. The Attorney General may make such additional rules and regulations governing the conduct of proceedings before Boards of Special Inquiry and the appeals from their decisions as he may deem necessary.

(f) If the Attorney General finds that a mistake has been made in the decision of the Board of Special Inquiry in any case, he may direct a new hearing before the Board upon the original evidence or upon such additional evidence as he may think necessary, and may affirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the Board upon the case stated by it. SEC. 36. That upon written application of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bound to the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to each alien emigrating therein a certificate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, stating the name, age, sex, marital condition, nationality, last residence, and final destination of such alien as given by him, and the port at which he intends to land in the United States. Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver to any alien entitled thereto, upon payment or tender of payment of the commutation provided for, such certificate, or upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver to any alien a certificate in the form herein provided for, upon payment or tender of payment of the commutation provided for, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to such alien the sum of $10, which may be recovered in any action in any court of competent jurisdiction in the district in which the port of departure is situated: Provided, That no certificate, master's landing permit, or clearance shall be required for any alien entitled to enter the United States as a citizen thereof or who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, except that certificates, permits, and visas for aliens applying for admission at ports in the Philippine Islands or Panama Canal Zone may be issued by officers designated by the Governor of the Philippine Islands or the Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, respectively, instead of by officers of the United States Immigration Service.

SEC. 37. That upon written application of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien, whether entitled to enter the United States as a citizen thereof or not, to deliver to each such alien a certificate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, stating the name, age, sex, marital condition, nationality, last residence, and final destination of such alien as given by him, and the port at which he last landed in the United States. Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver to any such alien such certificate, upon payment or tender of payment of the commutation provided for, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to such alien the sum of $10, which may be recovered in any action in any court of competent jurisdiction in the district in which the port of arrival is situated: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any person who has been in the United States for two years next preceding his departure therefrom.

SEC. 38. That upon written application of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien, whether entitled to enter the United States as a citizen thereof or not, to furnish to each such alien a certificate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, stating the name, age, sex, marital condition, nationality, last residence, and final destination of such alien as given by him, and the port at which he last landed in the United States. Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver to any such alien such certificate, upon payment or tender of payment of the commutation provided for, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to such alien the sum of $10, which may be recovered in any action in any court of competent jurisdiction in the district in which the port of arrival is situated: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any person who has been in the United States for two years next preceding his departure therefrom.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly certified to by the proper officer of the country from which such alien came, as provided by section 37 of this Act, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each and every such alien so brought, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 39. That any person, whether master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, who shall bring into the United States any alien afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and who shall land or cause to be landed such alien, except in case of accident on the vessel during the voyage, or except such alien shall have been detained for examination and treatment, and shall have been certified by the examining surgeon at the port of arrival to be free from such disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such alien so landed, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had.

SEC. 40. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been deported under the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 41. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of insanity, idiocy, epilepsy, or any form of mental disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 42. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of contagious disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 43. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of moral turpitude, polygamy, or the commission of a crime of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 44. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of anarchy, or the commission of a crime of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 45. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of anarchy, or the commission of a crime of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 46. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of insanity, idiocy, epilepsy, or any form of mental disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 47. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of contagious disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 48. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of moral turpitude, polygamy, or the commission of a crime of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 49. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of anarchy, or the commission of a crime of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 50. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of insanity, idiocy, epilepsy, or any form of mental disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 51. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of contagious disease, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 52. That any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, and whose exclusion shall have been based upon the grounds of moral turpitude, polygamy, or the commission of a crime of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court before which the conviction may be had, unless prior to the application for admission of such alien he shall have obtained the permission of the Secretary of Labor for the reapplication of such alien for admission into the United States.

SEC. 53.
